QUARTERLY STAFF

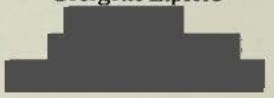
Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

C.G.G.S. QUARTERLY SURNAME INDEX VOL. 31 FOR THE YEAR 2009

COMPILED BY HELEN SHIRAH HUDSON

Note: This surname index covers Quarterlies No . 1 through 4 for the year 2009 Pages 1-48 are in No. 1, pages 48-152 are in No. 2, pages 153-200 are in No. 3 and pages 201-204 are in No. 4. If a page is listed for a surname, check the complete page. You may find that name listed more than once. Look for all possible spellings of the name and then run down the names starting with the same letter. In some documents the name is spelled several different ways. Not included in this listing are the surnames contained in pages 60-66, the alphabetical listing for the Old Black Section of the Vienna Cemetery and 166–171, the alphabetical listing for the West-West Section of the Vienna City Cemetery. These surnames are already indexed as they appeared in the surveys.

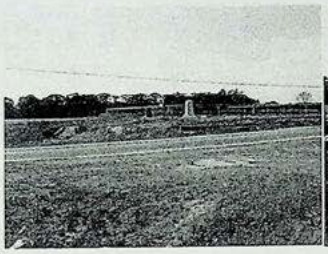
FENN CEMETERY

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson March 27, 2007

Was in Dooly Co., Ga., NOW in Crisp Co., Ga. Located on Hwy 41 South of Vienna, west side of the road just over the Crisp/Dooly County Line. # 29 in Watts & Nora Powell Vol. II. This cemetery is well kept with a chain link fence around it. Since it sits on a small rise, there are concrete steps from the highway level to the cemetery.



From across the Highway

End of Fenn Cemetery

VIENNA CITY CEMETERY # 89 in Powell's Bk.

West Center Section

Located in Downtown Vienna, north of the Courthouse, just off to the right of Hwy. 41. A very large, very old and very interesting cemetery. It has a Black Section on both sides of the road, It has a White Section on both sides of the road with a map at City Hall showing the names of the owners and the Lot numbers.

You will find the arrangement changes from Section to Section which we think is due to a change in the people drawing up the maps.

We [Helen Hudson of , and Davine V. Campbell of .] will start our survey with both names and any available, readable information found on the markers, as well as a picture of each & every marker, then a follow-up picture showing the entire lot from a side angle, letting you know just how many markers are in the lot.

The survey will begin at the Center Entrance on the North side of the paved road, starting from the south of Section 1, going Row by Row from South to North in this section.

Each Section on the Cemetery Map found at City Hall in Vienna, is given a letter to distinguish the location. We did not realize this when we started, therefore our survey will not follow the alphabet as you and I know it. Please pay attention to this index and it should lead you straight to the lot you are interested in.

Lot # 9 in West Center 1st Section is in Map Section "I"

WOW = Woodmen Of The World
FHM = Funeral Home Marker
DC GVV= Death certificate at GA Virtual Vault
{Graves} Sec. E – Lot 23 No Owner of Lot name on map
{Graves} Sec E – Lot 20 No Owner of Lot name on map
{Graves] Sec E- Lot 19 No Owner of Lot name on map

VIENNA CITY CEMETERY - WEST CENTER SECTION

The Cemetery Plat Map is divided into Sections. There is a "letter" of the alphabet to indicate the designated section. A number is in each lot and not necessarily in numerical order because some rows have been added and a new number given.

Hiram D. HARDEN	Elisabeth WILLIAMSON	26 May 1839	James Cumbie, M.G.	25 May 1839	198

[The dates for the next five records are correctly shown as they appeared. However, the last two entries on page 200 show the year as 1839 whereas the records appeared to show 1837. This is another instance where the recorder made his figures seven and nine appear identical.]

William H. CRAWFORD	Sarah McLEOD	27 Dec 1838	Murdock Shaw, JP	26 Dec 1838	198
Elihu McMICHAEL	Anna MARTIN	12 Jan 1838	Stephen Malone, JP	05 Jan 1838	199
Norman McLEOD	Elisabeth ROP [ROSS]	26 Dec 1838	Murdock Shaw, JP*	05 Dec 1838	199

* [Murdock Shaw signed the certificate on 27 Dec 1838, although the marriage record clearly showed the date of the marriage as 26 Dec 1838. No reason was given for the delay.]

Groom	Bride	Date	Performed by:	License Date	Page
Meck OWENS*	Julian BROWN*	01 Mar 1839*	David Wood, M.G.	25 Feb 1839*	200
* [The license shows his first name as "Mecks". The Bride's Index shows his name as "Meeks Owen" and her name as "Susan Brown". Repeating, the year appears as 1837 instead of 1839.]
Moses TAYLOR	Dicey HOSIA	06 Apr 1839	David Wood, M.G.	02 Apr 1839	200

Houston County, Georgia World War I Soldiers

Contributed by Joy Kimberly

This list of World War I soldiers was found placed in the "Indenture of Apprenticeship December 1866" volume at the Houston County Courthouse. The list was with a letter dated March 22, 1929 from Adjutant General Homer C. Parker and its purpose was to accredit the military service of the men to Houston County (see CGGSQ Vol. 31 no. 4 for a full transcription of the letter). The two documents were wrapped in plain brown paper and are in brittle condition. Since the letter predated WWII the war is referred to in the letter only as "the World War". In the list "col" is used to designate African American soldiers. Deserters are designated by an asterisk (*) before the name. Following each soldier's name is a street address or "RR" designating rural route address. A large number of soldiers are shown with addresses in neighboring counties. Names of officers, Navy personnel, deceased soldiers and incomplete names appear at the end of the main alphabetical listing. No effort has been made to verify soldier's names or service against other government records.

Twiggs County, GA Library Lost in Fire

The Twiggs County Library in Jeffersonville burned April 26 in a fire believed to have been started by lighting. Lost in the fire were 15,000 books as well as a collection of historical documents. The library which opened in 1985 was completely destroyed. Many family historians visited the library for genealogical research. As any genealogist with Twiggs County roots knows the Twiggs Co. courthouse burned in 1901. The loss of marriages, wills, deeds and other courthouse records in that fire makes research on Twiggs Co. families prior to 1901 a challenge. It is not known if the Jeffersonville library collection contained any historical documents that had not been microfilmed. See related stories at www.macon.com.

Atlanta Historic Newspaper Archive now Online

A new historic newspaper archive is now available online at Galileo. The Atlanta Historic Newspapers Archive includes 14 newspaper titles and covers the years 1847 – 1922. The 67,000 newspaper digital images are both full text searchable and can be browsed by date. The DjVu browser plug-in is required to view the digital images and can be downloaded free from the website. The Atlanta newspapers join the following other historic newspaper archives already available on Galileo; the Macon Telegraph, the Columbus Enquirer and the Milledgeville newspapers. These collections were added to Galileo as a project of the Digital Library of Georgia. The Galileo website is: www.galileo.usg.edu.

Queries

Queries from members and nonmembers will be printed as space permits. There is no limit to the number or frequency of submission. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed clearly and separated from other correspondence to the society. Please limit queries to about 50 words or less. Query submissions may be edited if appropriate. Members may also submit queries by email to the editor. Include membership number and contact information as you desire it to appear in the quarterly such as complete address, phone number and email address.

CGGS Membership Directory Update 2010

Contributed by Sherrie Nelson

Below is the 2010 update to the last CGGS Membership Directory which was published in the CGGS quarterly in 2002. This list contains some of our new members and the surnames each is researching. Members are listed in alphabetical order; each set of information includes the members name, membership number, address, phone and e-mail (if provided) followed by the surnames each member is researching. To the right of the surname is the County and State where the research is focused.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501©(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, and digitizing books and Georgia county records. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are always welcomed at regular meetings of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found at the website: www.cggs.org or write to: CGGS, P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA, 31099.

QUARTERLY STAFF

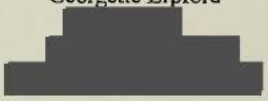
Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

NOTE: A Defaulter's List was not included at the end of the tax list for Capt. Watley's District

This abstraction of the 1831 tax digest was made from a copy at the old Houston County jail in Perry which the county is using for storage of some courthouse records. According to the clerk on duty it is the earliest tax digest held by the county. The location or existence of earlier tax records is unknown. Houston County was formed in 1821. The names within Captain Watley's district in this article were alphabetized to aid the researcher. Although defaulters usually appear at the end of a district none were provided for Capt. Watley.

Tax records can help the researcher determine a person's age and ownership of land and slaves. Free white males between the ages of 21 and 60 were required to pay poll tax. Those over age 60 were exempt after 1825. In the above tax list "O" signifies the person is over the age requirement for paying the poll tax but would have been required to pay taxes on land or other taxable possessions. The amount of tax varied with the quality of land owned. Thus 1st quality land was taxed heavier than 2nd, 3rd or pine lands. The entry "DO" substitutes for 'ditto'. The 1831 Houston County Tax digest will be continued in a future issue of the CGGSQ.

This article is continued from CGGS quarterly Vol. 31 No. 2. Earlier installments are in Vol. 21 No. 4; Vol. 22 No. 1; Vol. 23 No. 3, Vol. 28 No. 2, Vol. 28 No. 3, Vol. 29 No. 2 and Vol. 31 No. 1 Source: Baldwin County, Minutes of the Court of the Ordinary, 1807-1811, 1812-1819, 1819-1833, 1833-1852, microfilm #7434, Washington Memorial Library, Genealogical and Historical Room. Some pages have been repaired with tape, obscuring words. Partially obscured and undecipherable words and names are indicated with an underscore. Spelling and punctuation (or lack of) has been retained as in the original. The judges' names at the end of each court session appear to be their own signatures rather than the clerk's copying of their names.

James and Marium Malone Family Bible

Contributed by Deanna Craig

James Madison Malone and Marium Margaret Comer Malone

James Madison Malone and his wife, Marium Margaret Comer Malone, were married December 5, 1867 in Terrell Co, Georgia. Through the years and events recorded in their Bible they lived in Jones Co., Ga. They were the parents of eleven children. Prior to their marriage James Madison Malone served with Company G of the 11th Regiment Arkansas Infantry during the Civil War. In his application for a Confederate service pension James Madison Malone stated he lived in Georgia his entire life except during the years of his Civil War service.

James and Marium Margaret are buried at Mt. Pleasant Church Cemetery, Plentitude Church Road off Hwy. 18W in Jones Co, Georgia. Several documents have Marium's names interchanged. Her name is shown both as Marium Margaret and as Margaret Marium, Her name also appears both ways in the Bible. Her gravestone reads Margaret Peggy Malone.

After the death of Marium the family Bible passed to their son Benjamin Franklin Malone who lived with and cared for both parents until their death. Benjamin F. Malone married Lillian Roberta Culpepper on Nov 26, 1931. After Lillian's death in 1986, the Bible was passed to their daughter Jane Malone who married John Ernest Gordon on July 5, 1952. Today the Bible is owned by their daughter Deanna and her husband Dennis Wayne Craig. The Bible is in poor condition with the front cover completely off, the binding is loose and the title page with date of publication is missing.

FAMILY TEMPERANCE PLEDGE

WHY SIGN THE PLEDGE BECAUSE

1. Moderate drinking tends to drunkenness, while total abstinence directly from it.

2. While no one means to become a drunkard, there is said to be over six hundred thousand confirmed drunkards in our country to-day.

3. Intoxicating drinks can do no good as a beverage, and there are always safer and surer remedies to use in case of sickness.

4. The idea of moderation is full of deceit, and our estimate of the power of our own will is usually a mistaken one.

5. The drinking habit is the cause of the larger portion of the misery, poverty and crime in our land.

6. Both science and experience prove that even moderate drinking is injurious to health.

WHY SIGN THE PLEDGE BECAUSE

7. Eternal interests are often forfeited through drink, for the Bible declares that no drunkard shall enter heaven.

8. The Bible pronounces no blessing upon drinking, but many upon total abstinence.

9. It is easier to keep a pledge publicly, solemnly given than a simple resolution.

10. The pledge protects us from the solicitations of friends, and removes us from the temptations of the saloon.

11. Persons miscalculate their ability to drink in moderation, and become slaves to the drinking habit before they are aware of it.

12. Intemperance obstructs civilization, education, religion and every useful reform.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED SOLEMNLY PROMISE

BY THE HELP OF GOD

TO ABSTAIN FROM THE USE OF ALL INTOXICATING DRINKS AS A BEVERAGE

Pulaski County, Georgia Deed Book E 1816 - 1818

Abstracted by Georgette Lipford

Pulaski County was created in December 1808 from Laurens Co. which had been formed a year earlier in December 1807 from Wilkinson County. Since 1808 Pulaski's borders have shifted as a result of the following changes: in 1826 the upper part of Dooly County was added to Pulaski; in 1828 a portion of Houston County was added to Pulaski; in 1857 part of Pulaski was cut away to form Wilcox County; in 1870 a large portion of Pulaski became Dodge County and in 1912 the eastern half of Pulaski became Bleckley County. In 1810 the town of Hartford in Pulaski was established as the location for the county's public buildings.

This article is a continuation of a series by Rudy Dennis which ran in the CGGSQ several years ago. Those installments were later collected and printed as Pulaski County Deed Books A, B, C & D: 7 November 1807 – 30 May 1816. (See the CGGS order form in the back of this issue to purchase) The most recent installment of deed abstractions is in Vol. 31 No. 3 of the CGGSQ.

The deeds in this article were abstracted from microfilm no. 4499 at Washington Memorial Library, "Pulaski Co. Superior Court Deeds and Mortgages Book E, 1811 – 1818". All of the deeds in this installment were recorded in the deed book by Pulaski County clerk, Edward Smith. The spelling of names has been retained as in the original record. There are two instances in which the clerk reproduced a signer's "mark" that differed from the standard "X" and those have been drawn similar to how they appear in the deed book.

Historical maps showing land districts in Pulaski and surrounding counties can be found on Galileo in the Historical Atlas of Georgia Counties webpage at http://georgiainfo.galileo.usg.edu/histcountymaps/index.htm. The 1839 map from David Burr's The American Atlas, which is one of those in the Historical Atlas, shows the districts well. The Virtual Vault on the Georgia Archives site also has district plats of survey maps which can be helpful in land research.

CGGS's 2010 Donation to the WML Genealogical & Historical Room

Muriel Jackson accepts check from Georgette Lipford of CGGS

CGGS is proud to make an annual donation to Washington Memorial Library's Genealogical and Historical Room in Macon each year. The donation always results in new resources to help locate our ancestors. This year's gift was made possible in part by individual donations designated for the library from CGGS members. CGGS recognizes and thanks the following members who contributed to the 2010 Genealogy Room gift:

William B. and Clara M. Camp, Warner Robins, GA
Laurie Baker, Seattle, WA
Susan M. Bromwell, Vero Beach, FL
Nancy B. Douglass, Pfafftown, NC
Lavonia C. Hogg, Lizella, GA
James and Ruby H. Smith, Big Canoe, GA
Jennifer E. Cone, Pelham, GA – her gift was made in memory of Carrie Cone Glover
Dorothy C. Baker, Chicago, IL
John D. and Linda R. Douglas, Warner Robins, GA

In 2009 CGGS also provided a gift to the Genealogy Room of $1,200. Those funds were used to purchase the following items:

- Rose Hill Cemetery Records by Jack Thomas
- Death Notices from Mobile, Alabama and Vicinity, 5 vols., 1830-1839 thru 1870-1879
- Microfilm: Cordele Sentinel Mar. 1899 – Dec. 1904 [2 reels]
  Cordele Dispatch Jan. 1916 – Dec. 1922 [9 reels]
  Cordele Dispatch 26 Dec. 1922 – 19 Nov. 1926 [7 reels]
  Soperton News Jan. 1919 – Mar. 1941 [4 reels]
- National Genealogical Society subscription renewal
- Georgia Genealogical Society subscription renewal

Watch for these materials and those purchased with the 2010 donation on your next visit to the Genealogy Room.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501©(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, and digitizing books and Georgia county records. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are always welcomed at regular meetings of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found at the website: www.cggs.org or write to: CGGS, P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA, 31099.

QUARTERLY STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

Email: [redacted]

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

BEALLE FAMILY CEMETERY – DOOLY COUNTY, GEORGIA

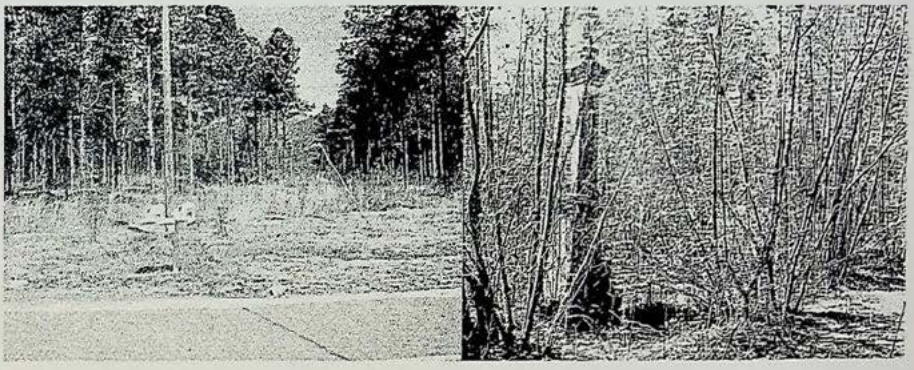
#18 in the Nora & Watts Powell Books

This small family cemetery contains only four graves that are visible. In searching the area, it does not appear that there were any more burials in it other than those four. It is located off of Weeks Road in a small area that is surrounded by planted pines. From Highway 90, just south of Lilly, turn onto Weeks Road. Go approx 1.1 miles and it will be on the north side of the road (your right) across from a small group of trailers. The one in the front has a red roof. GPS 32.06'48.67" N 83.52'44.36" W

The markers were once quite beautiful but time and trees have damaged them.

1. Elizabeth B. Bealle w/o R.D. died Sept 9, 1830 abt. 41 yrs. old
2. John Lambert Bealle s/o R.D. & E. Bealle Born Jan. 26, 1828 Died Aug. 26, 1831
3. Reason D. Bealle 1772 – Nov. 29, 1833, Aged 56 years
4. James Stallings Bealle Born Mar. 10, 1811 Died Nov 28, 1858 Masonic symbol on a rather large obelisk. He professed faith in Christ in early youth and joined the Baptist Church, an active and influential member of the Church in Vienna and for many years before his death, a Deacon of the same. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." (James Stallings Bealle did not marry and is buried with his brother and parents.)



The picture on the left hand side is taken from the south side of Weeks Road. The cemetery is in the area directly behind the mailboxes and utility post.

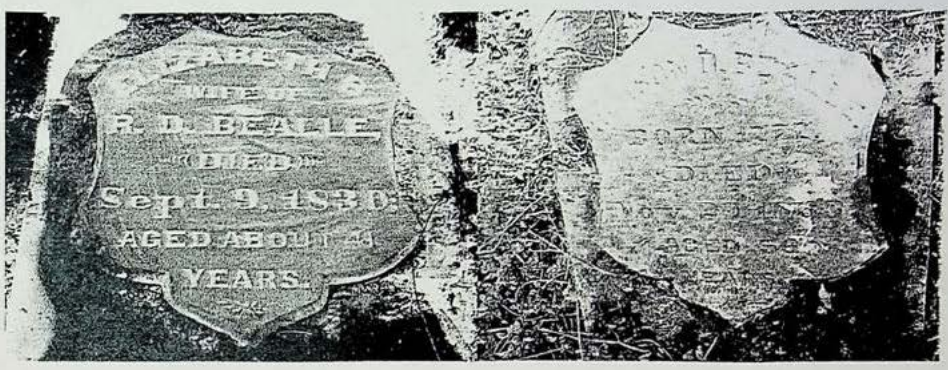
Below Reason D. Bealle



The Bealle family was among the early settlers of Dooly County, appearing in the 1830 Census with the following H/H

ALPHABETICAL INDEX - West Center Section
Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

The surname in brackets is on the marker, either as a maiden name or previously married name. I have tried to include every name mentioned on a marker in this index. Also included are lot owners if they are not buried in that lot. These names will NOT be included in the yearly Quarterly index for 2010.

Trade=Doctor $850

[1] Wm. N. L. Crocker had two entries for polls and taxes. The digest did not clarify why the second entry for the swamp land included a second poll. Usually, these entries are used when the primary individual is acting as an Agent, Administrator, Executor, or Guardian for another individual's land, slaves, etc. The trade "Doctor" was included on the second entry, not the first. The $850 value appeared to be under the column in the original document entitled "Stocks & Trade", but it was adjacent to the original column "Town lots" and may have referred to the doctor's office.

The Georgia Archives

Effective October 1, 2010 public visitation for research to the Georgia Archives changed to Thursday through Saturday, 8:30 – 5:00 only. When the Archives is closed to the public, most or all of the employees will work with state agencies to bring records into the Archives, catalog them and shelve them. For more information about research materials available at the Archives visit their website at www.GeorgiaArchives.org. The growing digital collections in the Virtual Vault can be accessed from the Archives home page.

Contributed by William Mills

The above two tin type photos were among items purchased earlier this year at an estate sale in south Houston County. The identities of the subjects are not known. Information contained in the small archives of which these two photos belong indicate that the young men were part of local militia formed 1 May 1859 and later known as the Southern Rights Guard from Houston County. The sword appears to be wooden and could have been a practice weapon or a parade implement. Although these photos are in poor condition they do provide a glimpse into the past.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501©(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, and digitizing books and Georgia county records. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are always welcomed at regular meetings of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found at the website: www.cggs.org or write to: CGGS, P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA, 31099

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford
[redacted]

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

PINE RIDGE PRIMITIVE BAPTIST CEMETERY

Dooly County, Georgia Surveyed January 2007 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

58 In Watts Powell's Book. The Church is gone. It is located approximately 2 mi. East of Findley. There is a picnic shelter and an "outhouse" remaining.

Directions from Vienna: Take Highway 27 East, turn North onto Bowen Road. Turn Right onto Pine Ridge Road (Co. Rd. 259). There are two sharp curves before reaching the cemetery on your Left, (the North side of Pine Ridge Rd.).

DM - Double Marker, usually husband and wife but we have also found siblings and other family members using a double marker

We started on the road side of the west end of the cemetery. The first number indicates the row, the number following the dash indicates the grave number in the cemetery.

[Both Aultman markers have hard to read numbers. Powell books have 1892 for David and 1848 for Elizabeth for the years that we had problems reading]

DOLES, Willis C., daughter of Wm. A. & M. Roundtree & Wife of Jessey Doles was born April 21, 1868, was married June 19, 1884, joined the Primitive Baptist Church, Aug. 1, 1884 and was ASSINATED (sic) March 28, 1885. Blessed Are The Pure In Heart For They Shall See God [Marker broken but enough is there that the information can be made out] 11-76

(Note that the article from the Macon newspaper following this survey gives a date of March 20. I tend to think the 28th is correct, the family would certainly have gotten this right.)

Being somewhat curious about the notation on the marker saying that Willis C. Doles had been assassinated, I looked in the Gallelo files for The Macon Telegraph and found the following:

The Telegraph and Messenger (Macon) Friday April 3, 1885
One Fiend Less
A Mob in Dooly County Take the Law in Their Own Hands

Montezuma, March 20-The full particulars of the Dooly county murder have just come in and prove it to have been one of the most revolting crimes committed lately.

Jesse Doles, a young farmer living seven miles from Vienna, the county seat of Dooly county, was on Saturday afternoon plowing in his field, not very far from his house. His wife was as usual attending to the domestic affairs. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the aspect of the weather was threatening, and Mr. Doles unhitched his mule and started home before the usual time. Reaching the house and entering, he saw his wife stretched upon the bed, lifeless, her throat cut from ear to ear, her head stabbed and her arms considerably bruised, and showing every evidence of having been most brutally assaulted. She had been raped. Wild with grief, Mr. Doles sought his neighbors and told the terrible tale.

The search began and the next morning the murderer was caught near the place where the crime was committed. George Rouse was his name, an ex-convict, a coal black negro. He confessed his guilt to the arresting posse and requested to be guarded and not jailed. The arrest was made early Sunday morning.

Sunday night the guards were overpowered by a mob of cool but determined men, and after Rouse's body had been mutilated, he was stripped and was hung, and is now hanging in full view of passers-by from Montezuma to Vienna. Some of the prominent negros of the county insisted on taking charge of the prisoner and burning him at the stake, but the whites would not yield him up.

When Rouse was caught, he was splotched with the lady's blood and he had cut out the knee of his pantaloons to avoid detection.

CGGS Quarterly Subject Index 1978 – 2010

By Joy Kimberly and Georgette Lipford

CGGS was founded in 1978 and began a quarterly publication that year with articles and material of use to family researchers. In the 32 years since the first issue many CGGS members have contributed photographs, abstracted or transcribed court records, Bibles and other items of genealogical interest. In 1992 CGGSQ Editor William Henry produced a subject index of the quarterlies published to that point. In this current issue the subject index is brought forward through 2010. The subject index is meant to supplement the surname indexes published in the first issue of each year for the issues of the preceding year.

Mr. Henry's 1992 subject index was used as the basis for the new index and his format was retained. There is some overlap of content within the categories. For example, the Family Charts and Pedigree Charts categories both contain pedigree charts. Also, some articles referenced under Feature Articles could also be considered court records. Readers are advised to check more than one category for articles of interest. The content groupings used in the index are as follows:

- Photographs
- Military records
- Court minutes and other records
- Newspaper articles and obituaries
- Land records (primarily on land distribution and the land lottery)
- Bibles
- Family charts or family histories
- Church records
- Cemetery surveys
- Census transcriptions
- Unclaimed letters
- Feature articles (on a wide variety of topics)
- Marriages
- Administrator bonds
- Deeds
- Pedigree charts

A few quarterly articles have been left out of this subject index to conserve space. Mr. Henry's book, Early Settlers of Greene County Indiana, was serialized in each issue beginning with Vol. 6, No. 4 and concluding in Vol. 14, No. 1. Queries are not listed in the subject index but were included in nearly every issue until about 2007 and then on an infrequent basis. Mr. Henry regularly listed recent acquisitions by Washington Memorial Library's Genealogy Room (books, microfilm, etc.) beginning with Vol. 10, No. 4 and ending with Vol. 18, No. 2.

Back issues of the CGGS quarterly can be purchased by using the publications order form (included in each issue) at the rate of $2.50 for CGGS members and $4.00 for nonmembers. The issues currently sold out are listed at the end of the index. Additional details for ordering are on page 204 of this issue.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501©(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, and digitizing books and Georgia county records. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are always welcomed at regular meetings of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found at the website: www.cggs.org or write to: CGGS, P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA, 31099.

QUARTERLY STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

C.G.G.S. QUARTERLY SURNAME INDEX VOL 32 FOR THE YEAR 2010

COMPILED BY HELEN SHIRAH HUDSON

Note: This surname index covers Quarterlies No. 1 through 4 for the year 2010. Pages 1-52 are in No. 1, pages 53-101 are in No. 2, pages 102-148 are in No. 3 and pages 149- 204 are in No.4. Please check the entire page listed for a surname, it may be listed more than one time. Look for all possible spellings of that surname and then run down the names starting with the same letter. "Our family has always spelled our last name -----" is not always true. The person involved may not have known how to write/spell their name and the recorder may have just spelled it the way it sounded. Many documents have a surname spelled different ways in that same document. And many of these original documents are extremely difficult to read. For this reason I have a listing for Randall, Randell and Randol. Probably all the same family.
Not included in this listing are the surnames contained in the Vienna City Cemetery, West Center Section. Those have been listed in an alphabetical index in issue No. 3, pages 104-116. Also not included is the Subject Index 1978-2010. For these, please remember that Volume 1 started in 1978 with each following Volume starting with the new year.

MANNING CEMETERY

This survey was made by Earl Lewis, Debbie June Lewis Prater and husband Ricky Prater on February 3, 2011. Our thanks to Charles Kezar for permitting our group to visit the cemetery located on his property that his grandfather, Dr Hollis S. Kezar, purchased from the estate of Leary C. Manning in 1866.

Location: Houston County, Georgia approximately four miles NNW of Elko, Georgia off Means Lane on Land Lot 244 of the Thirteenth Land District. See attached map.

From Interstate 75, take U.S. Highway 26 East toward Hawkinsville. Proceed 4-5 miles crossing Big Creek bridge and continuing to crossroads at caution light. Turn left at crossroads and go 2.5 to 3 miles to Sewell Road on the left of the crossroads. Turn left on Sewell road and proceed per above instructions relative to Sewell Road

The cemetery is extremely overgrown and obviously abandoned many years ago as evidenced by a 80-90 year old pine tree growing on top of one of the marked graves. The metal fence that once enclosed the cemetery collapsed years ago. It is interesting that the enclosed area is probably a quarter acre even though the deed of 1866 to Dr. Hollis Kezar exempted one (1) acre for the cemetery.

Leary Manning had 40 or so slaves in 1860. Could part of the original cemetery been designated as burial ground for the slave families? The overgrowth is such that no sinks are evident; however, it is highly probable that Leary's parents, Benjamin and Penelope are buried there as was Leary's wife, Louisa. Louisa lived at the home place across the lane from the cemetery, until her death in 1888.

The marked graves are:

LEARY C. MANNING
Born: February 1, 1808
Died: May 7, 1865

ALEXANDER MANNING
Born April 16, 1840
Died: July 1, 1862
Son of Leary C. Manning and Louisa Clark

NANCY ELIZABETH BEARDEN
Born: February 12, 1834
Died: January 22, 1908
Daughter of Leary C. Manning and Louisa Clark
Wife of Giles D. Bearden

GILES D. BEARDEN
Born: November 27, 1833
Died: May 13, 1907
Husband of Nancy Elizabeth Manning

The inscription on Leary Manning's marker is worth sharing. He must have been a loving husband and wonderful father to the couples ten (10) children.

The inscription reads:
"He died as he lived, AN HONEST MAN, beloved and esteemed by all who knew him for his moral worth and strict integrity. For him no more the blazing hearth shall burn, nor busy house wife ply her evening care, or children run to lisp their sires return, nor climb his knee the envied kiss to share."

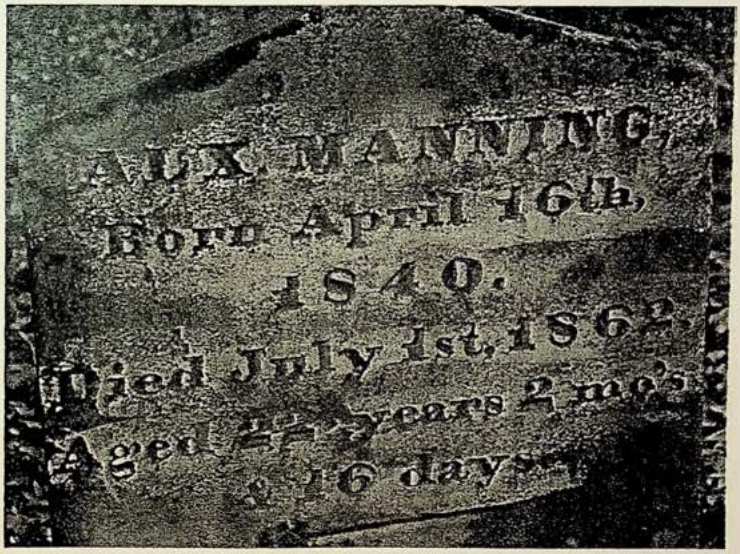
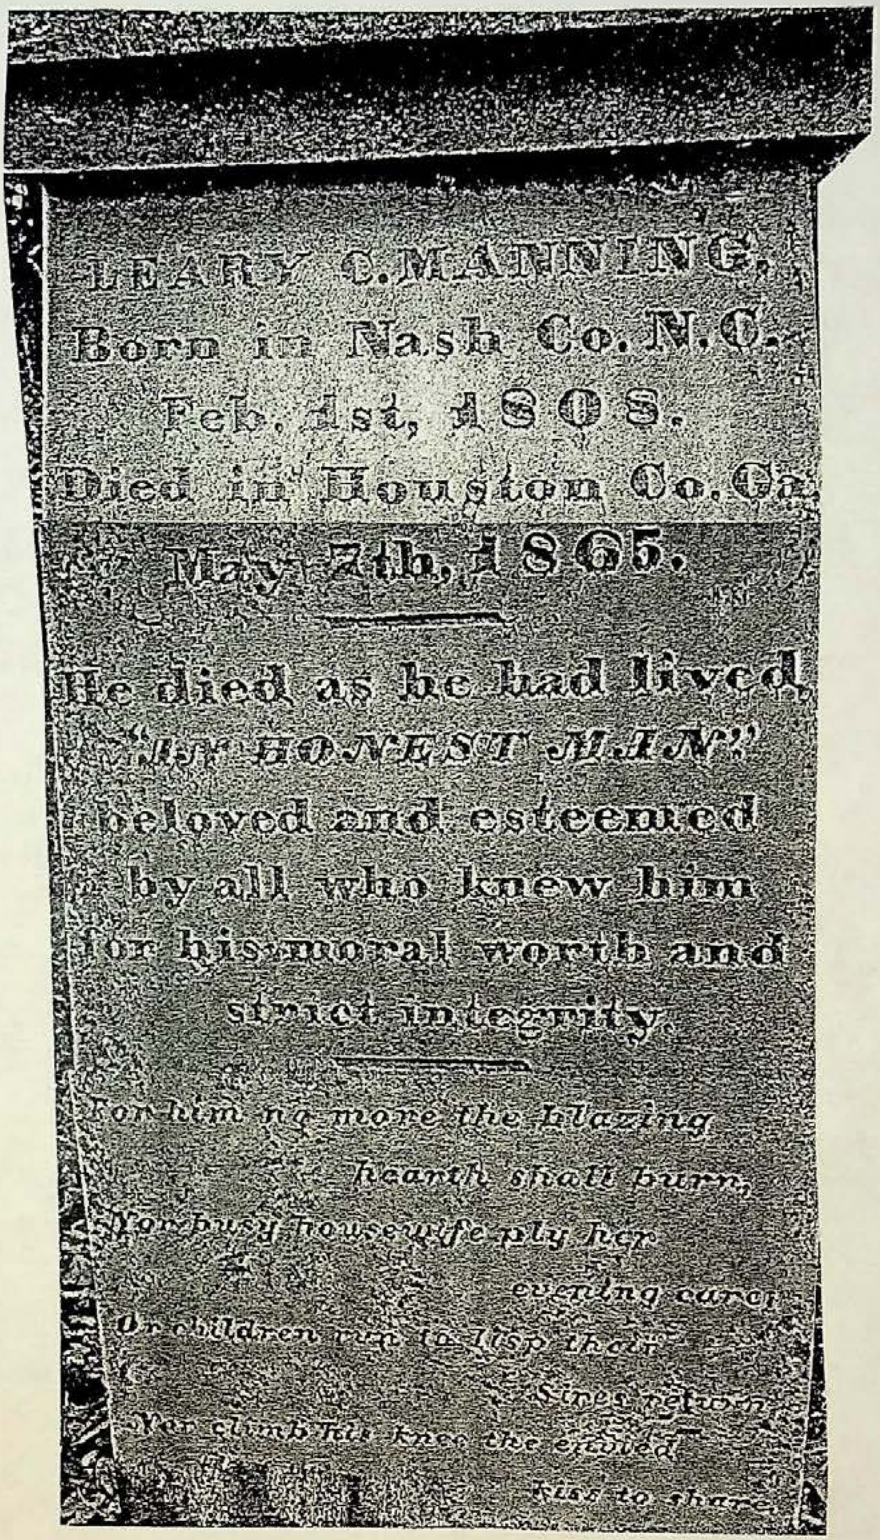
Alx. Manning marker. Son of Leary. He joined the Henderson Rangers, Confederate Army in March 1, 1862. He came home and died July 1, 1862 probably from a wound or disease.



Composition of Leary Manning's marker.



LEARY C. MANNING.
Born in Nash Co. N.C.
Feb. 1st, 1808.
Died in Houston Co. Ga.
May 7th, 1865.
He died as he had lived,
"AN HONEST MAN" beloved and esteemed by all who knew him for his moral worth and strict integrity.
For him no more the blazing hearth shall burn,
Nor busy housewife ply her evening care;
Or children run to lisp their Sires return,
Nor climb his knee the envied kiss to share.

Manning Family
They are buried next to Each Other. Layout of cemetery is like this. Plenty of space for others!!

6 slave houses were owned by L.C. Manning. Most of his slaves were children. It looks like he may have had 4 family groupings with an additional female, age 40, who was listed as insane. A lot of the Personal Property in the 1860 census would probably have been the value of slaves owned by the family but obviously not all since Willoughby, his mother and siblings had personal property in the 1870 census.

Genealogical Nuggets from Georgia Supreme Court Cases

By Georgette Lipford

This article is continued from the CGGSQ Vol. 28, no.1 which contained a short history on the Georgia Supreme Court. Additional cases were presented in Vol. 29, no. 1 and no. 3. The earlier cases and the ones that follow are taken from various volumes of the Georgia Reports in this author's library.

The account of a court case published in the Georgia Reports often contains details of the case not recorded in the county Superior Court minutes. The type of information presented as relevant to the case can include stated family relationships (including illegitimacy), family ties to other counties and states, names and relationships of slaves, value of real and personal property, economic details and when applicable testimony of personal reputation and community standing. Court documents such as wills, deeds and appraisements are sometimes presented as evidence. In those counties where court house records have been lost or destroyed the copy of the document included in the Georgia Reports may be the only one in existence. The Georgia Reports can be found in law libraries, including the Furman Smith Law Library at Mercer University in Macon, and in some county courthouses. Google books also has various volumes online. Although there is not a printed every name index to the Georgia Reports the online volumes can be searched by surname or location on Google.

The cases presented below are summarized from the account published in the Georgia Reports. The reader is encouraged to seek out the original for further specifics of the persons involved and details. An attempt has been made to discern every stated relationship from the cases and to correctly interpret the language and judgments of the court. This installment includes cases from Lumpkin, Pike, Telfair and counties.

1. Georgia Reports, Vol. 32, p. 424 – 427
July Term, 1860
Robertson v. The State of Georgia
From Lumpkin Superior Court

Thomas C. Robertson, Adeline Beck and Sarah G. Beck were jointly indicted in Lumpkin Superior court for simple larceny and for wrongfully carrying away a hog that belonged to Rice Arnold with the intent to steal the hog. The defendants chose to be tried separately. The Lumpkin Superior Court trial included the testimony from the persons involved.

Rice Arnold testified that the hog in question was his property and was in his pen with fattening hogs on or about the 26th of November 1858 in Lumpkin County. The hog got out of the pen and has not been seen since unless it was the same hog Arnold saw on that date at Sarah Beck's house after it had been butchered. On that date he saw a freshly butchered hog at Sarah Beck's and saw Adeline Beck put the head of the hog, some pieces of meat and a portion of the leaf fat into a sack and take it to her house which was in sight of Sarah Beck's house. Arnold valued the hog at $5.00.

A man named Floyd testified that he was working for Rice Arnold and early on the morning of November 26th, 1858 he went from Arnold's to Sarah Beck's, about a mile away, and saw Thomas C. Robertson, Sarah Beck and Adeline Beck cleaning the hog that got out of Rice Arnold's pen. The hog appeared to have just been killed.

William D. Beck testified that he was a nephew of the defendant and that Sarah Beck was the mother of an illegitimate child of eight or ten years old, which Rice Arnold acknowledged and recognized as his and that Arnold had helped support Sarah Beck and the child by furnishing her with provisions. William Beck testified that in April 1858 Sarah Beck sent him to Arnold's for some corn. Arnold said he would let her have the corn but that William Beck must pretend to buy it in order to prevent Arnold's wife from being suspicious. William Beck refused to pretend to purchase the corn so Arnold then said he would take a large turn of corn to the mill and leave a portion of it for Sarah. On that same day William Beck and Arnold went by Sarah Beck's house and she told Arnold that she had one of his shoats in the pen. Arnold replied that she had nothing to feed it with, that she should turn out the shoat and he would give her a good hog in the fall.

Sarah G. Beck testified that she is the mother of an illegitimate child about ten years old and that Arnold is the father and recognized himself as the father to Thomas C. Robertson, Adeline Beck and Martin Chambers. She stated that Arnold has frequently sent her things from the store and furnished her with meal and meat and had left corn at the mill for her. She also testified that Arnold had given her a hog the fall before and that in 1857 and 1858 Arnold frequently provided her with corn and meal by carrying a large turn to Mr. Castleberry's mill, which was operated by Mr. McClane. Arnold did so in order to prevent his wife from knowing that he was providing Sarah Beck with meal. She testified that in that manner he provided her with nearly all the meal she used in 1858. In addition to the meal Sarah Beck testified that Arnold instructed her to take a good hog of his out of the woods and kill it, but to be careful not to let his wife know. Sarah stated she took this hog, put it inside her enclosure and asked Robertson and Adeline Beck, her brother-in-law and sister to help her butcher it which they did. She stated Arnold had also given her a hog the fall before.

Martin Chambers testified that he was present and heard the conversation between Arnold and William Beck about the corn; that in 1857 one of Arnold's hogs was found with old man Beck's stock and some of the old man's family claimed it and there was some difficulty about the hog which was not marked. The hog in contention was a shoat weighing about sixty pounds.

James McClane testified that he kept the mill of Mr. Castleberry for a year or more previous to November 26th, 1858 and that Arnold left a half bushel of corn at the mill for Sarah. McClane ground the corn and Sarah came and picked it up. McClane testified that this one instance was the only time Arnold left corn for Sarah while McClane kept the mill.

The Lumpkin Superior Court jury found Robertson guilty. After hearing the testimony of the principles the Georgia Supreme Court reversed the lower court's judgment on the grounds that Robertson did not assist in stealing the hog, if it was indeed stolen. He only connection was in helping Sarah butcher the hog at her request.

2. Georgia Reports Vol. 36, p. 194 - 198
June Term, 1867
Wells, administrator of Wilder, v. Wilder
From Pike Superior Court, April 1867

This case arose from Mary C. Wilder's application for a widow and children's twelve months allowance. Mary Wilder testified she was the widow of James Wilder who died in January 1865 and left six children, four of whom were minors and living with her. He had 19 slaves, 405 acres of land and considerable personal property. She and the children have worked hard to provide their own support since his death. Until the administration of his estate she and the children lived on the estate (farm) and used what was left there, most of the corn and meat was taken from her. She did not know if the estate was solvent at the time of the trial but it was at the time of her husband's death.

Mary Wilder testified she sold a horse to pay Dr. Caldwell's bill for medical care and she sold a mule in order to obtain corn to live on. She got $140 worth of corn, none of which she gave to her son or son-in-law, she bought corn to keep the stock alive. She injured her hand while working (trying to avoid having to sell the stock). Her hand is "disabled", perhaps permanently so. She borrowed more than $100. She did not know the amount of provisions left at the time of her husband's death, most of it was taken by soldiers passing by.

Included in the court documents was the inventory and appraisement completed by the Pike Co. Court of Ordinary appointed appraisers: "...to appraise and set apart a sufficiency of the household and kitchen furniture for the use of the widow and minor children of James Wilder, late of said county, for said widow and children, do appraise and set apart all the household and kitchen furniture on hand for the use of said widow and children, viz:

2 cows and calves	$ 50.00
1 two-horse wagon	$ 75.00
30 bushels wheat	$ 60.00
3 pair plow gear	$ 4.00
1 corn sheller	$ 12.00
1 bay mare	$150.00
2 mules	$275.00
1 buggy	$ 20.00
15 head stock hogs	$ 50.00
5 head of sheep	$ 7.00
1 cutting knife	$ 8.00
Cash to be paid out of estate	$289.00
	$1,000.000

We the undersigned appraisers agree that it will take the foregoing for the widow and minor's support for one year. Signed: Robert H. Allen, W. B. Ballard and L. J. Green, J.P."

Dr. J. Caldwell testified that James Wilder left "a good many negroes at his death, a widow and at least four children". Caldwell purchased a horse from Wilder's estate for $250. His bill for the medical care of Wilder was $246. He had wanted to buy the horse from Mr. Wilder in his lifetime but Wilder always refused to sell saying that he intended the horse to be for his wife. Dr. Caldwell stated: "I allowed her $288 for the horse". He further testified that Mr. Wilder was sick two or three months before his death, and other members of the family were sick also but the main portion of the medical bill was for Wilder's last illness. Wilder was a good provider for his family, lived well and in as good a style as is usual in the country. Provisions were high about the time of and after his death. Soldiers cut down a good bit of the corn the fall before Wilder died in January. Another raid [by soldiers] passed through after Wilder's death. Mrs. Wilder had to buy corn after the soldiers took what she had. In Dr. Caldwell's opinion, in the style in which the family lived prior to Wilder's death, $1,000 was not an unreasonable amount for a year's support for the widow and family. However, the style of living had changed since the war and with the current prices $1,000 would not support them for a year. The estate was at that time insolvent. Wilder was in bad health several months, then became very ill and lived only five or six days. Dr. Caldwell testified that he stayed with Mr. Wilder day and night and that for the last five days of his final illness Dr. Caldwell's services were worth $50.00.

Eliab W. Wells, administrator of James Wilder, testified that the estate was appraised at $1,653.50 and was presently insolvent and under mortgage. He estimated a reasonable twelve months support for the widow and family to be $500.00 if living economically. The amount of money awarded by the commissioners to the widow would exhaust the sales of the perishable property other than what was given to her and leave only $77 balance. It would require all the estate to pay the widow's allowance. If anything were left, Wells testified that he had the oldest claim. He had two claims, one of which was older than the mortgage. The actual property set apart for the widow was, by appraisement, valued at $400, the cash was $289, making a total of nearly $700. In his opinion the property is worth the value the commissioners established but the property when sold did not bring the prices it was appraised at.

F. Dismuke testified that the widow to support herself and family after Mr. Wilder's death borrowed money outside the estate. He believed the Wilder land was worth all it was appraised for. The dower was run off on the old land of the estate. In his opinion the amount set apart by the commissioners would not support the widow and family for twelve months in the same style as she lived before her husband's death. It is more expensive to live now than before the war. He believed the appraisement included the whole property and that Mrs. Wilder paid her husband's funeral expenses.

The court found that Mrs. Wilder was entitled to twelve months support from the date of the letters of administration on the estate. They sent the case back to the lower court for a jury with the following charge to the Circuit Judge: the laws of Georgia allow a widow one year's support for herself and children out of the estate of her deceased husband and that the laws do not allow that she will live at the homestead and consume the provisions belonging to the estate and have a one year's support in addition to what she consumes. She must be held liable for the value of what she previously consumed.

3. Georgia Reports, Vol. 29, p. 517 – 519
November term, 1859
Collins v. Collins
From Telfair Superior Court, October 1859

Jane P. Collins filed for a divorce from her husband, Wright Collins. The grounds of the divorce were cruel treatment and a false charge of infidelity and want of chastity made against her by her husband which drove her and her youngest child from his house. She and the child were without means of support. A document estimating Mr. Collin's property as worth $17,355 was included in the case.

Wright Collins defended himself by admitting to the marriage and birth and ages of the children as alleged by the wife but he denied that the youngest child was his own, declaring the child to be another man's. He agreed to the correctness of the described value of his estate but that a part of it was unpaid for and that his notes were outstanding for that portion and that he was indebted about $5,000. He acknowledged that he had good crops.

The lower court ordered Wright Collins to pay the sum of $500 for legal fees resulting from the divorce case and to pay Jane P. Collins $25 monthly as temporary alimony beginning from the first day of September 1858 and to continue to pay this amount until the termination of the divorce cause.

Wright Collins objected to the lower court's decision on the grounds that the amounts to be paid for legal fees and alimony were excessive and unreasonable.

The Georgia Supreme Court upheld the lower court's decision with the opinion that the two amounts were not excessive. With the husband's clear estate of $1,200, the $25 was not thought to be an excessive monthly allowance for the wife and the court noted: "A lady in her condition in life might very reasonably expect to be indulged with a servant and her own board, with servant hire and servant's board, would in any part of this State, leave, out of $25 per month but little for clothing – an item which is not to be entirely overlooked. In support of the large counsel fees allowed in this case, it must be borne in mind that this was a lady who had previously sustained a high character, and that character was directly put in issue by the husband's line of defense. As nothing can be dearer to a lady than her character for chastity, so nothing could justify greater expense in its defense".

4. Georgia Reports, Vol. 36, p. 46 – 48
June term, 1867
Worthy v. Worthy
From Crawford Superior Court, Chambers, December and May, 1866

Mary A. Worthy sued for divorce from Leonard Worthy on the grounds of adultery. She was represented in this action by her father, Nathan Respass, in the role of her next friend. The suit alleged that she married Leonard Worthy in 1858, lived with him until about the first of November 1865 when she became insane and was sent by him to the lunatic asylum near Milledgeville, where she resided at the time the suit was brought. The primary legal question as considered by the Supreme Court was whether a guardian or next friend can of his own will institute such a suit and prosecute it as he pleased.

After being confined in the asylum Mrs. Worthy apparently had not had a lucid interval since. The court found that the wife did not herself file for divorce but her father did so acting as her next friend. The father's motivation was the husband's repeated alleged adulteries which violated the marriage vows. Despite the undesirable situation the court found that only the wife can pursue the divorce and she was not in a condition to do so. The court ruled that the judgment of the lower court be reversed on grounds that the suit should have been dismissed as it was improperly brought by a next friend.

5. Georgia Reports, Vol. 34, p. 565 – 572
June term, 1866, Milledgeville
Moore v. Ulm

Daniel C. Moore was the administrator of Robert Henderson. The dispute giving rise to this case involved title to land. The defendant was Francis Ulm. This case had previously been tried by Judge Thomas at the October term, 1859. In that trial the plaintiff showed a chain of title for the land in question down to himself, beginning with a grant from the State of Georgia to John Jordan dated 1818. The defendant offered as evidence a grant from the State to William Graves for the same premises dated 1789. The defendant's intent was to show that by a judicial sale the title passed from Graves in 1800 to Seaborn Jones. His evidence was a deed made at a sheriff's sale by the Deputy Marshal of Georgia to Seaborn Jones dated 1800. The Court rejected both documents in the earlier trial.

At the October 1862 term the defendant added discovery of new evidence in the form of affidavits to support his case. The affidavits were those of Lewis Crook, Elisha Weathers, the defendant and his counsel, William M. Reese.

Lewis Crook's affidavit was sworn to December 23, 1859. In it he stated that he was at that time about 76 years of age, that from the time he was about 13 until he was about 16 years old he knew William Graves, then in life and sometimes called Mountain Graves and that the little mountain was named for him.

Elisha Weathers' affidavit, sworn to October 22, 1860 stated that he was 76 years of age and moved with his father from South Carolina to Lincoln Co. in 1797 and that for a year or two after that period he frequently saw and heard of William Graves, called Mountain Graves. Graves had a store, was a speculator in land and frequently took up lands. Weathers stated that Graves went away from Lincoln Co. and Mr. Weather's did not know what became of him.

The affidavit of Judge Reese sworn to November 16, 1859 related how he learned quite by accident of Mr. Crook and the possible testimony he could provide relative to this case. Previous to the first trial he inquired in all the places he could think of and that he did not know of a single person who could prove Graves was alive about 1800 or 1801.

The plaintiff in response to this new evidence presented affidavits of several citizens of Lincoln Co. which proved that both Mr. Weathers and Mr. Crook had during the last seven years prior to October 1862 been known in the county as aged men and had often been at Lincolnton and other public places on public days. The affidavits further stated that Weathers, during that period, lived in the county, about two and a half miles from the defendant's residence and that Crook lived in Wilkes, near the Lincoln line and near Grave's mountain, five or six miles from Lincolnton and ten or twelve miles from the defendant and was well known at Lincolnton as a "vender of sleys".

In consideration of whether to accept the new evidence in this case the court noted that Mr. Weather's [also spelled as Withers] moved to Georgia in 1797 when about 13 years old. The land in dispute had been granted about 18 years before and the mountain named, or called, very soon afterwards by the name of the grantee. The court further noted that Weathers was very illiterate, not able to write his name and probably not the sort of man that anyone would have suspected of having the knowledge by Mr. Ulm. It was also noted that Mr. Crook as an aged person with a simple occupation, but a common one in his day, was not an apparently obvious source of information about William Graves. Noting these points the court accepted the affidavits of Weathers and Crook as new evidence. The court declared for a new trial with the opinion that Mr. Ulm did not prove the death of Mr. Graves or Graves' abandonment of possession of the land in question.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501©(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, and digitizing books and Georgia county records. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are always welcomed at regular meetings of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found at the website: www.cggs.org or write to: CGGS, P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA, 31099.

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell and Helen S. Hudson - April 2007

Location: Corner of Old National Highway and Indian Boundary Road., Turn Right or South off of Hwy 230 from Byromville to Unadilla on Old National Hwy where it merges with Hwy 41 near Findley. This cemetery is well kept. (There is not a church at this location.)

Note from Davine: Obit = is in the Hawkinsville Dispatch.

DM means that there is a double marker, usually husband and wife but could be other relationship.

SE=South Eastern Section & NE= North Eastern Section are sections that were done last and are at the back side of the cemetery. We kept the same row number all the way across but separated it by the SE or NE to indicate the part of the row. The survey begins at the highway side of the cemetery. The Grave numbers [numbers after the dash] start here.

Additional burial known but not marked. Abstracted by Marilyn N. Windham from: THE BUTLER HERALD - Butler, Ga. October 14, 1879.

DEATH - Prof. M. M. McDonald died at his home in Spalding, Macon County, on September 30th of Typhoid fever. Buried at Mt. Olive in Dooly County. Leaves wife and three small children. [Since he died of Typhoid, it is possible that the missing children in the 1880 census also contracted it and died. There are four grave sized sinks among the McDonald burials with no markings.]

Davine Campbell abstracted the 1880 Federal Census for Macon Co., GA and has this information. She has made additional notes with known information. On pg. 58 (stamped 598) - 770th Dist. Spalding Macon Co., Ga. House 448 [H/H marked 514 but I think it should be 515 since the H/H prior to this one is 514 HSH] Taken June 1880

Platt Gr-Son [of head of h/h] 2 m/w GA GA GA

What happened to the other two children? Does anyone out there have additional information on this small family?

This ends the survey of and information about Mt. Olive Cemetery.

THE THOMAS FRANKLIN HARDY BIBLE

Thomas Franklin Hardy, Sr. was the son of Franklin F. Hardy and Martha Powell. Franklin and Martha lived in Crawford, Bibb and Houston County, Georgia. They are buried in Evergreen Cemetery in the lot of another of their sons, John C. Hardy. Their graves have unmarked slabs. Thomas Franklin Hardy, Sr. and his wife Bertha are also buried in Evergreen Cemetery.

A note of interest, The owner of this Bible, T.F. Hardy, Jr. is not named Thomas Franklin but is Terrell. When I asked why he has a Jr. on his name, he said he had no idea, the family just did that. Just a guess, both went by initials.

Some of the ink is faded and it appears that a family member has written over part of the information to make it more legible.

LEWIS KNIGHT CHERRY GRAVE - MACON COUNTY, GEORGIA

Lewis Knight Cherry was born 21 Oct 1799 - Edgecombe, Edgecombe County, North Carolina, and died 1838 - Marshallville, Macon, Georgia, United States per information posted on a family tree at Ancestry. Family information stated that his wife put the fence around his grave at a later date, this is the explanation for the year 1860 on the gate. This grave is on the property where the Stagecoach Inn in Macon County, near Marshallville was located. The Inn was on the old stagecoach road near the Flint River and the grave was below the house site.

His wife is reported to be Charity Brown and they were married about 1820 in Duplin County, North Carolina. His parents are listed as Aaron Cherry and Elizabeth Holmes Knight. Most researchers list his children as: Rev. Francis Lafayette Cherry, George Washington Cherry and Sarah Elizabeth Cherry. The lines for Francis and George have been researched and posted but Sarah has no information except for her name.

The 1838 Tax Digest For Macon County, Georgia, Capt. Baldwin's District (543rd), Marshallville area as abstracted by Davine V. Campbell, published by CGGS.
Lewis K. Cherry, 1 poll tax, 7 slaves, 202 ½ acres -2nd quality oak & hickory, Lot # 128, District 15, Macon County, Georgia, Tax is $1.40, 1 1/4 mills
This land would have originally been located in Houston County, Georgia.

The 1840 Federal Census for Macon County, Georgia lists Charity Cherry as the Head of H/H with the following white members of the household: 2 males age 10-14, 1 female age 5-9 and 1 female age 30-39, with 6 people in agriculture. She is shown as having 8 slaves for a total of 12 people for her house hold. Since Charity is listed as the Head of H/H, we know that Lewis is deceased.

Southern Christian Advocate, November 23, 1838 issue, has the following obituary: "Lewis K Cherry was born in Edgecombe Co NC Oct 21 1799 and removed to this state some years past. He died the 25th ult. of consumption. Wife and three children survive."

The Bryan family cemetery is located behind the site of the old stagecoach inn. This cemetery was at one time quite large but now consists of 5 or so markers that were placed after the fact. Davine has a copy of a letter from a lady who said that her father kept the graves MOUNDED UP as long as he lived in the house. Unfortunately that was long ago and most of the graves have disappeared.

Pulaski County, Georgia Deed Book E 1816 - 1818

Pulaski County was created in December 1808 from Laurens Co. which had been formed a year earlier in December 1807 from Wilkinson County. Since 1808 Pulaski's borders have shifted as a result of the following changes: in 1826 the upper part of Dooly County was added to Pulaski; in 1828 a portion of Houston County was added to Pulaski; in 1857 part of Pulaski was cut away to form Wilcox County; in 1870 a large portion of Pulaski became Dodge County and in 1912 the eastern half of Pulaski became Bleckley County. In 1810 the town of Hartford in Pulaski was established as the location for the county's public buildings.

This article is a continuation of a series by Rudy Dennis which ran in the CGGSQ several years ago. Those installments were later collected and printed as Pulaski County Deed Books A, B, C & D: 7 November 1807 – 30 May 1816. (See the CGGS order form in the back of this issue to purchase) The most recent installment of deed abstractions is in Vol. 32 No. 2 of the CGGSQ.

The deeds in this article were abstracted from microfilm no. 4499 at Washington Memorial Library, "Pulaski Co. Superior Court Deeds and Mortgages Book E, 1811 – 1818". All of the deeds in this installment were recorded in the deed book by Pulaski County clerk, Edward Smith. The spelling of names has been retained as in the original record. There are two instances in which the clerk reproduced a signer's "mark" that differed from the standard "X" and those have been drawn similar to how they appear in the deed book. All locations are Georgia unless stated otherwise.

Historical maps showing land districts in Pulaski and surrounding counties can be found on Galileo in the Historical Atlas of Georgia Counties webpage at http://georgiainfo.galileo.usg.edu/histcountymaps/index.htm. The 1839 map from David Burr's The American Atlas, which is one of those in the Historical Atlas, shows the districts well. The Virtual Vault on the Georgia Archives site also has district plats of survey maps which can be helpful in land research.

1833 Promissory Note

On or before the 25th day of December next we or either of us promise to pay B. V. Iverson or bearer One hundred and eighty dollars for the hire of Joe and Adam the ensuing year and promise to give said boys three suits of clothes a hat blankets and pair of shoes each interest from date if not punctually paid William By__ December 28th 1833 Chas. F. Pattello

The above promissory note possibly pertains to Houston Co., Georgia. As illustrated by this transaction slaves were often hired out for labor to neighbors providing a source of income to their owners. The full name of the first signer cannot be determined. The second signer, Chas. Pattelio [or Pattilio], appears in Houston Co. records in the mid 1800's. The word "Judgment" is written across the center of the note possibly indicating the note was not paid and resulted in a court case. The signers of the note could have defaulted on payment either to B. V. Iverson or to someone that Iverson passed the note to. On the reverse of the note the following is inscribed: "Williams + Byn" and "B.V. Iverson". This note is in a private collection. Following is a transcription of the note:

CGGS's 2011 Donation to the WML Genealogical & Historical Room

CGGS VP Sandra Morton presents check to Muriel Jackson

CGGS is proud to make an annual donation to Washington Memorial Library's Genealogical and Historical Room in Macon. The donation always results in new resources to help locate our ancestors. This year's gift of $1,500 was made possible in part by individual donations designated for the library from CGGS members. CGGS would like to recognize and thank the following members who contributed to the 2011 Genealogy Room gift as well as four members who wished to remain anonymous:

Benefactor Level
Susan M. Bromwell,
Donor Level
Elaine Turk Nell,
David & Carolyn Schomer,
Dorothy C. Baker,
Nancy B. Douglass,
Patron Level
Betty D. Yarbrough,
Jennifer E. Cone, – gift made in memory of Carrie Cone Glover
Dorothy Walton,
Robert K. Nobles, Jr.,

News and Announcements

Missing Quarterly Page Numbers

Page numbers were accidently omitted in the last two issues of the CGGS quarterly. Members may wish to number the pages to assist in locating names when using the annual surname index. To do so in Volume 32 issue no. 4 the first article, "Pine Ridge Primitive Baptist Cemetery" begins as page 150. The last page in that issue which was the Publications Order Form should be page 204. In issue no. 1 of this year the first article "CGGS Quarterly Surname Index of Volume 32" begins as page 2. The last page in issue no. 1 which was the membership application should be page 48. We are sorry for the inconvenience.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues for 2011 are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

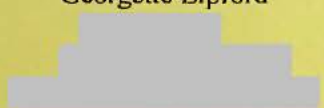
The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

The Robert Virgil Nottingham Bible

Contributed by Joyce Green

Robert "Bob" Virgil Nottingham was the eighth child of Dr. Custis Bell Nottingham and Rebecca Frances Virginia Thomson. Rebecca was the youngest daughter of Hezekiah and Hester Scott Thomson of Houston Co., GA. Robert Virgil Nottingham lived most of his life in Bibb Co., Ga. Various addresses are found for him in Macon city directories including listings at 105 First Street (1908), 143 Rose Park (1909) and 484 Orange St. (1912). He lived for a time on Walden Rd. in south Bibb Co. and also in Savannah, GA. For much of his life Nottingham worked as a sanitary inspector in Macon.

Although the pages printed here do not show the Bible's date of publication one page does have the following inscription: "Robt. V. Nottingham, Sav. Ga, 1892". Pasted to one page are obituaries for the following individuals: Robert Nottingham (five year old son of R. V. Nottingham), Mrs. Robert R. Feagin, James E. Crosland and Mrs. Kate Crosland Yates (wife of J. St. Julien Yates). Joyce Green, who is a great niece to Robert Virgil Nottingham, photocopied the pages with inscriptions several years ago. The present location of the Bible is not known but it is believed to be in the possession of a family member.

HOLMES CEMETERY

Helen S. Hudson

This cemetery is located off the south side of Marshallville Road within the city limits of Perry in District 13 of Houston County, Georgia, Land Lot 317. It is currently listed as Unknown Cemetery in the Houston County Tax Assessors records. It is .28 acres, greatly overgrown, with no markers visible. The property at one time belonged to the family of a friend but was deeded out before that section was sold. She was aware that a cemetery was located there but not anything else.

During a visit to another cemetery we met with a gentleman, Horace Holmes, who grew up in the area. Since I had worked with him I asked if he had any idea who might have been buried there. He said yes, his ggrandfather, Elijah Holmes's wife and some other family but did not know exactly who. He did say there was four or five graves there. I suspect that the two children that are listed in the 1900 census as being deceased are there as well as Mattie, the wife. Mattie died between 1905 and the 1910 census.

Horace Holmes, Helen Hudson & Horace's friend from SC

Both of these were taken from across the road (North side) from the cemetery, one shows the Welcome to Perry sign.

Below is the research that I did trying to locate this family and see if anything offered a clue to the people buried in the Holmes Cemetery.

In the 1860 census there is a large landowner named Issac Holmes in the 13th District. He is from NC and is listed as being Henderson, GA 13th District. He has many slaves and there is a black male age 16 listed who could match Samuel. But, Samuel could have taken another surname from a former owner, this is just a clue.

1870 United States Federal Census
Name: Saml Holmes
Home in 1870: Houston, Georgia
Household Members: Name Age
Holmes, Saml 26 abt 1844 B M Georgia Farm Laborer
Holmes Rosetta 25 abt 1845 B F Georgia Keeping House
Holmes Emmeline 8 abt 1862 B F Georgia
Holmes Susan 9/12 abt 1869 B F Georgia born in August
Holmes Minerva 7 abt 1863 B F Georgia
There is a William Dyer/Dyes who lives nearby and appears to be a land owner. Samuel could have been either working for the land owner or sharecropping.

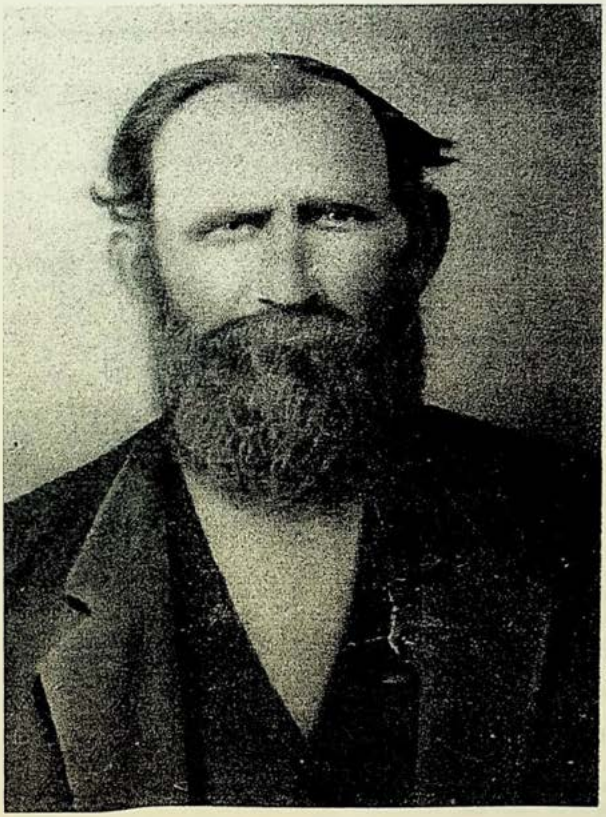
The picture of the gentleman below was in the Hunter Masonic Lodge meeting hall that was located in Marshallville, Georgia. A name is not on the front or back of the picture. Note: On his vest, there appears to be a Masonic pin. I have blown that up and it is beside the portrait. The picture is in the possession of Davine Campbell. It was given to her in hopes that someone could identify him.



As you can see, the material that the picture is printed on has gotten brittle and is cracking in places but that does not take away from the portrait of the gentleman. Probably taken in the late 1800s

Memoir of Annie Andel

Contributed by Sandra Morton

Genealogists always wish a grandparent or great grandparent had left a written first hand account of their life. Annie Churchwell Andel of Perry, Georgia did just that for her descendants. When Annie was born on December 4, 1919 her family lived south of Macon in the Rutland district of Bibb County, Georgia. She later lived in Macon and as an adult lived in Perry, Georgia. Late in life Annie recorded her memories of growing up in early 20th century central Georgia. This installment of Annie's memoir covers her young childhood and early school years. The family retains the original of Annie's memoir. This transcribed version is taken from a copy in the Perry Historical Museum, Perry, GA, and is published with the permission of Annie's son, Richard Andel. Maybe Annie's memoir will inspire readers to produce something similar for their descendants.

"For some time I have been thinking about writing or recording my life history that a record could be left that my children and grandchildren and perhaps even great, great grandchildren could read and know a little something about me and my life. If I don't do it now I may never get the chance to do it having already celebrated my 75th birthday. So, trying to make it as accurately and as interesting as possible I will begin. It will be in sections and as I find time to write."

THE EARLY YEARS

By Annie Andel

Many times when I was growing up I heard my mother say to her friends "My first one was a girl (Ruby Lee) and my last one was a girl (Annie Ruth)" (meaning me) and sandwiched in between was James Lee, called "Buster", William Clarence known as W.C., and Sidney Henry, often called "Sid" by his buddies. During the last months of my mother's life she made the remark that she often wondered why God gave her another baby so late in life, but now she knew! But, I'll explain why she said that in a later writing.

On the maternal side of my family I remember my grandmother visiting in our home when I was quite small. She made a great impression on me as she would sit in a rocking chair near the fireplace and lean over to pick up a hot coal from the ashes to light her corn cob pipe. Many women back then used snuff but she preferred her pipe. On her head she wore a bonnet, starched stiff and tied under the neck and always a long apron tied at the waist. Grandma was wooed and won before the war between the states and also widowed by that war and left with children. She then married James Dorsett and had several more children of whom my mother, Susie Ann, was one. Grandma died in 1932 after breaking her hip in a fall. She was 98 years old having lived thru two great wars – The War Between The States and World War I. She once told me she had seen Robert E. Lee on his white horse "Traveler" but whether this is truth or imagination is not certain.

It was a hot, muggy summer day when my sister Ruby and I went searching for the Caney Creek Primitive Baptist Church (now known as New Hope Primitive Baptist Church) in Monroe County. After many turns and backtracks we finally found the small white country church (established in 1812) on a dirt road. Directly across the road was the cemetery, filled with old tombstones and slabs, a silent picture of the history of this old church and the community it served. I had taken a soft leaded pencil and tissue paper to gather data on any information I could find. To the left and some distance from the entrance I found the headstone of James L. Dorsett, my grandfather and husband of Grandma Dorsett. The dates on the stone gave his birth as 1844 and death at 1896. Death came early for so many; times being hard and meager. Placing the tissue over the information on the headstone and using the soft pencil the dates and information became visible – To My Father Jas. L. Dorsett Born Mar. 15, 1844 Died Sept. 21, 1896 - Gone But Not Forgotten. To this day I have no idea which of his three children put this marker there.

Who knows what it was like that December day (or was it night?) in 1919? December can fool you in Georgia, being unusually mild or it can be bitterly cold when a small fireplace puts out little heat and no sympathy for a woman nearing forty years of age and deep in labor. Perhaps the midwife did the best she could and placed a crying baby girl in the woman's arms. This was the last one, joining an older sister and three brothers. World War I ended and the Treaty of Versailles signed.

My mother never told me much about her growing up, her life, how she viewed the world around her. I wish she had. I wish I had asked her – shown more interest. Perhaps she would have opened up, took joy in telling me. I was the loser for not asking. How much more I could tell you. How much richer we all would be for having known. That is why I'm trying to tell my story. Someday maybe in years to come some great grandchild will love to know what great grandma did, how she lived, what she thought. And then again, she may not give a hoot. To be on the safe side – I'll write.

Born Susie Ann Dorsett Feb. 22, 1882 in Monroe County, Georgia, she joined an older sister Laura and an older brother Joseph Cook. She always called her brother "Cook" and when I was growing up we visited often in his home. Of course Mama had half brothers and sisters and some of my happiest childhood memories are of visiting Uncle Will and his wife Georgia on their farm. Mama's education was very limited going only thru the 3rd or 4th grade, but she was smart and she was talented; so much so that she became a milliner, a hat maker. She made her own hats even up until she died in 1945. Hats were still being worn at that time.

I'm not sure how she met my father, William Henry Churchwell. There were bar b ques, church gatherings, dances, picnics in those days and lots of visiting, going by horse or horse and buggy (a lot of walking I'm sure), but perhaps at some function. Both lived in Monroe County. He had already enlisted (1900), served, and returned (1903) from the Spanish American War. He told many tales of happenings while in service – how the storm was so great going to the Philippines that the waves put out the boiler fire on ship, and how they bombarded the wall of China until you could climb over the wall on top of the cannon balls. He was a great story teller -- so much so I'm afraid less than truth prevailed when he was wound up. But, as we children always enjoyed hearing these "great" adventures and many a night was spent by the fireside listening to them. Today, I'm afraid T.V. has replaced the grand art of story-telling.

But, back to my own story: My mother Susie and my daddy Henry were married Jan. 10, 1909 in Jones County (I have their marriage license). In a short time the children came along. During this time they lived near my grandfather (my father's father) and worked on the farm. I know very little about my daddy's side of the family. He was one of five boys and he had five sisters. Several of the children died early, which was common at that time. Many of the graves at the Caney Creek Primitive Baptist Cemetery have names connected to this family, including Harrells, Ammons and Davidsons. Most families were large and often second marriages produced even more children. Most of these family members farmed or had saw mills or carpentry work and lived in Monroe, Twiggs, Jones and Bibb Counties.

For some reason, my daddy and his daddy (Grandpa Churchwell) had a "falling out." They had to move and had very little. The argument was so bad that grandpa disowned daddy and told him not to "set foot on his place again." The way daddy told it (and again I refer you to his magnificent way of telling things) he replied, "I hope before you die, you will have to call on me for help." Regardless of all that happened or didn't happen, grandpa died at our house, bedridden and my mother caring for him.

The community I was born in was known as Rutland, a farming community near Macon in Bibb Co. The most prominent buildings in that area were the school house and Liberty Methodist Church, with a cemetery behind it. The church was where my sister was given a Bible for learning all the books of the Bible and my daddy always made the lemonade (in a barrel) for the church picnics. All this section has grown up now with subdivisions and businesses. The church is still active and my sister and I stopped by there just a few years ago.

In daddy's application for a pension from the war department it stated that he "farmed for himself up until 1913, and was overseer of the farm for another man from 1916-1924." It was during this time, Dec. 4, 1919, that I was born. My earliest recollections are of living on the Gant farm.

The house was rather large and had a porch with columns on front a cedar tree in the front yard whose limbs had been trimmed high enough to have a swing. In back was a chicken yard. Once when a noise was heard in the chicken house late one night daddy slipped out on the porch in the back, pulled a loose board from the banister and slapped it hard on the floor. It sounded like a loud shot and he shouted, "Stop thief or I'll shoot again!" Chicken stealing was common back then.

It was a large farm and the dirt road that ran thru it not only had the house we lived in but barns for the mules and other animals across the road, a garden, and several tenant houses scattered along it. Once when my sister was picking beans, someone shouted that a mad dog was seen running up the road. I was with her and she grabbed me by the hand and partly dragging me ran as hard as she could. Rabid dogs were greatly feared as it was practically fatal to man or animal if bitten. I supposed we experienced many things then that are experienced today – a tornado passed some distance from our house as we stood on the porch and watched the terrible spinning tunnel [with] pieces of tin, wood and other objects flying in all directions. Then there was a deep snow one winter. It was strange to watch the chickens trying to get about in it.

My mother had a head [of] heavy hair, long and dark, and she wore it piled on top. She often complained of headaches and the doctor told her to cut her hair to see if it would help. When she cut it, she tied the cut ends with a ribbon and placed the hair in a gallon jar, twisting it around inside. Much later she had allergies so bad and I wonder if this was the cause of her headaches.

Earlier, I mentioned that Grandpa Churchwell died at our house. The only thing I remember about him was that he had a walking cane and once when I got into trouble, I hid under the bed. He took his cane and hooked it around my neck and pulled me out. It was at this house that he died in 1924.

Aunt Mary (daddy's sister) and her husband "Pete" Henderson lived in Miami, Fl., at this time. There was a great building "boom" going on and daddy decided he would go down to see if he could find carpentry work. Uncle Pete was in the plastering business. When daddy left to go to Macon to take the train, he told us children to be down at the railroad track (that was not too far from our house) at a certain time and he would have something for us. Not knowing what to expect, we waited until we saw the train in the distance. Once it was near us, something flew out a window and scattered all over the side of the tracks. It was candy to our delight. Maybe he asked the conductor to slow down so he could do this -- I don't know.

It would almost be impossible to describe what our family looked like as we started on that trip to Florida in the year of 1924. Daddy had secured work as a carpenter and returned to move the family to Miami. Somehow he had gotten a Model A Ford with running boards, headlights, horn and cellophane snap-in side windows. It had to be cranked with a crank in front and some years later "Buster" broke his arm cranking it. This was fairly common then as you had to be quick to release the crank when it started up. Everything that could be possibly loaded on the inside, tied to the top or sides, or hung on the back was carried. One would have thought Mama was crazy to take quilts to Florida but they came in mighty handy to wrap us smaller ones in when a tire went flat and the mosquitoes nearly carried us off as daddy and Buster changed the tire with mama fanning them with palmetto palms. W.C. wouldn't leave his pet Guinea hen, so she was put in a cage on the back of the car. Many years later when Sidney was a SeaBee working with the navy in the South Pacific during World War II he wrote me a letter asking if W.C. still had his pet Guinea. That hen had been dead for years but it was his way of letting me know he was on the Island of New Guinea. Mail was being censored at that time.

We followed the coastline, probably old U.S. 1, and my memory is very vague about the trip. As with everyone there is always something you remember and I suppose the sweet smell of the orange blossoms on the night air and when we were close enough to the ocean the roar of the waves and fresh, clean smell of the salt air. Today, the water is so polluted that is no longer the case. One night we slept inside a country church on the benches. I suppose the quilts were again a welcome thing to have.

It must have been 1926 or 1927 when we moved back to Georgia, leaving my sister Ruby behind. She had met and married a young man named Henry Garland. She was only sixteen and I'm sure our parents hated to leave without her but it turned out a good match and they were together until his death in 1971. The depression years had already started.

[At this point in the history, Annie included a photo of her grandfather's gravestone. She penciled the following underneath:

Gravesite of James Dorsett,
My grandfather,
Born Mar. 15, 1844 Butts Co.
Died Sept. 21, 1896

She included another photo of New Hope Primitive Baptist Church. She penciled the following beneath the photo: First known as Caney Creek Baptist
Cemetery across the road
Established in 1812

Annie also included a newspaper obituary of her grandmother, Mrs. James Dorsett and penciled below it the following: Born 1834 Jones Co.
Died 1932 Bibb Co.

Next, Annie included a hand-drawn sketch of directions to the church and cemetery. From Macon, travel I-75, turn right on GA 23, proceed north until you reach GA 18, then turn right and follow Annie's instructions as follows:

New Hope Church (Caney Creek)
About 5 mi off [GA] #18, on dirt road.
After you cross [Ocmulgee] River on 18, about 1 mi.,
turn left on small dirt road – go to dead end, turn left, cross bridge, go to sign (New Hope Church) turn right.

She included a second picture of the church and cemetery with the following inscription underneath: New Hope Primitive Baptist
"Caney Creek"
Established in 1812

The next nineteen pages of the manuscript include a variety of records including family histories, photographs, marriage license, WWII letter from Sidney, obituaries, pension application, Social Security certificate, and application for headstone/marker. These documents, not reproduced in this article, are available at the Perry Historical Museum, Perry, GA.]

EARLY SCHOOL YEARS

We moved into a house on Second Street in Macon near the Bibb Manufactory and Cotton Mills. The house was large, unpainted and near the railroad. Second Street went over the tracks so it was a rather high street. I started to the Second Street Elementary School (first grade). Since it was depression years, most of the children were given a bowl of vegetable soup and a half pint carton of milk. Nothing had ever tasted so good to me and I ate and drank slow to make it last longer.

This was where "Buster" broke his arm cranking the Model A and Mama also broke her arm letting a window down when a rainstorm came up suddenly. Next door to us lived two sisters. They probably felt sorry for me for they had me in to visit them. There were carpets on the floor and the furniture was heavy and dark, probably antiques. I thought they were rich. One Easter, they called me to the wooden fence that separated our houses. "Why don't you go down to the end of the fence and see what you can find," they said. Hanging on one of the boards was a large Easter basket with a rabbit in the middle and colored eggs all in the green paper grass. This made such an impression on me that has lasted a lifetime. I've had many opportunities to repeat this deed and, believe me, it gives greater pleasure to the giver than can be imagined.

Our next move was to Emory Avenue, about two miles from where we were living. The house here was a little better with a front porch and a swing. Next to the house was a fenced in garden. There was a gate into the garden with a huge fig tree to the left. In summer the June bugs buzzed all around it and Sidney loved to catch them. Mama made fig preserves that were so good with hot biscuits. Running thru the middle of the garden was a dirt path that led to a one room grocery store. There were no windows – just a back door and front door. Shelves lined the walls with all kinds of canned goods, tobacco and snuff. A wooden counter with a cash register and huge round of cheese was along one side of the wall. Daddy took care of the store and all the community came in for bread, cold drinks and items of everyday use. Several cane bottom chairs were out front and a game of checkers was often played here. It was sort of a "hang out" for the neighbors.

Across the street from us lived a woman named Nollie and her husband Bruce who worked as a barber some distance away. Saturdays he worked late cutting hair and she would ask me over to eat with her. It was usually ham and blackeye peas with baked sweet potatoes. Sometimes she would ask me to go down into "Negro Town" to get bar b que sandwiches for us. She also gave me a bottle to put in my coat pocket and said the woman would fill it for me. The negro woman bar b qued in her back yard and would slice the meat, put it in buns with a sauce, put it in a brown sack and give me the bottle that had been filled with something. Away I would go hurrying along because that bar b que smelled so good. I realize now that Nollie was an alcoholic but at that time all I knew was that when I got back we would eat that sandwich and drink a Coke.

Uncle Will (Mama's half brother) and his wife Georgia lived on a truck farm several miles south of Macon where the airport is now located. He grew turnips, watermelons, cantaloupes, sugar cane and other vegetables. He would take these to the Atlanta market to sell. They also had hogs, chickens, milk cow, mules and horses. The house had large rooms and all had fireplaces. The big, front porch was L-shaped with a swing at one end and a kudzu vine shaded the porch in summertime. A circular dirt drive was in front with Aunt Georgia's flower garden within the circle. She had old fashioned pink roses that smelled so sweet, red verbena and Dusty Miller plants. The pump house was in this circle too. Beyond the drive were the big barns for the mules and cows with hay storage. Back of this was hog pens. Another barn was filled with all sorts of tools, wagons and farming equipment.

Going to Uncle Wills was the "high light" of my childhood. We would pile in the Model A and start out. First thing we would do (us kids) was ask if she had something to eat. Aunt Georgia would always say, "Go look in the warming oven" meaning the big oven over the wood cook-stove. Usually we would find a platter of country ham, cornbread and baked sweet potatoes -- ham from their smokehouse, potatoes from the mounds covered with pine straw and dirt, and meal ground from their own corn. We were warned to put all scraps into the "slop bucket" for the hogs (No bones!). Aunt Georgia would let me gather the eggs from the nests nailed to the back of the smoke house. The nests were hampers filled with straw and it was not long before I had a basket of white and brown eggs, always being careful not to disturb the setting hens who could really pinch a hand.

Uncle Will had fox hounds. They would come from all parts of the yard when he fed them, yelling and yapping so loud. He knew each one by name and really loved those dogs. He also held bar b ques in the yard for family and friends. It was an all-night thing to cook the meat on the grills in the yard. Tables were set up under the chinaberry trees to hold the cakes and pies, cold slaw, potato salad, Brunswick stew and lemonade. He always did the bar b que, Aunt Georgia the stew and the rest was brought by those coming. The smell of the meat cooking seemed to fill the air all around.

The very front room of the house was the "parlor". Orelia, one of the daughters had a piano there and a settee and chairs of wood with padded seats and backs in black leather. White muslin curtains were over the windows and the shades were drawn in summer to keep the room cool. I would ask Aunt Georgia if I could "play" the piano and she would say, "Yes, but don't play too loud." I didn't know a note of music but would draw the bench up and press the keys ever so lightly. But, that wasn't my reason for wanting to go in there. Above the wooden mantel hung a great wreath of flowers, framed with a glass cover. This held a certain fascination for me. Sometime before, Uncle Will, Aunt Georgia, their children and some friends were having a fish fry on the banks of the river. Somehow Bootsy, their little girl disappeared. They found her later, drowned by the muddy waters of the river. The wreath was saved and framed and hung in the parlor over the mantel. She was about my age and I would stand there and wonder about her.

So many memories of running thru the sugar cane rows, dropping a water melon and eating the sweet meat there in the patch, riding the hay wagon, gathered around the fireplace in winter listening as the older folks told stories, talked about the weather or politics and such. Sometimes we young ones would get drowsy, and would end up on the feather bed with the high back, a quilt thrown over us.

Uncle Will and Aunt Georgia both died in their sleep in one of those high, oak carved beds. I guess they never knew what they had meant to me as a child. Years later, the whole area held housing and training facilities for pilots for World War II. Today it is used for the Macon Municipal Airport.

Emory Street was one-block long, dirt, and had two street lights. We lived in three different houses on this one street, working our way from east to west and one in between. There were many kids, all sizes and ages, but all played together. Most games were made up. Walking on stilts was punching two holes in tin cans, running cord thru them and making it long enough to hold to when you placed your feet on top of the cans. Many yards were cut up as the cans dug into the ground. Hop-scotch was another game played in the dirt street as the blocks were marked off and pieces of glass thrown into the squares. W.C. one of my brothers was "King of Marbles" as he could beat all the other boys at playing and he had a special agate marble he prized. His drawstring, tobacco sack was always full of the marbles he won from the other players.

John W. Burke School was the school I attended while living on Emory. It was just a short distance to the back of the school. As we walked along, others would join in and a big group was formed by the time we arrived. I always liked to go to school, made good grades and even skipped one half of sixth grade. At that time it was 1A and 1B, 2A and 2B, and so on to seventh grade. At recess we went out to a large play ground with swings, see saws, ball field and merry-go-round. Teachers were on duty to watch the kids, settle fights and just talk to anyone. When the bell rang, each grade formed a line in front of the broad steps at the entrance. Two of the older boys stood in front holding the American flag and the Georgia flag. We all repeated the Pledge to the flag and then marched in to Dixie played by one of the teachers at a piano in the main hall. When all the classes were in, we stood by our desks and sang the National Anthem to the notes played by the same teacher at the piano. It was a very solemn occasion. I learned the Lord's Prayer, the Twenty Third Psalm, the Beatitudes and many verses from the Bible through our daily devotions.

Sandboxes were used quite often in teaching geography. I remember once when we studied Japan we built the pagodas of cardboard, made the Japanese gardens with rocks and twigs and bits of flowers, little bridge over a stream (blue paper with sand pushed back). Each child would bring something or make something to add to it. I made a little parasol of cardboard and colored it, using a match stem for a handle. The sandbox was just that, a box about two by three feet, filled with white sand and placed on a table. When a project was finished, everything was removed and something else started.

We had an art teacher that came once a week, a music teacher who came once a week and a penmanship teacher who came once a week. There was a city-wide contest for penmanship and I won it for the girls. In the article in the paper, the reporter got the schools mixed up and had me in Pearl Stephens School.

[Annie included the newspaper article of her winning the Penmanship Contest.]

My seventh grade teacher was an encourager. She made school interesting and would always use the last half hour of our school day to read to us. And, she always left off at an interesting part. It kept us wanting to hear more, so naturally, we came back next day. She loved the old Negro spirituals and taught us to sing them, her favorite being "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot".

Since I had skipped a grade, I was to graduate in February, then go on to Lanier Junior High School formally Lanier High School for boys and girls. Our seventh grade class had been practicing two songs – both Indian songs; we marched in and took our seats on platform and went thru the exercise for about a week. The girls were all to wear white dresses the boys dark pants and white shirts. A prize was to be given to the "Most deserving" boy and girl in the class. As time drew near for the graduation, I realized I didn't have a white dress and no way I was going to get one. The money was just not there. On the morning of graduation I woke up not knowing what to do. I played sick and stayed in bed. Later on someone brought me a box wrapped in white paper with a pink bow. The prize for the "Most deserving" girl was a silver necklace which I still have part of it today

Daddy had a job with the WPA (Works Project Administration) that paid about twelve dollars a week. The depression was still bad and we lived in one house that had electricity but used lamps because we couldn't afford to pay the electric bill. People were proud then and would do almost anything to keep off welfare. Mama would do the washing in the yard, building a fire under the black wash pot and she had two tin tubs that set on saw horses. In summer it wasn't so bad but in winter the water was so cold to rinse clothes, your hands would get so red and cold, the clothes almost freeze before hanging them on the line. After, we would put sweet potatoes in the ashes under the wash pot to bake as we did the wash. "Buster" by now called Jimmy, had gone to Florida and was working as a plasterer. He started off as a water boy, carrying water to mix the cement, but had worked himself up to a plasterer and when he died he owned his own company – doing churches, post offices, Inns, homes and etc. all over Georgia, Florida and neighboring states. He was an artist in his line of work. Well, he sent money home to Mama that really helped keep the family going.

One thing I really loved (besides reading) was drawing. I was always sketching or copying pictures from books. The Orange Crush Co. had a contest for a poster advertising their drink. I entered and won a pair of roller skates. My poster was of a creek with stones going from one side to another.

On the far side was a bottle of Orange Crush and I titled it "Stepping Stones to Orange Crush." I almost wore those skates out but had to walk a couple of blocks to a street with sidewalks since Emory was dirt.

W.C. collected a bunch of bullets and kept them in a dish. Some of them were over three inches long and this bowl of ammunition really worried me. One day when I was home alone, I gathered them all up and took them to the very back of the yard and buried them. Many times in the years since I've wondered whatever happened to these shells – did they deteriorate or explode or did someone find them or horror of horrors – did someone get hurt by them?

Sometime in the period of living here, daddy had his appendix removed and he brought them home in a bottle filled with alcohol. He often brought the bottle out to show to someone. I hated this bottle with the dark object floating around in it. When we moved one time I took the bottle and hid it in the corner of a cabinet. He never knew what happened to his appendix and I wonder what the people thought when they found the bottle when they moved into the house after us.

One thing Mama was firm about and that was that we always wash our feet in a basin on the back porch before coming in the house. Since the street was dirt and most of the yards were too, our feet really got dirty but it was hard enough to wash shirts without adding extra work.

Even through the tough times of depression we found ways to play and have fun. Adults too enjoyed visiting and playing cards (mostly "set-back") and many Saturday nights would find them enjoying a dance at one of the homes. Furniture would be moved to other rooms, corn meal sprinkled on the wooden floor to make it smooth for dancing – round and square dancing. In a corner would be a fiddle player, banjo, harmonica and sometimes a guitar. A caller would call out the steps and groups would perform the different motions. Occasionally, the musicians would break into a fast "fox trot" or a slow waltz. The children usually wound up asleep on a bed or the floor for this droning on of music went on till way past midnight. By the time the crowd left, the floor was so slick and smooth it was great fun to slide across.

My first experience of going to church was to Second Street Methodist Church not far from the school. I don't remember who asked me or how I got there but do remember the small tables and chairs and thought the room looked like a play house. A long curtain separated the children's Sunday School from the rest of the church. At Christmas time a large tree was in the main part of the church and all the children were given a bag with fruit and candy. I can't remember a gift of any kind.

The Perry Area Historical Society

Annie Andel's entire memoir and all enclosures can be seen at the Perry Area Historical Society. The society's home, located at 901 Northside Dr., Perry, GA, houses a collection of artifacts and memorabilia from Perry's early days. The museum has exhibits of maps, diaries, tools, coins, antique toys, photographs and much more. They welcome donations of items related to the history of the Perry area. The museum is open Tuesday – Thursday: 10:00 – 12:00 and 2:00 – 4:00 and some Saturdays. More information can be found on the society's website: www.perryhistoricalsociety.org

GALILEO Adds Additional Historical Newspapers

The South Georgia Historic Newspapers Archive, which includes six newspaper titles published in four south Georgia cities (Albany, Americus, Thomasville, and Valdosta) from 1845 to 1922, is now available at http://www.galileo.usg.edu/express?link=sgan or through the GALILEO website. Other historic newspaper archives available on GALILEO include: Athens (1827-1922), Atlanta (1857-1922), the Columbus Enquirer (1828-1890), the Macon Telegraph (1826-1908) and Milledgeville (1808-1920).

Leggett – Shropshire

Searching for my great great grandmother's parents. Here is what I know: Great Great Grandmother's name was Nancy T. Leggett. Nancy had a sister named Huldah Leggett. They were close to the same age, both born around 1818-1822 in Georgia. Later census data on them indicates their parents were both born in Georgia, but this is unproven. Nancy T.'s husband, was probably born in South Carolina. Nancy T. Leggett was married in 1836 in Monroe County to Van Swearingen. Sister Huldah was married in the same year to Jacob Brown Shropshire, also in Monroe County. I believe the girls had a brother, John T. Leggett, also close to same age as they were. John T was living in Monroe County in 1840. A John T. Leggett's military records indicated he was born in Columbia County, Georgia. My research efforts have been focused mainly on Monroe County. I found a land transaction of a Mary Leggett in Monroe County, 1823. I believe she could be my Nancy T, Huldah, and John T. Leggett's mother. I don't know her maiden name and I don't know the first name of whichever Leggett she married.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues for 2011 are $25.00 for individual membership or $30.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

QUARTERLY STAFF

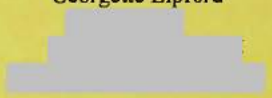
Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sherrie Nelson, Sandra Morton & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county/state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment or submitted on floppy disk. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

[Pinned to the page for deaths is the following newspaper memorial]
In Memory of Our Beloved Uncle Judge T. B. Myers
The solemn scene is closed, at last.
The long, the painful conflict past.
His weary spirit, we hope, at rest,
Among the spirits of the blessed.

Short was thy journey to the tomb.
How soon thou hast arrived at home,
And left us here in pain and toil,
To suffer yet a little while.

But oh! We mourn to think that we Thy lonely form no more shall see,
Thy smiling face, thy pleasant voice
No more shall make our hearts rejoice.

But shall we murmer and complain,
If our loss is his eternal gain,
The Lord first gave the precious loan,
And He has taken but his own.
Mrs. N. Cunnard, Eudora, Ga.

WATSON FAMILY CEMETERY & A FEW EXTRAS

205 South Pleasant Hill Road. Warner Robins, Houston County, Georgia
Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson Updated January 2012

Now known as Magnolia Park Cemetery, it was originally established for the members of the Watson family and expanded to those who married into the family and possibly those who lived nearby. In 1949 the area was purchased for use as a public cemetery with the Watson family cemetery portion continuing to be used by the family.

If you use the center entrance, these graves will be on your left a short distance into the cemetery. They are easy to spot since they are the oldest graves and are in the only section that upright markers are allowed. I am listing the burials starting on the west end of this section, moving from the north to the south. The only graves that I am listing are the ones for the Watson Family section or who might be related to them. Spaces means that there are no apparent graves but that there is enough space for one. The older burials are at the center of the section or the south ends of the rows.

The early burials were not recorded in the Magnolia Park Cemetery section of Addie Howell's Cemeteries And Obituaries of Houston County, Georgia. Information from my data base/research will be inclosed in [ ].

Houston Home Journal, Thursday, April 26,1883
Personal Reminiscences (Full article in behind John T. Leverett in my records)

"On the 8th of June 1861, the H. C. Vs. then in camp where New Hope now is, [Perry, GA] marched up in town and formed in front of the Perry hotel, where Miss Mitt Mann, (now Mrs. J. R. Duncan) after an appropriate address, presented the company with a beautiful flag made by the ladies of Perry. Capt. Charles T. Goode received the colors and made a short address in reply. After this the company which was uniformed in white pants and red shirts, had a zouave [?] drill in front of the Hotel.

In the fight at Deep Bottom, Aug 14th '64, Jno. T. Leverett was shot by a negro and slightly wounded. Had it not been for his frying pan, which was strapped to his back, and which the ball struck, and was thereby split in two, the wound would have been a serious, if not mortal one.
Later in the same article

In the front of battle at Gettysburg, John Leverett suddenly discovered he had fired his last round. Two yankees, protected by a large rock, were just in front of him and would have vied in killing him if he had attempted retreat. His presence of mind and decisive action saved him. He rushed boldly up, demanded their surrender and hurried them from the field.
From my records

Confederate widow's pension papers for Mrs. L.A. Leverett widow of John T. Leverett. John T. Leverett died in Houston County 13, Dec. 1914. It states that they were married Dec. 13 1866. On the date of his death they owned 45 acres, 6 hogs, and 1 mule.

Taken from an old copy of the Houston Home Journal
How many times did we hear this phrase in years past, not very often now.
Origin of "Grass Widow"

Grass widow means "grace" widow, as opposed to "death" widow. The Latin is vidua de gratia; the French, veuve de grace. A smart discrimination if "grass" widow and "sod" widow. It is said that the early adventurers in California had the practice of alluding among themselves to wives left behind as "out at grass," and it is sometimes suggested that the use of "grass widow" came this way into existence. - Kansas City Star.

A Soldier's Letter Home

Transcribed & annotated by Rollis Smith
Email:

Many of us have treasures passed down through the generations, but how many of us have really looked at them for hidden clues? One such treasure is a letter written by my Great Great-grandfather, Joseph Andrew Smith, to his wife Mary Marguaret "Mollie" (Joiner) Smith while encamped on the banks of the Chickahominy River near Richmond, Virginia in June 1862. My first glimpse of the letter came in the early 1950's, and I read it repeatedly through the years without fully realizing its significance. A cousin, who is a descendant of Joseph's oldest son Emmett Jerome, and previously unknown to this side of the family, visited Joseph's Find-A-Grave memorial. Later another cousin, like the author a descendant of Joseph's youngest son Jackson Bennett, visited the website. Not knowing the connection, the latter asked me to confirm the relationship. A phone call corroborated her relationship to our Joseph Andrew. After many years of separation, the two lines of descendants reunited in May of 2011 almost 147 years after Joseph Andrew Smith's death. Our ancestor's letter was a topic of discussion at the reunion and the need to make it understandable for others was recognized. Thus, my journey began. Many resources aided in the annotation process, but I am especially thankful to Mr. Roy Clark Joiner, Jr. for his invaluable assistance.

As with any handwritten article of the period, the modern reader can have difficulty in deciphering the writing or in understanding some of the terminology; hence, my undertaking to transcribe the letter for future generations revealed more information than was heretofore realized. Previously I had not given thought to the men mentioned in the letter or their connection to me. Joseph mentions nine men in the letter as members of his mess. A mess is a group of men who ate and camped together, sharing daily chores essential to their survival, in this case as members of Company C, Forty-fifth Regiment Georgia Infantry (Dooly Volunteers). Six of the ten men in Joseph's mess either died as a result of the rigors of battle or were killed in action.

Second Lieutenant Joseph Andrew Smith was killed in action on 12 May 1864 in the Battle for Spotsylvania Courthouse, probably in or near the area known as the Mule Shoe. Union forces began their advance at 4:35 am on the morning of the 12th in a dense fog. Confederate fire, for the most part, decimated this advance element. However, the damp air prevented many muskets from firing and hand-to-hand fighting resulted. By 6:30 am, the fog had turned to a heavy downpour drenching the field. It has been said musket fire was so heavy that a massive Oak tree was felled by the musket fire alone.

OBITUARY

Killed in the battle of Spottsylvania (sic; correct spelling of the period) C. H. [Courthouse], Va., on the 12th of May, 1864 Bro. JOSEPH A. SMITH, in the 34th year of his age. He entered the service a private the 12th of May, 1862 [Military Records: 4 March 1862], in Company C, 45th Georgia Regiment, afterwards was promoted to 3rd Lieutenant [recapitulation of military records give rank as 2nd Lieutenant] of his company by a unanimous voice of his command, in which capacity he acted until the hour of his death, nobly and patriotically discharging his duties and sharing the hardships and dangers in many hard fought battles with his comrades.

He was ever cheerial (sic), obliging and lively and strict in the discharge of his duties. Another good man has fallen; another home deprived of its brightest ornament and rendered sad and desolate. He leaves a devoted wife and four small children and quite a number of relatives and friends to mourn his fall. He joined the Methodist Church when but a youth, and was a consistent and acceptable member up to his death. To know him was to love him, he was much loved by his comrades in arms, his deportment while in camps was that of a Christian. Although he fills a soldier's grave far on Virginia's soil, his friends will never cease to remember him with affectionate tenderness, and hope he has gone to that better world where he will never again be aroused to the conflict of cruel war.

Resolved, whereas it has pleased the allwise (sic) God in his wisdom, to call our beloved Brother Joseph A. Smith from our midst, it is ordered that the Lodge wear the usual badge of mourning for 30 days in token of our esteem for him. Be it further Resolved, That this memorial be published in the Tri Weekly Telegraph, Macon, Ga., and a copy be presented to his widow in token of our condolence with her and bereavement.

Consider that the average soldier of the period stood 5 feet 6 or 7 inches tall, weighed about 130 pounds and carried approximately 70 pounds in supplies and equipment, often marching all night in conditions similar to the above only to fight a battle the next morning without sleep. No wonder so many fell to chronic illnesses or succumbed to the hardships of this life. Joseph's request for "Mollie" to send him a pair of pants and make an oilcloth haversack indicates the shortages. For those that do not remember the smell of an oilcloth draped on the kitchen table, it is a woven natural fiber cloth usually duck, canvas or linen then treated (painted in layers) with linseed oil, a natural byproduct of flax processing. Confederate haversacks were not as elaborate, unlike their northern counterparts, and most were homemade out of duck or canvas material with or without some type of weatherproofing. They were generally about 12" x 12" with a simple flap utilizing one button of any kind handy. The shoulder strap was about 2" wide and of sufficient length to span from the shoulder opposite of the bag and to have the top of the bag about level with the hip. It might have a center gusset allowing for expansion without bulging and to prevent the bag from swaying about too much. The men kept any extra clothing (if lucky to have such), rations, medicines, and other assorted personal items in this bag.

Byromville, July 2, 1861

Editor Telegraph: – On Thursday, the 27th of June, a portion of the ladies of Dooly Co. met at the Methodist Church at Byromville for the purpose of organizing a Soldiers' Relief Society, to aid in furnishing all necessary clothing to carry on a war with the late United States

The Society was organized by electing Mrs. W. P. Napier, President; Mrs. B. W. Owen, Vice President; Mrs. W. H. Byrom, Secretary, and Mrs. D. Smith, Treasurer.

After enrolling their names as officers of a relief society during the war, they elected their Executive Committee–Mrs. W. Tinsley, Mrs. Prater, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. T. Smith, and Mrs. W. Thompson.

The Society then adjourned to meet again on the second Saturday at the Baptist church. Mrs. W. P. NAPIER, President

Dooly County Grand Jury Presentments

WE the Grand Jurors, sworn, chosen and selected for the April adjourned Term, 1861 at Dooly Superior Court, beg leave to make the following general presentments.

As business of more importance require our attention, the confidence we have in the ability and fidelity of the Clerks of the Superior, Inferior and Court of Ordinary does away with the necessity of an examination of the records of their respective offices, being fully satisfied they are neatly and correctly kept.

Being satisfied that in this unjust war which is waged against our country, our rights, property, and honor, that it is one common cause upon and in which the rights, interest and honor of all are equal and mutual – that is equally the duty of all to assist in proportion to the value of their property, in paying the expense of defending our homes, honor and property–knowing it to be our duty, as well as pleasure to cloth our gallant volunteers from this county, who are now, or may hereafter go into service of the Confederate States during the time they may serve in the war, believing that all should have the honor and gratification of contributing equally in this grateful duty.

We therefore recommend the Inferior Court to assess such a percent, upon the State Tax as will raise beyond doubt the sum of Three Thousand Dollars exclusive of all insolvent list and expenses, &c. We also recommend the Inferior Court to instruct the Tax Collector upon the refusal or failure to pay Tax by any of the citizens of the county, that he shall issue his executions and proceed to collect the same by law.

We hereby appoint Col. Ebenezer Bothwell a Treasurer to receive this fund from the Tax Collector and receipt him for the same, which receipt shall be a voucher to the collector.

It shall be the duty of said Treasurer to pay out said funds to the order of the Ladies' Soldiers Relief Society of Dooly County, to be formed at Vienna, and take their receipt of the same.

We would recommend to the Ladies of the county, who have been so patriotic to tender their services to their country by making clothes for the Volunteers of the County, they have one general head association for this purpose in Vienna, to entitle them to draw this funds and have as many auxiliary associations in the county as they may think advisable.

We recommend the Inferior Court to assess forty percent upon the State tax for a pauper fund, and we would recommend to the Inferior Court specially, to see that the families of the Volunteers that are now, or may hereafter go into service of the Confederate States, shall receive in proportion to their necessities the benefit of this fund.

Believing that under the peculiar embarrassing condition of the country at this time, the amount received from the State for the education of the poor of the county, will be amply sufficient to educate the poor of the county, as may avail themselves of it.

We find that the bridges on Hog Crawl Creek, on the line between this and Macon county are needing repair and perhaps rebuilding, we would specially, and particularly call attention of the Inferior Courts of Dooly and Macon county to the necessity of having the same attended to immediately.

We would also recommend to the Inferior Court of this county, to have a bridge built across Lime Stone Creek, on the river road.

Our Jail having been destroyed by fire, we are gratified to believe that the necessities of the county do not require the rebuilding of the same this year; we, therefore, recommend the Inferior Court, not to have any jail built until circumstances shall make it necessary to be built, which we hope will never be.

We find upon examination of the Treasurer's books, that there is a surplus or considerable fund in his hands belonging to the county, undisposed (sic) of, we would recommend to the Inferior Court to advance to Col. Ebenezer Bothwell, such a proportion of this surplus as he may demand, to be returned by him to the county on receipt of the three thousand dollars directed to be raised, to clothe the Volunteers of the county, whatever amount so advanced, to be as heretofore directed, subject to the order of the Ladies Soldiers' Relief Society of the county, for the purpose of buying material to clothe the Volunteers.

We tender our acknowledgements to his Honor, H. G. Lamar, for his efficient discharge of duty and or his urbanity and courtesy to this body, and trust he may long continue in the enjoyment of health to aid his county in her day of trial with his patriotic counsels and timely suggestions.

To Solicitor General Montfort our thanks are also due, for his promptness and efficiency in the discharge of his official duties, and for his unremitted attention to this body.

Similar societies formed for the same purpose in surrounding counties, and they took measures to support their men. Their efforts expanded to include furnishing food to the hospitals in Macon as the war progressed. Little doubt, after reading the above newspaper articles, remains that the citizens of Dooly County supported their men. Take note that in July 1861 Dooly County had a surplus of funds in the coffer, and appeared more than willing to expend those funds in support of the men in service from the county. However, do not overlook the fact that the Confederacy, even at this early date, depended on the states and counties to not only furnish men for the war, but to equip them too.

Most of us have visions of men clad in Confederate gray uniforms, and automatically assume they were all alike. When in reality the only thing uniform was the lack of uniformity. Even though the South had plenty of cotton to make uniforms, they did not have the tools to manufacture them. Numerous advertisements ran in the Macon Telegraph for all manner of materials for soldiers' uniforms ranging from cotton, wool and a type of jean cloth or denim. The majority of the advertisements were for 'cash sales only', so it makes sense the women would make their purchases wisely, and comfort yielded to durability when making the selection of material for the soldiers.

A number of Confederates wore jackets, vests and trousers made of wool. Various tailors in the Macon area advertised they would make uniforms for a single soldier or an entire company. A number of factors influenced the Confederate uniform, with money being a major control. Other influences were area of enlistment, type of unit such as infantry, artillery or cavalry, and stage of the war.

Colors varied even between shades of gray. For instance, Confederate gray was usually a lighter gray; Richmond gray was a darker gray, and some were grayish brown. Indigo blue and sky blue was used by some, and various shades of brown or butternut were employed causing Union soldiers to call Confederate soldiers 'Butternuts'.

The Forty-fifth Regiment Georgia Infantry became known as one of the fastest moving regiments in the Confederacy, often marching long distances at night only to collapse on the ground when they reached their destination. They would then try to squeeze in some semblance of sleep for a few moments before engaging in a battle which might last 20 hours or more. This routine could repeat across the span of several days or weeks and in all variety of weather. The regiment's plight is easier to understand after reading the following letter posted to the Editor of the Richmond Dispatch by the Officers of the Regiment. This act in itself bespeaks the desperation the men felt to speak out against their government.

45th Reg't Georgia Vols.
Bivouse (sic)near Richmond, Va.
July 26th, 1862

☞ TO the RELATIVES and FRIENDS of the ENLISTED MEN COMPOSING THE 45th REG'T GEORGIA VOLS. ~ Charity and forbearance are virtues truly commendable, but when "forbearance ceases to be a virtue," we may with impunity urge our complaint against measures which have become almost intolerable. While we want nothing more than other regiments in the field, we feel satisfied that there has been a signal failure in the management of, and attention to, the 45th Georgia, inasmuch as we have unnecessarily suffered many privations.

Men who have sacrificed every comfort of home, parted with the loved ones there, and shouldered their muskets in the defence (sic) of their country, have here been allowed to linger for days and weeks without proper medical aid, (the Government failing to furnish the necessary supply of medicines,) lying upon their scanty bedding, beneath a tent or fly, exposed to the vicissitudes of the weather, or, if so fortunate, placed in some vacated out-house, or tobacco barn, and in some instances sent to a hospital in an almost dying condition.

During the recent battles before Richmond, in which our regiment participated, having no Assistant Surgeon, 270 or 280 men were left sick in our camp near Richmond, without medicine or medical attention; during which time a number died, we fear, from sheer neglect. Should not these evils be remedied?

These complaints are not offered or urged in a querulous or fault-finding spirit, but in behalf of the satiated men under our command, who look to us for their rights, and to place ourselves, who enjoy a few privileges beyond those of a private soldier, in a proper light before their friends and relatives at home, and also to set ourselves "right upon the feces" for time and eternity; for certainly some one (sic) must and will be held accountable.

Short Biographies of the Men in Joseph Andrew Smith's Mess

Joseph Andrew Smith enlisted as a Private on 4 March 1862, he appears as First Sergeant by 31 August 1862 on a list of sick at General Hospital Number 13, Richmond, Virginia. He remained hospitalized until December 23, 1862 when he was transfered to Division 1 General Hospital Camp Winder, Richmond, Virginia and finally returned to duty on 30 December 1862, almost 4 months later. He received a thirty-day leave of indulgence between 18 January and 18 February 1863 returning to Byromville, Georgia. The conception of my Great-grandfather, Jackson Bennett Smith, occurred during this period given his birth on 14 October 1863. Joseph received commutation for this thirty-day period at the rate of 44 cents per day for a total of $9.90 on 9 April 1863 at Camp Gregg, Virginia. His rank on the pay voucher shows Ordinance Sergeant, but no other document found shows this rank. Joseph was hospitalized again at Camp Winder between 9 May and 28 May 1863 (19 days), cause shown Veel: sclo [Vulnus Sclopeticum (relating to wound by gunshot)], treated and returned to duty. Research indicates this wound occurred during the Chancellorsville campaign. He earned a promotion to Second Lieutenant on 4 June 1863 while the Regiment was in the Richmond area. Joseph is buried in the State of Georgia Section, Grave C45, Spotsylvania Confederate Cemetery, in Spotsylvania County, Virginia.

Joseph named first William Wesley Calhoun. Pay vouchers indicate rate of pay as a Corporal at thirteen dollars a month. He received a $50 bounty upon enlistment but little else exists for his military career. He did survive the war. His will dated 20 May 1874 filed in Dooly County indicates his probable date of death not long after. At this time the author knows of no connection between Wesley and the Smith family.

Next, Joseph named Hardy David Royal, Jr., his brother-in-law. Hardy appeared among the prisoners of war surrendered at Appomattox Courthouse. He married Sarah "Sallie" Joiner, Mollie's sister, on 15 June 1865, and died in Dooly County on 08 February 1870. Many other ties exist between the Smith and Royal families. Another Hardy D. Royal of Dooly County married Mary Frances Rhodes and saw service with Company F, Fifty-ninth Regiment Georgia Infantry. His Confederate pension application states he was born 9 December 1839 in Dooly County, Georgia, whereas the other Hardy D. Royal, Jr. was born in Sampson County, North Carolina.

Jackson L. Butler was killed in action at Fredericksburg, Virginia on 13 December 1862. Joseph mentions sick recruits, and Jackson seems to fit. Regimental returns show him absent in April 1862 at Goldsboro, North Carolina. Later returns show him at Chimborazo Military Hospital Number 1 in Richmond, Virginia for 10 days during August 1862. Take notice of the fact that Jackson's brother Adam predeceased him dying 28 August 1861 at Camp Barton, Virginia. Ironically, both men die in Spotsylvania County, Virginia. Their brother, Isaac Williamson Butler, is Joseph's brother-in-law. The Smith family has many ties to the Butler clan.

Henry Nabor Smith received a wound at Chancellorsville, Virginia on 3 May 1863 in the left thigh. The wound seemingly would not heal, and possibly resulted in amputation although not confirmed by the author. He remained on light duty for roughly 11 months working in hospitals until his retirement on a disability discharge dated 19 April 1864. Henry married Jemima Royal, sister of Hardy David Royal, Jr. on 22 December 1855 in Dooly County. Thus Henry connects to Joseph through marriages.

William B. Bowen worked as a teamster, but he did not tolerate the conditions of service well. In and out of hospital with diarrhea, hemorrhoids and bronchitis, he finally succumbed on 15 August 1864 at Jackson Hospital, Richmond, Virginia. An inventory of his personal effects upon his death reflects testimony to the plight of the Southern Soldier: 1 blanket $2.00, 1 vest $1.00, 1 shirt $2.00, 1 pair drawers $2.00, 2 hats $2.00, 1 pair shoes $5.00 for a total of 14 dollars. (See Martin S. Bowen, William's First Cousin)

John S. Faircloth, another teamster in Joseph's mess, collected military pay at the rate of 25¢ per day. On 22 June 1864 he presented at General Hospital, Petersburg, Virginia with Vul Sclopet [Vulnus Sclopeticum (relating to wound by gunshot)]. Returns show his transfer on July 1, 1864 to Richmond, and 68 days after being initially wounded, he died on 29 August 1864, certainly a long and an arduous path to eternal peace.

Jonathan N. Waller's military life seems fraught with hardships. Three months and twenty-one days after enlisting Jonathan spent 19 days in Episcopal Church Hospital, Williamsburg, Virginia with bronchitis. Again, on 14 October 1862 he appeared in the records of General Hospital Number 19, Richmond, Virginia. He received a furlough for 30 days on 13 November 1862. Jonathan received a disability discharge on 16 April 1863 at Camp Gregg, Caroline County, Virginia. His Army of the Confederate States Certificate of Disability for Discharge shows him as 36 years of age; 5 feet 10 inches tall with fair complexion, blue eyes and dark hair, and by occupation when enlisted a carpenter (confirmed in Joseph's letter). During the last eight months he had been unfit for duty 240 days. James J. Winn, Acting Surgeon in Charge, certified that he had examined Jonathan N. Waller of Captain Carter's Company, and found him incapable of performing the duties of a soldier because of phthisis pulmonalis. [Consumption; pulmonary consumption, or decline; emaciation of the body, and debility, attended with a cough, hectic fever, and generally purulent expectoration (see Richard Dennis Hoblyn, A Dictionary of Terms Used in Medicine and the Collateral Sciences, Isaac Hayes, reviser with numerous additions, A New Edition from the Last London Edition (Philadelphia: Blanchard and Lea, 1859, phthisis pulmonalis)] Jonathan died sometime between 1867 and June 1870 probably in Georgia. His youngest child Jonathan N. Waller, Jr. was born January, 1868.

Martin S. Bowen, son of Nathan Bowen, killed in action at Mechanicsville, Virginia on 26 June 1862 (15 days after the date of Joseph's letter) having just returned from home (per the letter). Martin enlisted on 4 March 1862 at Camp Anderson near Vienna, Dooly County, Georgia as did the others with the exception of Henry Nabor Smith whose date and place of enlistment is shown as 12 May 1862 at Guinea's Station, Virginia. Almost immediately after enlistment, 26 April 1862, Martin appeared in Hospital at Richmond, Virginia listed as sick. His records do not indicate when he received a furlough but it seemed to be in May as he returned to the Regiment between 11 June 1862 and his death on 26 June. (See William B. Bowen, Martin's First Cousin)

George Washington Summerford is another soldier who did not tolerate the conditions and was admitted to General Hospital Number 18 (formerly Greaner's Hospital), Richmond, Virginia on 15 July 1862 with typhoid fever, and was transferred 30 August to Mayo's Island, Richmond, Virginia. He died on the 15 March 1863 at Vienna, Dooly County, Georgia according to an application made by his widow, Elizabeth D. Summerford (believed to be Elizabeth Demarious Grace) against the Government of the Confederate States for whatever might be due Private George W. Summerford, deceased. Records do not indicate his whereabouts between 30 August 1862 and 15 March 1863 a period of 7 months and 13 days.

The letter mentions the children of Joseph and "Mollie". He thanks her for sending locks of their hair. At the time the letter was written they had 3 sons: Emmett Jerome, Thomas Rentz, and Joseph Andrew Smith, Jr. Their fourth child Jackson Bennett Smith was born shortly before his father's death. After Joseph died "Mollie" married John H. Forehand on 19 December 1865 in Dooly County, Georgia and they had three children: Mary Artemish, William M. and Emma Bell Forehand. Joseph, "Mollie", and John were deeply religious Methodists with "Mollie" being instrumental in keeping the Dooly Campground from ceasing to function as a religious meeting place.

These men made great sacrifices as evidenced by their military records, but consider the often-overlooked aspect of this war, the families left at home. Technology limited communications from the battlefields, unlike today, were often delayed. The uncertainty of not knowing the condition of a loved one would take a toll on any family and the death of their family member would have rippling consequences. A juvenile arm of the Ladies Soldiers' Relief Society was formed, and the girls would each take an item of clothing to make and finish by the meeting the following week; this would be in addition to their normal activities and chores. Middle Georgia, like the South in general, was an agricultural economy and families had to take the place of the men, sometimes boys, defending them. It is evident these families were defending their homes and the Sovereignty of the People of Georgia.

This letter remains cherished as a memento of my ancestor. However, this simple project to closely analyze the letter and research the men named in the letter has deepened my appreciation for the history connected to it and the privation the families faced. It also strengthens the certainty that men in combat rely on the men around them, and therefore must take care of each other first and foremost because during the heat of battle little else matters. Agree or disagree with the causes of this war, but realize the families mentioned herein believed in their rights and were common citizens willing to give all. Their sacrifices demand we never forget them for they helped shape our Country into what we have today.

Every effort was made to transcribe Joseph's letter verbatim. Spelling is maintained from the original version. Brackets are used below to denote the transcriber's interpretation of the meaning of the author's words and punctuation has been added to make reading easier. The letter spans four hand written pages.

M. M. Smith

Dear Wife I received your letter this morning and was glad to hear you was well and the connection [family]. You say you have never received but one letter from me. I think I have sent you four. I make it a rule to write you once a week my chance is so bad to carry ink and papre (sic). I cannot write as often as I wish so you and the connection must excuse me for not writing and tell them all to write to me for I would be glad to get a letter every day from some of them and not wait for me. We are camped on the Chickahominy River in sight of the enamy (sic) [enemy]. They are on one side of the River and we are on the other. We expected a fight before now though we cannot tell when such a thing will happen. Mary you wanted to know who was in my mess and wheter (sic) [whether] I have heard any Preaching. I havenot (sic) [have not] heard but one sermon since I left home that was a Mishonary (sic) [Missionary] Baptist at Guinea's Station in camps is a verry (sic) [very] wicked place though I do not neglect prare (sic) [prayer] nor my promise to you. You will please not forget me. Tell all of the connection [family] to pray for me for if any body needs prare (sic) [prayer] it is me. Camp life is verry (sic) [very] hard though I am getting along tolerable well at this time. I have been puny ever since I have been in camps though I am nearly well at this time. I have stood it verry (sic) [very] well. The most of the recruts (sic) [recruits] that come when I did is sick or been sick. My mess is Wesley Cahoon (sic) [William Wesley Calhoun, First Corporal], H. D. Royals [Hardy D. Royal, First Sergeant], J. Butler [Jackson L. Butler, Private], H. N. Smith [Henry Nabor Smith, Private], William Bowin (sic) [William B. Bowen, Private], John Farcloth (sic) [John S. Faircloth, Private] old babe [babe's] son, J. Waller [Jonathan N. Waller, Private] the man that worked on Nelson house, Martin Bowin (sic) [Martin S. Bowen, Third Sergeant] he is at home at this time. If you receive this letter in time you will please send me one piar (sic) [pair] of pants if you can and take that oil cloth at home and make me a haver sack. Make it like a shot bag and a size larger and send to me by George Summerford [George W. Summerford, Private] or Martin Bowin (sic) [Martin S. Bowen, Third Sergeant]. As to my ambrotype [photograph that creates a positive image on sheet of glass] I cannot get it now but I will send it as soon as I can. You may be assured Mary I want (?) to see you verry (sic) bad. I did not know how to appreciate home untill (sic) [until] I come to the war. I would give a most any thing to see you and the children. I have been much grieved thinking about you and the children. I am som (sic) [some] better reconsiled (sic) [reconciled] than I have been. I could not keep from weaping (sic) [weeping] when I saw them sweet children ['s] hair kiss them for me and consider the same for your self. I hope to meet you all on earth once more. This closes by saying I remain loving husband untill (sic) [until] death.

Memoir of Annie Andel

Contributed by Sandra Morton

The first installment of the late Annie Churchwell Andel's memoir appeared in Vol. 33, No. 3 and contained many details of her central Georgia 1920s childhood. The following part covers her high school years in Macon in the 1930s and her early married life in Perry. Some of the area landmarks Annie references in this memoir no longer exist and their mention will stir the memories of readers old enough to remember them. This transcribed version of Annie's memoir is taken from a copy in the Perry Historical Museum in Perry, Georgia and is published with the permission of Annie's son, Richard Andel.

High School Years

Lanier High School was on Cotton Avenue in Macon where a vocational school is now located. It was a three story red brick building with a gym in the basement and was named for Sidney Lanier, the Georgia poet, born in Macon. We learned many of his poems in school; the ones I remember best were: "Song of the Chattahoochee" and "Marshes of Glynn." Most of the time we walked to school; sometimes someone would take us. It was here I learned to sew, starting with simple things like hemming a napkin, making a pillow case, and apron, and by the time I took Home Economics in High School at Miller I was making most of my own clothes.

During this time I had become an avid reader – making regular trips to Price Library and Washington Memorial Library. One night while reading, a candle light bug flew into my ear. The whirring noise near my ear drum was terrible and daddy had to take me to the emergency room at the Macon Hospital (so called at that time) to have it washed out. Even today, I have this fear of getting something in my ear.

This was about the time I first fell in love. Andy was visiting an Aunt and Uncle across the street from us. I was about fourteen and I guess he was about fifteen. He would sit on the porch and play his guitar and I must have thought he was a great musician. Anyway, he asked me to go to a prom party at a girl's house with him. A prom party meant filling out a "prom card" with names of the ones you would prom or walk with. The walk would be one or two blocks down the street and back. Sometimes you would meet other couples and stop and talk. Usually, the refreshments would be lemonade or Coke and cookies. Andy's uncle took us in his car but we walked the two miles back home. This romance died when summer was over and I didn't even miss him after school started again. It must have been the guitar I fell in love with.

About this time W.C. left home and became a mechanic. He always loved cars and could fix anything mechanical. We had mail from him from Melbourne, Florida where he was working at a service station.

After several other moves, we finally moved to Winship Street. This was much closer to Miller High School where I spent the last three years before graduating. Miller was a beautiful school, fairly new and was on Montpelier Ave. All boys went to Lanier High for Boys. Sidney was active in ROTC and basketball and baseball.

Some of the subjects I took were: biology, Civics, Algebra, Spanish, English, Chemistry and Home Economics. English was my favorite subject and my best friend, Mary Stephens and I worked on notebooks of poetry together. We had to select a subject, find poems and pictures to illustrate the poems and put all together in a notebook. My subject was "roads and pathways" – hers was "home." In my Home Ec [Economics] class I studied finances, cooking, sewing and dietetics. We had to design and make an article of clothing. Mine was an evening dress of pale green organdy with a slip of green satin!

I never wore it and why I chose something like that I can't imagine! If I had made a dress to wear to school it would have been to my advantage.

The gymnasium was in a building away from the main school. Each student had to have a gym suit, a romper type unIform with elastic in the legs. They had to be cleaned so we brought them home and washed them. Most of the girls starched them. Why, I don't know, for this really made them uncomfortable. You could sell your uniform when you graduated if someone your size wanted to buy it. Our books had to be bought too. There was always a hunt for someone to buy books from. Some of mine had several names in them, notes written and lesson assignments. Some worn books would sell cheap as twenty five cents but a new one would be higher.

When I was about fifteen, I went to visit my sister in Illinois. She and her family (two boys and a baby girl) lived in Villa Park, a suburb of Chicago. This was indeed a major trip for me since I had not done any traveling since our return to Georgia from Florida. While there, I had my first exposure to being a part of church and Christian experience. The Youth department took me in and really loved me. We went on a camping trip to Indiana State Dunes. Each Sunday night the group met at a home and had refreshments and a "sing." Hyman Appleman, a converted Jew was holding a revival there and made a great impression on me. I have the booklet of his life story and conversion. Indeed, it was through the influence of my sister and the opportunity of being with Christians that led me later to accept Christ as my Lord. I am forever indebted to her for that.

There never were many boyfriends during my school years. When I could find a job I worked but nothing paid very much. There were no "fast food" places like today. "Pig 'n Whistle" a bar b que place, NuWay Weiner, a place still famous for hot dogs, Fincher's Bar-b-que, Sunshine Ice Cream parlor that had curbside service. I worked here for awhile but finally got a part time job at Green's Five and Ten. First I worked in the hat department selling hats, then in the baby department selling baby clothes and accessories. Each department had a cash register and once I was in charge for a week when the manager went on vacation to Florida.

It was during my last year in High School when I met Joe. He was an amateur boxer and a very clean cut kind of guy. He didn't own a car and we walked everywhere – to ballgames, shows (Ritz, Capitol, Realto and Bibb Theaters – all downtown – no malls at that time.) One favorite place to eat was called "Midnight Dreams Café." They served a hamburger on an open bun with gravy and onions on top. It was delicious. As time passed it was sort of understood Joe and I would someday marry. He gave me a cedar chest (hope chest as it was called) and I began to collect things to go in it. One night we attended revival services at Tabernacle Baptist Church on Second Street. During the invitation we both went forward and were later baptized.

I finished High School in February. All these graduates had to wait until June to be included in the ceremony (June 9, 1938). Again, I missed my graduation. I had taken my second trip to visit my sister. One trip was by Greyhound Bus, the other by train. At that time traveling by train was common.

For some reason, I never seemed to miss Joe very much although we wrote to each other. Maybe even then I was not sure if he was the one I wanted to spend the rest of my life with. Being separated was probably good in that it caused me to do some thinking.

Jimmy had married and he and his wife, Clarice, lived with us. She was pregnant and they had the front bedroom and took their meals with us. She worked at the Telephone Co. and he was becoming well known as a good plasterer and contractor.

One night in January of 1939, a friend of mine called and asked if I would go out with she, her date and a boy whose girl friend had "stood him up." Why not, I thought, there was nothing much to do – read or listen to the radio. Few people had T.V.'s. In fact, I didn't know anyone who had one or air conditioning for that matter. This was how I met Adam.

It was cold and when they arrived and introductions were made we went for a ride. The car belonged to Adam's father. They lived on a farm below Perry. He had graduated in 1936 from Perry

High School. From the very beginning I knew he was different from anyone I had ever met. For one thing, I never knew anyone who wore white pants in the dead of winter but I learned in the years to come clothes never mattered much to him, much less color matching.

From this date on, I never saw Joe but once. He asked (by phone) for his cedar chest back; I called the furniture company and they came and picked it up. Someone told me he often came in the store where I worked and watch[ed] me but I never saw him.

On Valentine Day, Adam stood at the door with his hands behind his back. Then he gave me my Valentine gift – a bowl with gold fish in it. Sometime he would appear with a bag of oranges or grapefruit from a trucker hauling fruit from Florida and stopping for gas at their service station The Blue Diamond on U.S. 41 (the main highway before I-75 was built.)

Adam took me down to meet his family. He had four brothers and three sisters. They lived in a large two story house some distance from the service station. A peach orchard and a packing shed was on the opposite side of the house. They also farmed land near Plains, Ga., and during wheat planting and at harvest time Adam spent a great deal of time there. We wrote to each other every week and he came whenever he could get away. It was not unusual for him to pick me up at the store in a truck loaded with peanuts but I learned to expect the unusual.

And it was not long before Adam asked me to marry him. The night he gave me the engagement ring, Clarice was one of the first persons I told. She and Jimmy had already gone to bed, but I knocked on their door. She hugged me and wished us happiness. It was a few years later that she died of tuberculosis.

[Annie included a copy of her high school diploma from A.L. Miller High School – awarded on 31 Jan 1938 – and the names of other graduates for that year.]

Early Married Years

It never pays to say you won't do something for you usually end up doing just that. I had always said I would never marry before my twentieth birthday. I married the day before! Adam had to be back in Plains, Ga., where he was planting wheat on Monday and I had to be back at my job on Monday, too. Later on the date became a problem – our anniversary on the 3rd of Dec., and my birthday on the 4th. Adam always got them mixed up.

For my wedding dress I bought a pale green dress at a downtown dress shop. There was no thought of a formal wedding or white gown. In fact, Adam borrowed twenty-five dollars for expenses. With a couple of friends and his sister, we went to Ft. Valley to the minister of the Baptist Church, M.D. Reed, and knocked on his door, explaining that we wanted to get married. He performed our wedding in his living room, our friends, Adam's sister and the minister's wife as witnesses. Adam paid him five dollars after signing the license. Many times I've wished I had let him know the two young people he married that day stayed together and kept their vows.

From there all of us went back to the homeplace (later known as "The Big House") for a meal with all of the family. Our honeymoon night was spent at the Central Hotel in Macon. An embarrassing moment came when the bell hop picked up our suitcase with only my gown and toilet articles in it. It was so light he almost jerked it over his head. There went another five dollars for the night's stay at the hotel. Next morning we ate breakfast with my folks.

We went back to Perry, had lunch with his folks, then Adam saw me on the bus to return to Macon; he left then to go back to Plains. He came each weekend until just before Christmas, then I left my job to be with him.

Christmas was always a big thing with his family with a large tree cut down from the woods and decorated with lights and decorations brought with them when they moved to Georgia from the North. Gifts were not expensive ones but things the family members needed.

Adam and I lived in Plains, Ga., with his brother Louie and wife Helen in an old farm house. Helen sort of took me under her wing and taught me many things about farm life – the one I remember most was how to cut up a chicken for frying.

When we came back to Perry, we had a small bedroom upstairs. On the same floor were: his two sisters Margaret and Elsie whose bedroom at one end of the hall had a private bath. Across the hall from them was a bedroom for Louie & Helen. Next to them, a large bedroom for his two brothers Henry and Calvin and a hired young man named Tom (a large bath room separated Louie & Helen from them) across the hall was the room Adam and I had. Then at the end of the hall Mom and Pop had their bedroom with a private bath. Downstairs were the kitchen, pantry, a bathroom, dining room, office, large hall, living room and "fun parlor." My sole possessions were a vanity with a stool and a cedar chest I bought after I returned the one Joe had given me. We had a metal bed and a small closet to hang our clothes.

During the winter of 1940 Adam had pneumonia. Doctors made house calls then, and Dr. Evans came out to see him. He had chills and fever and I was so scared, not knowing what to do. Mom made onion soup for him, something I had never heard of (I was to learn many new dishes in the following years that were traditional to the family.

Mama and daddy had moved into an apartment in a public housing project. It was new and they had many conveniences they never had before. By now World War II had started. During that winter Adam got a job where Robins Air Base was being built. He worked on building one of the huge hangers and ran a temperature [?]. He was doing this to buy windows and doors for a house he wanted to build for us. There was a saw mill on the farm and he had already cut timber for the framing, as well as picking out a place to build.

When he had to quit the job at Robins and come back to the farm, his spare time was spent in clearing the area for the house. That's when he got a very bad case of poison ivy. It was hard, tough going, keeping up with the farming and trying to get a place built for us. All of the boys in the family as well as Pop worked on the farm. They grew cotton, peanuts, wheat and oats and had some cattle and hogs. It was hard work and long hours. During times of cultivating, some would work on through the night with lights on the tractors.

In January of 1941 we moved into the house. There was no plumbing, no wiring, no water, no well, only subflooring; the porch had no flooring at all, sheetrock was on the walls but nothing was painted. How did we manage? For water Adam hauled water to fill a 50 gal. barrel he had put on a table he built for it. There was a faucet near the bottom. I brought the water in the house in a bucket. He built an outhouse in the back and at night we used an old fashion chamber pot. I would never take it to the outhouse when an airplane was flying overhead. (This was before jumbo jets.) Later on, R.E.A. Rural Electric came by and he dug a well – in fact three weeks before we got good water. We used lamps for light – a small pot-bellied stove set up in the kitchen for heat. Ironing was done by heating two flat irons on top of the heater. My washing machine was an iron pot in the back yard – a clothesline for drying. Many things were hard to buy or find due to the war. So many items were being rationed such as sugar, shortening, soap, gas, tires and shoes, among others. At first we didn't need a refrigerator because it was so cold – only a box near the back door, but we found a small one that had a lid that raised from the top. Mama and daddy gave us a kerosene stove that had an oven on the top. Several apple boxes stacked together with a curtain in the front were our "chest of drawers," and a similar stack of boxes became a dish cabinet. A wide long board served as a cabinet top where my dishpan served as a sink.

Did we complain? We were just so happy to be out to ourselves I don't think it ever crossed our mind. Our transportation was the farm pick up and we were married ten years before owning a car of our own. Louie and Helen moved in with us along with their baby girl Janet. They made a kitchen out of one room, the other was their bedroom. And Louie started working for a T.V. repair shop in Perry.

While visiting my folks in Macon the extras came out that Pearl Harbor was bombed by the Japanese Dec. 7, 1941. So much happened so fast. Adam's brother Henry left to join the Air Force and was sent to the Pacific. My two brothers also joined – Sidney to the Navy Sea Bees and Jimmy, the Marines – both were sent to the Pacific area.

This left only Adam, Pop and Calvin to keep the farm going and even Calvin served in the Occupational Forces later on. Food was so important that many farm boys stayed home to help run the farms. Adam had a hernia and was turned down but the tractors kept going day and often at night. "Victory gardens" were encouraged and canning and drying of food was so important.

In May of 1943 I was pregnant with Carol, our first child. We both had wanted children and we were excited about the news. When I was four months pregnant we went to Alto, Ga., in the N. Ga. Mountains to see Clarice who was in the hospital there. There was a rooming house nearby where we stayed four nights. The next morning while waiting for the bus to return home I fainted. Adam picked me up and carried me to the porch of the rooming house until I felt better. Many times I fainted after that but he was always there to help me.

Almost all the clothes for the baby I handmade, embroidering designs on the dresses and soques[?]. My doctor, Dr. Johnny Gallemore was a young man, just starting his practice in Perry. There was no hospital here and almost all women were having their babies at home. So many doctors were serving in military hospitals and overseas. When my labor started, he came out to check on me and went back to Perry. Later on he came back and delivered our baby girl Carol, born [Date deleted for privacy.] Helen's mother was the mid-wife and helped with the delivery. Later on, Dr. Gallemore opened a clinic in Perry and delivered hundreds of babies there. Our second child was born at his clinic.

Mama had been operated on for breast cancer and was having some rough times. It was so far advanced by the time she actually sought help that she had been given only a few years to live. As often as I could I went to help her. This was when she made the remark one day that she knew why God sent her a child late in life – "to help her when she needed it." Once when going up to stay a few days, we lost Carol's baby bed from the back of the pickup. It went rolling down the highway. No one was coming so we backed up to get it. Nothing was broken. Mama died Jan. 7, 1945.

Louie and Helen were still living with us and their second girl Joyce was born at the house too. Louie had started working at Warner Robins Air base. Now we had three small children in the house. When Christmas time was nearing, Adam and Louie set up shop in our kitchen and started working on toys for the kids. They cut out patterns and made two roll-around-horses with wheels. I drew and painted the faces of the horses. They also made a table and 2 chairs (each one) and a set of pull-along ducks. So even though times were hard and money scarce, we felt the children had nice toys, well built.

The Rural Electric extended the power lines by our house in 1943. This was such a relief – to have electricity inside meant lights, radio, and water. We took a trip to visit my sister in Illinois and found a second hand wringer-type washing machine (Maytag). Her husband Henry and Adam carried it down three flights of steps to load on the pickup. On our way home, we were approached several times by people asking to buy it. All appliances were scarce due to companies changing over to producing material for the war. But what a change that machine made for me. Adam set it up on our back porch and I had two rinse tubs. Glory! running water and a washing machine. Then, to be able to listen to "Fibber McGee and Molly" and "Amos and Andy." How much better could it get?

In August of 1945 I was pregnant again. Soon afterwards I started hemorrhaging and Adam took me to Dr. Gallemore who by this time had his new clinic in downtown Perry. He gave me a shot and told me to stay in bed for awhile. Everything turned out o.k. and during the night of [Date deleted for privacy.] my pains started. Early next morning, thinking he had plenty of time, Adam made coffee. But, he barely made it to the clinic. Just a few hours later [date deleted] Richard was born. He was a beautiful baby and weighed over 9 pounds.

Sometime after this Louie and Helen moved into a house they bought in Perry. They were so glad to have a home of their own and we welcomed the extra space with our two children.

Adam continued to work on the house as time and materials allowed him. It was not easy but he kept at it. The children grew and as I didn't work outside the home had plenty of time to spend with them. Daddy lived off and on with us but remarried and moved to Tifton, Ga. We had a garden and I canned lots of food. The yard began to take shape. It had been woods all around us (I've often wished we had kept more trees but the trend then was a clear yard with grass.)

Soon it was time for Carol to start school. The old treadle machine was really busy making school clothes although I had been making most of the clothes for both of the children. Richard loved to sit on my lap as I sewed. (He always liked anything that was a machine and an old clock was his favorite toy. He could take my food chopper apart and put it back together.) One day while sewing, he stuck his finger out and before I had time to stop the machine, the needle had gone through. He had to be taken for a tetanus shot but was o.k.

In 1950 we bought our first car, a new 1950 Pontiac. Of course it meant payments but it meant so much to us, I always said when we got a car I would start to church and I did. Adam took the children and I to Perry Baptist and would come back for us. He must have thought that was a bit too much so started staying too. I joined and later Adam and both children joined and were baptized. Adam taught me to drive and I got my license. Not long after we started church, I volunteered to teach Sunday School in the Children's department where I taught for seventeen years. Living on the farm gave me many opportunities to have the children out for hikes and fish in the fish pond.

Richard started to school and now came some busy times as they became involved in school and church activities – R.A.'s, G.A.'s, Cub Scouts, Brownies, 4-H Clubs and F.F.A. I was a Den mother and R.A. leader. The years were busy ones with camps, competitions, school parties and activities. We did have some vacations although not extravagant ones. Several [were] trips to Panama City with deep sea fishing and a long trip to Key West. Motels were six to eight dollars a night and we always took a cooler with food. A trip of several days could cost as little as fifty dollars. Of course this was at a time when wages were low too.

The war was over, my daddy died and Adam's father was killed in an auto accident while driving to Michigan on vacation in 1951. Calvin and Frankie had just married and were with them. Mom (Adam's mother) was a long time recovering from her injuries. Henry, Calvin and Adam bought the farm from her sometime afterwards and started in the dairy business. Carol graduated in 1962 and married in Oct. of that year. Richard graduated in 1965 and went to a diesel school in Nashville, Tn. After finishing school he joined the Air Force and was stationed in Minot, N. Dakota. While in the service he and Patricia married in 1969.

[Annie preserved in the memoir a copy of her marriage license showing she and Adam married 3 Dec 1939 and a copy of the newspaper marriage announcement. Many photographs of her married life with Adam and their children are with the memoir as well as a copy of the Flint Electric Membership deposit from 29 Jun 1943 where Adam paid $5.00.]

Jimmie Inez Moore,

GILLESPIE

Searching for information on John Gillespie, b. ca 1760 in NC. Left Buncombe Co., then Macon Co., went to Union Co, GA in 1838. Had sons James, Moses and daughters Mary, Elizabeth and Nancy (m. Duncans and moved away). His son Francis Gillespie, my ancestor, stayed on land in NC adjunct to the land sold by John Gillespie. Some difficulties in documenting this family are due to loose of records in courthouse fire. Would appreciate any information related to these families. Gillespie is my grandmother's line.

PARR – STEPHENTON – FERRELL - HEALY

Searching for information on a Parr family in Georgia (possibly from Tennessee) in the mid 1800s. This family was in Greene Co., GA in 1859 (tax digest), probably working in the Scull Shoals cotton mill. In 1859, the mother, Lucinda Parr, died of typhoid fever in Greene Co. (1860 Mortality census of Greene Co.) The children then moved to Hancock Co. GA (1862 tax digest) and at least 2 of them later moved to Muscogee Co. GA. Possible children for this family include: Winnie (b. ca. 1832), Eliza (b. ca 1835), James (b. ca 1836), Frances (b. Mar. 1843) and Zachariah (b. 1847). Frances md. David Stephenton and remained in Hancock Co. Zachariah Parr lived in Russell Co. AL, then Macon Co., AL. Eliza (md. 1st Charles Ferrell, 2nd Wm. Healy) was in Elmore Co., AL in 1880. Winnie's fate after 1862 is unknown. This family is in nearly all instances working in or living near a cotton mill.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

- To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

- To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

- To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

- To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

- To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

- To issue publications, and;

- To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues for 2012 are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

C.G.G.S. QUARTERLY SURNAME INDEX VOL. 33 FOR THE YEAR 2011

COMPILED BY HELEN SHIRAH HUDSON

This surname index covers Quarterlies No. 1 through 4 for the year 2011. Pages 1-48 are in No. 1, pages 49-92 are in No. 2, pages 93-136 are in No. 3 with pages 137-199 in No. 4. Note that page numbers were not printed on No. 1 & 2 but they are easily added to your copy. Check the entire page listed for a surname, many times it will be listed more than one time. Look for all possible spellings of that surname and then run down the names starting with the same letter and any other that might sound close to it. A heavy accent may have made a name sound different. And no, you can not go by the "Our family has always spelled our last name-----", it probably was not true. The person involved may not have know how to write their name, many of these documents are signed with a mark. The recorder just spelled it the way it sounded or that he was familiar with. Many documents have surnames spelled different within the same document. Also keep in mind that these original documents are difficult to read. The name Patello is listed as Patello, Patillo, Pattelio, Pattilio, Pattilio and Petillio just to give you an example.

It was interesting to note that a free person of color was included in the records abstracted for the last year. A surname was not stated for him, only a first name so he appears in this listing under the "F" section for free person of color.

Not included in this listing are the surnames contained in the Mt. Olive/Moore Cemetery of Dooly County. Those surnames were listed in an alphabetical listing followed the survey.

Ancestors

To search for those, that I knew not
To find the ones, that time forgot
To walk the fields, their hands did plow
To kneel in silence, where heads did bow
To see the graves, where children died
To know somewhere, their mothers cried
To live in peace, their hearts did crave
To live in freedom, their lives they gave
To love the ones, that I knew not
To love the ones, that time forgot

GEORGE WASHINGTON SANGSTER CEMETERY

DOOLY COUNTY, GEORGIA Powell's cemetery #23

Surveyed By Davine Campbell & Helen Hudson November 2008

Information from the Powell's survey states that this is located on the old Sangster place. It is just down the road from Smyrna Baptist Church. From either Hwy 27 or Tippettville Rd. you will turn off on Noble Ginn Rd. Smyrma Church Road turnoff is on the East side of Noble Ginn Rd. and the Sangster cemetery is on the West side of the road. It is located at the edge of a farm field, close to the fence line. There were only five graves showing in this cemetery when we surveyed it. The Powell's only list Wash & Juliann Sangster in their survey. There is what appears to be an old house site a short distance away on the same side of the road.

Sharing a rather elaborate white marble double marker

Wash Sangster died Feb. 26, 1895, 80 years old

Juliann Sangster died April 8, 1904, 70 years old [nee Sorrells, listed as Sorrows in daughter Mary Jane Wimberly's death certificate] they married in Houston County, GA, July 26, 1848 per GA marriage records on Ancestry.

Row 2

M.J. Wimberly Oct. 9, 1853 - Feb. 17, 1927 [Mary Jane Sangster Wimberly, mar. to John Wimberly, death certificate in the GA Virtual Vault with information given by her brother Joseph Nathaniel Sangster, cemetery listed as "Near Vienna, Sangster Cemetery".]

Maty Bridges Jan. 30, 1839 - Jan 25, 1919

On the north side or the right side of the picture is a slab with no legible name but the dates 1849 - 1922 hand written into the cement.

These two slabs are separated by a space big enough to contain five to six additional graves.

Apparent children of George Washington Sangster and Juliann Sorrells in addition to Mary Jane Sangster Wimberly are: Robert T. Sangster b ca 1850, Ellen Sangster b ca 1858, John J. Sangster b ca 1860, George Sangter b ca 1863, William Sangster b ca 1864, Joseph Nathaniel Sangster b ca 1867 d 1938, Peter A. Sangster b ca 1876. In the 1850 Census there is a James A. Sangster, white male, aged 7. He could have been a son of "Wash" Sangster by a prior marriage but I have not been able to find any record of one.

I can find no other information on the last two burials. Maty Bridges does not appear in the Georgia Virtual Vault under that name or any spelling that would be close. Without other information I have not been able to pin down a name for the other burial. Any additional information on this small cemetery would be greatly appreciated. Helen S. This Bible was owned by Louisa Caroline Marion King, second wife of John R. King. She was the daughter of Francis and Harriet Marion. Her husband, John Ragin King, was one of Houston County's wealthiest planters before the Civil War. They moved to Houston County in 1851 from Sumter District, South Carolina, at a time when many were discovering the fertile farm lands of the young country. The King family plantation, which eventually became the property of U. S. Senator Sam Nunn, Jr., consisted of 1400 acres. John R. King built his home in the 1850s on Main Street in Perry. The one-story home was built high off the ground, a custom often followed during that period. The house was sold in 1866 to H. L. Dennard. Many years later the Perry Club Council, Inc. bought this house and moved it to Frank Satterfield Road to become Ochlahatchee Club House. John R. King also built King's Chapel CME Church located on King's Chapel Road for his slaves and then gave it to them after the Civil War.

New Georgia Pioneer John Pinkerton Recognized

Congratulations to Taylor Moulton who was recently awarded a Georgia Pioneer certificate on his ancestor John Pinkerton. Mr. Moulton provided the following information about his ancestor:

"My fifth great grandfather, John Pinkerton, was born about 1750 in North Carolina, the son of David Pinkerton and Mary Glass of Orange County, North Carolina. Settling in Washington County, GA with his wife Jane, they raised their family before John was killed in 1787 at the age of 37 by Native Americans along Buffalo Creek in the aforementioned county. One of John and Jane's sons, James, was a settler of the Rockville community in Putnam County along with his wife Elizabeth Jane "Betsy" Dupree, daughter of Cordall Dupree and Cherry Dortch. James, a veteran of the War of 1812, raised a family of six including four sons who donned the grey during the War Between the States, two of which, Joseph and William Griffin, both of Company F 44th GA Inf. Reg. gave the ultimate sacrifice. The remaining two sons, James Alexander "Nug", from whom I descend, and Henry Reid, came home to Rockville to their farms and families and lived out their lives. It is through John Pinkerton that all of the Pinkerton lines of Middle Georgia were formed, and I am proud to call him my ancestor and to preserve his memory and legacy."

The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

QUARTERLY STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Nelson & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

Email: [redacted]

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

To Be Continued in a future issue of the CGGSQ

This article is a continuation of a series begun in the CGGSQ Vol. 32, No. 2. Sandra abstracted the entries from a copy of the tax digest at the old Houston County jail in Perry which the county is using for storage of some courthouse records. According to the clerk the 1831 is the earliest tax digest held by the county. The location or existence of earlier tax records is unknown. Houston County was formed in 1821. The names within each captain's district have been alphabetized to aid the researcher.

Tax records can help to determine a person's age and ownership of land and slaves. Free white males between the ages of 21 and 60 were required to pay poll tax. Those over age 60 were exempt after 1825. In these abstracted tax lists under the column for Poll a "O" or a blank signifies the person is over the age requirement for paying the poll tax but would have been required to pay taxes on land or other taxable possessions. The amount of tax varied with the quality of land owned. Thus, 1st quality land was taxed heavier than 2nd, 3rd or pine lands.

PINE HILL BAPTIST CHURCH CEMETERY

(Also known as HORNE CEMETERY)

Surveyed February 2007 by Davine V. Campbell, Helen S. Hudson & Janet W. Stone

Traveling South on Hwy 41 out of Unadilla, turn right on the first paved road past the truck stop. This road goes in front of the UPS Warehouse, at the dead end, turn left on dirt road, go about ½ miles and Cemetery is in a wooded area that is surrounded by a field that is presently being used to grow cotton.

We started recording on the south side of the cemetery and moved through it as we could.

We have an obituary for but not a marked grave:
MRS. GEORGE R. [Naomi Kemp] HORNE died May 1888

There are 11 graves (counting the possible marked by rock) that we found in this abandoned cemetery once known as PINE HILL BAPTIST CHURCH CEMETERY – Also referred to as HORNE CEMETERY.

Mercer University Special Collections Library in Macon, Ga. has no record of this Church. This does not mean that it never was a Church, it simply means that a representative of this church never sent them any records to be kept.

Dooly Co., Ga. Dated February 21, 1860 –
Andrew J. Summerford to the DEACONS OF HENDERSON CHURCH for $5, four acres land in the tenth District to Erect a Church to be known as PINE HILL. Recorded May 14, 1860. Other history on this Church.

On July 13, 1891, a meeting of 38 people of the Baptist Faith was held at the Pinehurst Academy for the purpose of organization. J.R. Horne, Jr., B.M. Barfield and John Y. Netherton were present. They had been former members and officials at Pine Hill Baptist during the years of 1883-1883. J.R. Horne, was pastor of this church. When It disbanded they joined and became officials of Snow Springs Baptist Church organized in 1884, and disbanded in 1891 with 23 charter members and land deeded to J.R. Horne, as trustee by John and G.W. Fullington. This group then became part of the Pinehurst Baptist Church.

Obituary in Hawkinsville Dispatch of May 31, 1888
MRS. GEORGE R. [Naomi Kemp] HORNE

Mrs. Naomi Horne, wife of Mr. George R. Horne, died at her home near PINE HILL, in the 3rd Dist. Of Dooly County, on Saturday last, May 26th. Mrs. Horne was a daughter of MARCUS KEMP, who died eight years ago. The remains were buried at PINE HILL on Sunday last, the ceremony at the grave being performed by Rev. R. Bullington.

Hawkinsville Dispatch of Thursday, April 11, 1872.
REV. JESSE R. HORNE

DEATH OF REV. JESSE HORNE; We regret to announce the death of this old and honored Christian gentleman, which event transpired at his home in Dooly County, on Friday night last, after a few days prostration from paralysis. He was stricken in the early part of the week, and remained speechless til his death. Mr. Horne, so we learn from his brother, Gen. O. C. Horne, was born in Halifax, North Carolina, and emigrated to this country in the early part of his life. He was about sixty seven years of age, had been a citizen of this section upward of forty years, and for a period of twenty years or more, had been a minister in the Missionary Baptist Church. For fourteen years he served Antioch Church, in this county, and was loved and esteemed by his whole congregation. Several years ago, Rev. Mr. Horne represented Dooly County in the Legislature. He was the father-in-law of our fellow townsman, Mr. J. S. Willis. His remains were interred in the CEMETERY AT PINE HILL CHURCH, Dooly County, on Monday morning.

MRS. JESSE R. [Margaretta A. Rentz] HORNE

HORNE - Died at Unadilla, Ga., Mrs. M. E. Horne, the 14th of May [1892] Aged 70 years. She was married to Rev. J. R. Horne, a pioneer Baptist Pastor. She was truly his help-meet, she was patient, pious, kind-hearted and consecrated to her Masters cause, never tired when good could be done. She died a consistent member of Unadilla Baptist Church and is greatly missed by Church and Missionary Society, she leaves many relatives and friends to mourn her absence. She was willing to go and died happy. Pastor

SEGO - BROWN CEMETERY

Surveyed August 2007 by Davine Campbell & Helen Hudson

Listed as Cemetery # 81 in Watts & Nora Powell's Vol. II Historical and Genealogical Collections of Dooly County, Georgia. Only four Sego burials were recorded by them.

This cemetery is not visible from the road. A kind gentleman living close by gave us directions to this and another "hidden" cemetery in the area.

From I-75, Vienna Hwy 215 Exit, turn East. Immediately past the truck stop/McDonalds turn right onto Cason/Shiloh Road. Parham Road is the second road to the left. There was a dirt drive when we were there just before Parham Road crosses Lambtown Road.

Mr. Gilmore lived in a house on the left before reaching the fenced cemetery but he did not own that land. We talked with him and his WATCH DOG. I would not advise trying to visit this cemetery without checking with Mr. Gilmore, the dog was not friendly.

Some of the Death Certificates are on line at the Georgia Virtual Vault and will be indicated by [DC-GVV]. Some dates may have been obtained from research of other records.

We will begin on the East side which has a single gate opening. Mr. Gilmore told us that when you enter the gate, there are many unmarked graves, no slabs, no indication of graves, just that he has been told. We were also told by the gentleman who pointed us in the right direction to find this cemetery that some graves had been moved to Shiloh United Methodist Church nearby.

Pulaski County was created in December 1808 from Laurens Co. which had been formed a year earlier in December 1807 from Wilkinson County. Since 1808 Pulaski's borders have shifted as a result of the following changes: in 1826 the upper part of Dooly County was added to Pulaski; in 1828 a portion of Houston County was added to Pulaski; in 1857 part of Pulaski was cut away to form Wilcox County; in 1870 a large portion of Pulaski became Dodge County and in 1912 the eastern half of Pulaski became Bleckley County. In 1810 the town of Hartford in Pulaski was established as the location for the county's public buildings.

This article is a continuation of a series by Rudy Dennis which ran in the CGGSQ several years ago. Those installments were later collected and printed as Pulaski County Deed Books A, B, C & D: 7 November 1807 – 30 May 1816. (See the CGGS order form in the back of this issue to purchase) The most recent installment of deed abstractions from Deed Book E is in Vol. 33 No. 2 of the CGGSQ.

The deeds in this article were abstracted from microfilm no. 4499 at Washington Memorial Library, "Pulaski Co. Superior Court Deeds and Mortgages Book E, 1811 – 1818". All of the deeds in this installment were recorded in the deed book by Pulaski County clerk; Edward Smith with the exception of those recorded beginning on 7 February 1818 when G. B. Gardner is listed as the clerk. The spelling of names has been retained as in the original record. All locations are Georgia unless stated otherwise.

Historical maps showing land districts in Pulaski and surrounding counties can be found on Galileo in the Historical Atlas of Georgia Counties webpage at http://georgiainfo.galileo.usg.edu/histcountymaps/index.htm. The 1839 map from David Burr's The American Atlas, which is one of those in the Historical Atlas, shows the districts well. The Virtual Vault on the Georgia Archives website also has district plats of survey maps which can be helpful in land research.

Black Marriages of Houston County, GA, BOOK 1

Continued

Transcribed by Helen S. Hudson

Located in the office of the Probate Court of Houston County, GA. These records have not been microfilmed. Please note that a researcher familiar with the record books states that not all of these marriages are from the black community but some are marriages for white couples. If you are looking for a "missing" marriage for a white couple, it might be a good idea to check these books. They were probably mixed up as they were waiting to be recorded.

Please keep in mind that many people did not know how to read or write during this time frame. I do not trust the year dates at the beginning of the year. Think how long it takes to adjust to the new year. Some Ministers seem to have brought groups of marriage certificates in to be recorded, probably waited until they were coming to town.

Wilkinson County, Georgia
Business and Planters of 1883

Contributed by Sherrie Nelson

The following information was abstracted from the Georgia State Gazetteer, Business & Planter's Directory, 1883, Vol. III.[1] Spelling and punctuation was retained as it was printed in the Directory. All the communities that could be identified for Wilkinson County are included here. Farmers in the various communities are listed. "P.M." signifies Post Master. The "express" service referred to was for expedited shipping of goods and parcels (perhaps similar to the use today of UPS and FedEx). There is a lengthy list of businesses by trade at the back of this Directory; none of that information is included in this article.

Wilkinson County – County seat, Irwinton.
Population, white, 6,550; colored, 5,511; acres of improved land, 109,696;; value of farms, $928,537; value of farm products, $638,679. Finances managed by Board of Commissioners.

PARKS

Seeking the parents of Virgil A. S. Parks. Virgil was born in the middle Georgia area. His family moved to Texas when he was a small child and both his parents died there. He returned to Georgia and graduated from the University of Georgia law school in 1861. He later moved to Bainbridge, GA. He was killed at Gettysburg, July 2, 1863.

MCKENZIE

Would appreciate any information on John M. McKenzie, b. 7 Mar 1780 in NC, d. 19 Sept. 1851 in Wilkes Co., GA. He md. 20 Feb. 1804 to Millie Flake in Warren Co., GA. Millie was b. 1 Apr 1787 in Warren Co., GA and d. 27 Aug 1859 in Macon, Bibb Co., GA. Seeking information on John's parents, siblings and children.

Also researching Aaron McKenzie, b. ca. 1760 possibly in NC and d. ca. 1840 possibly in Hancock Co., GA. Aaron is believed to have been married to Nancy Howell. Would appreciate any information on Aaron's parents, siblings and children.

Seeking information on the Aaron McKenzie of Hancock Co. GA who d. ca. 1797 and named wife Jemima in his will.

ETHERIDGE – HARDY – WHITTINGTON

Dave F. Etheridge was b. April 1886 (per 1900 census) and was the s/o William (Will) and Bettie Etheridge. The family seems to have always lived in Houston County, Georgia, in the area of present day Centerville. Dave Etheridge md. January 1916 Bertha Hardy January 1916, d/o Joseph Lee (Joe) Hardy and Arminda E. Whittington. Dave & Bertha may have had a daughter named Dorothy who died April 21, 1918 and was buried in the Centerville/Hattie Cemetery. Bertha d. June 13, 1917 and may also be buried in that cemetery. Dave remarried prior to 1920 census to Elizabeth (surname unknown). Elizabeth was born ca 1897 (per 1920 census). This couple also had a child who d. 3 Nov 1921 and may have been buried in the Centerville/Hattie cemetery. I have not been able to locate death records or marked graves for any of these people. Most of the death dates are not confirmed but are from online postings. Information on the location of these graves and the dates of birth would be greatly appreciated. Arminda E.

Whittington married Joseph Lee (Joe) Hardy ca 1899. About 1915 they were living in the Fort Valley area with their unmarried children. Arminda died after a lingering illness. The family was in Barrien Co., GA for the 1910 Census but was back in Houston County by 1914 as Joe and Arminda signed over parental rights to Vasthi Industrial School on August 22, 1914. Eva, the youngest daughter was placed in Vashti on September 1, 1915 at age 13. The records indicate Eva was 11 years old on November 22, 1913. We are seeking the burial site of Arminda. She is probably buried in an unmarked grave and probably died shortly after Eva went to Vashti (1915-1916). Joseph Hardy usually appears as a farmer on the census, possibly a sharecropper. Any information on this family would be welcomed.

RICE - ROGERS - ALDRIDGE/ALDRICH – HILL

Sybil Eugenia Rice d/o David P. Rice and Louisa (Lula) Catherine(Cassie) Aldridge/Aldrich and her brother George D. Rice were living with their father's parents after his death in service of the Confederate Army. Louisa Catherine remarried to Ichobod (Ike/Bud) B. Hill and had other children but her Rice children continued to live with their Rice grandparents. Sybil was born August 07, 1858, and died sometime after information was gathered for a book on the Paxton family. It states that she was living in Greenville, Alabama ca 1910. A listing for the DAR was printed in 1919 with her information included but information for her on line states that she went inactive Feb. 1, 1911. Possibly because she was no longer living in Georgia and just let her membership lapse. I found George D. Rice, b. in GA of the right age living in Bibb County, Alabama in 1900 with a wife and children.

Their Rice grandparents, George Duffield Rice and Anna Eliza Rogers d. in Georgia, George in 1878 in Gainesville, Hall County, GA and Anna in 1892, probably also in Gainesville, Hall County, GA. They are buried in the Alta Vista Cemetery, Gainesville, Hall County GA.

Any information on these two Rice children who are the children of my 2nd Gr Grandmother would be appreciated.

JONES

Seeking information on Evan Jones b. 1793 in Georgia. He lived in the Rutland District of Bibb Co. in 1850. Wife Martha James Jones was b. 1814 in Georgia. Their children include David b. 1837, William b. ca. 1840, Joshua b. 1844, Sallie b. 1842 and Floyd b. 1846. I have complete records on David and Joshua and military service records only on Floyd, Company D, 10th Batt'n Georgia Inf. This family seems to have vanished between 1850 and 1860. Sallie may have married a Herrington but cannot verify. Floyd is listed in the 1860 census as living with a Booth family. In 1850 William is living with the Isaac James family, who I believe is Martha James Jones' brother. Any help with this family would be greatly appreciated.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Nelson & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Black Marriages of Houston County, GA, BOOK I

Transcribed by Helen S. Hudson

Located in the office of the Probate Court of Houston County, GA. In proofing these abstracts, I really looked at the book spine and discovered that it is Book I not Book 1. Hopefully at a later date, Book 1 can be worked on but will continue with what we had started. Sorry.

FOREHAND CEMETERY
#43 in the POWELL BOOKS

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson August 2006

This small family cemetery is located about five miles North East of Lilly. From Lilly, take Lilly Road North, continuing to follow Lilly Rd. North, you will cross Pinehurst-Byromville Rd. The cemetery is right before Kent Smith Rd. An alternate would be to take 90 South through Byromville, turn East onto the Pinehurst-Byromville, Rd. until you get to the Lilly-Thompson Rd. crossing. Turn North. GPS Coordinates: Latitude: 32.19110, Longitude: -83.84830. It is surrounded by a chain link fence and visible from the road.

FOREHAND - SENTELL CEMETERY

Listed as Cemetery No. 40 in Powell Book.

Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson & Davine V. Campbell

This cemetery is the Forehand Cemetery per the sign on the fence but listed as the Sentell Cemetery in the Watts Powell book. Located on Forehand Cemetery Road [New Map] just off of Mt. Vernon Road. Mt. Vernon Rd., East side of Hwy 90 is dirt, it is just South of Lilly, Ga. It is a still active, nice cemetery, well kept, chain link fenced, mowed, with a sign on the fence reading FOREHAND CEMETERY – Est. 1856.

The first # in the grave listing is the row and the second is a cumulative number of the grave (Example: 6-92 means row 6 and the 92nd grave that we had listed in this cemetery).

We started our survey on the road side of the cemetery, left hand side.

Note that Varnadoe is also spelled Varnedow on some of the markers and one group of Swearingens are spelled. Swearington.

FHM is a Funeral Home Marker, usually metal.

The Search for the Grave of Mathias McCormick

By Morry Raines

Mathias McCormick was a prominent Georgia planter and Captain of the riverboat "The Pioneer" for nearly three decades prior to the Civil War. Recently, two of his descendants and their spouses, Bill and Suzi Bolton and Morry and Jane Raines, set out to locate Mathias's burial place. After an extended trek through the Georgia countryside and encounters reminiscent of the movie Deliverance, Mathias's grave was found. The property on which the grave is situated straddles the Houston/Pulaski County line and is their ancestor's old plantation site. It is just off of Hwy. 247, north of Hawkinsville near Dr. Rawl's Road. The thrill of the hunt and the joy of discovery described here by Morry Raines can be appreciated by all genealogists.

Bill and Suzi Bolton were heading home to Huntsville, Alabama after a wonderful Bahamas cruise. Aside from a few glitches during their stay in Orlando, only one thing remained to make their jaunt from home practically perfect. Their trip up I-75 from Florida would take them through Perry, Georgia to visit my wife, Jane and I. Jane and Bill are distant cousins. Their common ancestor, Mathias McCormick, had been the subject of a multiyear search by Bill and his extended family—cousins by the dozens, exponentially removed and otherwise— for the grave of their ancestor Mathias McCormick. When Bill contacted Jane and I by phone about the possibility of getting together, we were thrilled both to meet them and to join forces to hunt for Mathias.

Bill and Suzi arrived at our home around 10:30 Saturday morning, and after making introductions all around, we quickly got down to business. We compared notes, pulled up and perused Google maps and determined our best chance at finding the grave would be to head north out of Hawkinsville and then up GA Hwy 247/U.S. 129 in search of Dr. Rawl's Road. According to the map, a 90 degree turn along Dr. Rawl's Rd. heading south toward Buck Creek Rd. was as near as we could navigate by car to Mathias' old plantation site. (Bill had identified the location of the plantation earlier on a visit to the Houston Co. Courthouse.)

Our trip to Hawkinsville was necessary on several counts. First, we wanted to show Bill and Suzi the David Gray McCormick house on McCormick Ave. now occupied by the Lawson family. Other sites of interest were Jane's grandmother's home on Merritt St. and our old place on Lumpkin Street. Bill and I rang the doorbell at the David Gray McCormick house but to no avail. Bill took photos, including one of a smaller structure to the rear of the McCormick house which may have been the home of Mathias' valet, Indian Sam. In 1874 after the death of Mathias, David Gray McCormick built the small house for Sam. Additionally, Hawkinsville was having a BBQ cook-off that day, so we took advantage of the good food. Finally, we headed for Orange Hill Cemetery where Bill and Suzi showed us some McCormick graves we were unaware of, and we, likewise, showed them the location of David Gray McCormick and his wife Emmeline Pollock's plot. Several of their children are buried there, and there are two unmarked graves nearby. We speculated that Indian Sam might occupy one of the unmarked graves.

We left Hawkinsville, heading north on Hwy. 247 towards Perry and Warner Robins. After a few miles, just before arriving at Dr. Rawl's Road, we pulled into an area on our left containing a tired, old, broken down clapboard home surrounded by tired, broken down, rusty vehicles and machinery. Junk was scattered everywhere. Amazingly, the house had a satellite dish out back and through a hole in the side of the house where a window or door had been, we saw what appeared to be a computer. There was also a trailer and a Winnebago on the property. Bill and I left the car to determine if we could find anyone...or get shot for trespassing. No dice on both counts—we returned to the car and left, much to the relief of our wives.

Finally, we found Dr. Rawl's Road. Our nerves were taut and tingling as we bumped down the dusty, red dirt road. There was junk in the ditches on either side of us...an old toaster, tattered clothing, a big blue teddy bear. All of a sudden, whoosh!—a pickup truck blew by, leaving us in a cloud of dust. We watched the truck zoom out of sight. After a minute or two, I spied the pickup truck pulled up at a gate directly at the turn in the road we were searching for. This was no time to hesitate, so I asked Bill to pull over and I rolled down my window.

The guy was wearing a disheveled shirt, dingy pants and a ball cap. He didn't look too menacing, so I began to deliver the details of our quest—as clearly and concisely as possible. He hesitated, then admitted to there being a deer stand nearby that he and his hunting buddies called, "the grave deer stand". BINGO! I plunged on, realizing we were on the verge of something big. Finally, the man agreed to take us to the site. He got back in his truck and rambled forward, with our car in hot pursuit. A tenth of a mile and a few tense moments later, we watched as our guide talked to a man and woman decked out in camouflage. They eyed us with suspicion, but we got the green light. Woo-hoo! Onward!

A couple of turns, bumps and a few minutes later, our tour guide came to a stop and then crawled out of his truck. We followed suit—me first, then Bill, Jane and finally Suzi. I felt as though I was dreaming, and I know the rest of the gang did too. The fellow was pointing at something a little ways off to our left. It was gray, standing forlornly in the shadows among a stand of young oak trees, surrounded by brush and briars. Eureka! We'd found it!

The tombstone was actually that of Mathias' son, Matthew Madison McCormick, (1844 – 1871). Madison was a Confederate lieutenant veteran of Co. K, 49th GA Infantry. He is listed in the 1870 Pulaski Co. census as a preacher, living in close proximity to his parents. Oddly, the 1870 census gives his name as Mathis (Mathias?) McCormick. There are depressions in the ground near Matthew's grave which, most likely, are the graves of Mathias and his wife Mary. It is tantalizing to think their gravestones are lying just beneath a thin layer of dirt and leaves. Because their obituaries specify that Mathias and wife Mary were buried on the old plantation, we feel confident that they lie beneath the shallow depressions near the tombstone of their son Madison.

Before leaving, we made proper introductions and exchanged names with our local guides. We learned that they and their fellow hunters had been tending the cemetery for some time and had righted Matthew Madison McCormick's stone on several occasions. We showed them photos of the old McCormick home place, and of Mathias, Mary and Sam. One of the local residents told us about a sturdy old cabin that once stood on the property. We suspect that may have been the home of Indian Sam. An alleged "controlled burn" destroyed the place a few years ago. Another of our guides said she had often puzzled over the "quotation" on the stone that, in our initial excitement, we'd failed to notice.

Arriving back home, we set out to solve the riddle of the "quotation". After some amusing conjecture on our parts, we nailed it: Rev. 14: 13, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Viola, some icing to slather on our cake! Later we capped the evening off with dinner at a little place in Perry called Rusty's. It was a perfect ending to an unforgettable day.

MELANCTON B. JOHNSON'S GRAVE:
The Corrected Story
by A. Stephen Johnson

The article "Melancton B. Johnson's Grave" first appeared in the column "Round The Circle" by Eugene Anderson, in The Macon Telegraph on May 19, 1939. Apparently Mr. Anderson had mentioned the grave in an earlier column, and asked if anyone knew any further details.

My grandfather, Rev. William Stephen Johnson, contacted Mr. Anderson, stating that it was his grandfather's grave, and gave all the information presented in the article. Since that time, the article has been reprinted in two county histories (those of Twiggs and Wilcox Counties) and possibly in other places. My research has found that many of the names and statements in the article are incorrect. My purpose here is to present the correct information before the 1939 article is repeated. This story is an excellent example of how oral history contains basic truths but many incorrect details, and should not be taken as fact without consulting original sources.

Here is the original article as it appeared in The Macon Telegraph, 19 May 1939:

MELANCTON B. JOHNSON'S GRAVE

The mystery about the so-called lone grave of Melancton B. Johnson on the John Glover place in Twiggs county near Jeffersonville has been cleared. Rev. W.S. Johnson, Methodist pastor at Ellavillle, read the story in the Circle, and he furnishes the solution. He is a descendant, and gives the names of other descendants. The occupant of the grave came to Georgia in search of health, and died at 22. He was the son of Matthias Johnson of Cambridge, New York. His younger brother, William Storey Johnson, was born in the meantime and became a Presbyterian preacher at Cambridge.

Arriving at Savannah, Melancton engaged passage on one of the cotton wagons bound for the hills of Twiggs county. He found a boarding place and settled down to take life easy. In Twiggs he married Henrietta Beddingfield. After that winter he returned with his wife to visit his people in New York, where their first child was born. It was named Melancton Brown. After the return to Twiggs county the senior Melancton died, and it is supposed he was buried in the cemetery of the Beddingfields. After more than a century the signs of the other graves are obliterated, leaving in the cemetery only the marble slab marking his grave. After his death another son was born, and was named William Storey Johnson. The two sons and their mother remained with her parents, Mr. Gideon Beddingfield and wife, Anna Ball Beddingfield.

The sons afterwards taught school in Twiggs and Wilkinson counties and studied medicine. The older attended college in Philadelphia, later locating in Dooly county, Georgia, where he met and married Miss Mary Frances Harvard, daughter of Stephen Harvard and Frances Adkins Harvard. He served the Confederate army as a physician and surgeon, and afterwards returned to Dooly county to spend the rest of his life as a physician. He and his wife reared nine children: Mrs. Elizabeth Davies, Mrs. Virgia Speight, Mrs. Clara Williams, Miss Margie Johnson, Mrs. Susie Fountain and John H. Johnson, all deceased; and Mrs. Blanche Holland and Harvard Johnson of Dooly county and W.S. Johnson of Ellavillle.

The second son, William S. Johnson, received his medical diploma at Nashville, Tennessee. After marrying Mrs. Penleope (sic) Oglesby of Jones county he practiced medicine in Pulaski county. He and his wife reared only one child, Mrs. Elizabeth Hendley of Pinehurst.

The Gideon Beddingfield, father of Mrs. Melancton B. Johnson Sr was the son of Major William Beddingfield of the Revolutionary war. A man by the name of Ward in Dooly county obtained Major William Beddingfield's sword and refused to part with it for love or money. Other children of Gideon Beddingfield were Mellissa, Jane and Harmon. Mellissa married William Barton of Twiggs county, and they settled near what is now Pineview in Wilcox county. Some of the descendants are now in that section. Harmon married Miss Martha Fuller of Wilkinson county, and before the War of the States they settled in Dooly, and some of their descendants now live there. Jane married Shem Lasseter of Twiggs, and in 1849 moved to Dooly, settling at Vienna, where Mr. Lasseter was for many years county ordinary, rearing four sons and four daughters: Zadoc, Gideon, Shem Jr., and Shelby; Mrs. Loam Brown, Mrs. Ira Brown, Mrs. James Swearingen, and Mrs. Myra Belle Angely. Their descendants are in Dooly, Crisp, Wilcox and elsewhere; and some of the family had been continual residents of Vienna since 1849. Shelby spent his whole life there, and some of his children are there now.

(End of article)

First, a word of explanation: There were two different individuals named Melancton Brown Johnson, and two different individuals named William Storey Johnson. In both cases the younger of the two was born after the death of the older one. I will use the terms Sr. And Jr to distinguish between them, even though these terms were not used during their lifetimes.

Here is a summary of the major errors in the article:

(1) The Melancton B. Johnson Sr in the "lone grave" was not my grandfather's grandfather, as he thought. This Melancton apparently died unmarried. His younger brother, William Storey Johnson Sr was my grandfather's real grandfather.

(2) The two brothers were the two oldest sons of Thias, not Matthias Johnson, of Cambridge, NY., and his wife Sarah S (maiden surname unknown) He is called Thias in every document containing his name, in church records, and on his gravestone. He had a younger son whose name was Matthias.

(3) The William Johnson who became a Presbyterian preacher was a half-brother of the above - named three brothers. He was the son of Thias by a second wife, Sarah McDougal, and was born in 1834. His name was William M. Johnson; the M is thought to stand either for Melancton or McDougal.

(4) Gideon Beddingfield's wife was not Anna Ball; her name was Henrietta Ball. She and Gideon were married in Warren County, GA on Oct. 8, 1808 or 1809 (for some reason the marriage was recorded in the county marriage book on two different dates exactly one year apart). She was probably the daughter of Isaac Ball and Jane Armstrong. Interestingly, she was a fortunate drawer of a land lot in Wilkinson County in the Land Lottery of 1807, which proves that she had to have been a "spinster over the age of 21" in 1806. The lot she drew may be the one she and Gideon moved to after their marriage.

(5) William Storey Johnson Sr married a daughter of Gideon Beddingfield, but I believe that her name was not Henrietta, since my grandfather was mistaken about her mother's name. Since the Twiggs county records were all destroyed in 1901, and there is no family Bible or other document containing her name, we have no way of knowing her real name. I believe she was probably named Elizabeth, since her two sons both named their oldest daughter Elizabeth.

(6) William S. Johnson Jr., who was born after his father's death, married Mrs. Penelope Wright Ogilvie, (not Oglesby) in Jones County, GA on 11 July 1854. She was a widow with four children, and had previously married William Ogilvie in Jones County on 3 February 1840.
(7) I have been unable to find any record of a Major William Beddingfield in the Revolutionary War, or even a soldier by that name, in either North Carolina or Georgia. He may have been an officer in the local militia. Gideon's father was most likely William Beddingfield Jr., who is named as executor of the will of his father, William Beddingfield Sr., who died in Wake County, NC in 1775. A William Beddingfield shows up in the Tax Digest of Jefferson County, GA, which was created in 1796 partly from Warren County. William Sr.'s wife, Susannah, apparently married a Henry Harp and moved with him and her youngest son Solomon Beddingfield to Warren County, where they are shown as co-executors of Henry Harp's 1805 will.
(8) The story of William Beddingfield's sword and the "man by the name of Ward" who obtained it cannot be authenticated. It should be considered no more than oral tradition.
(9) Family tradition says that William Story Johnson Jr's widow (Elizabeth?) Is said to have marrried "a Barton" and had 3 daughters by him. She must have died in the late 1840s, since William Barton married Elizabeth Fitzgerald in Houston County in 1849. Then she must have died a few years later, and William married Melissa Beddingfield, a younger daughter of Gideon and Henrietta. Three daughters are shown in the household of William Barton in the 1850 and 1850 censuses. William and Melissa had one son, John Barton, and William died in Wilcox County, GA, leaving a will signed 1 July 1890 and probated 5 Nov. 1894. The only persons named in the will are his son John and daughter Ann Eliza, who was unmarried. Melissa was apparently deceased, and the other two daughters married by this time.

Some other relevant information worth mentioning:
(1) The death date on Melancton Sr.'s gravestone is 5 April 1827, "in the 22d year of his age". This agrees with his birth and death dates in the family Bible of Matthias Johnson (Melancton Sr's younger brother). However, the obituary of Melancton Jr., who died in 1886, says that he was born in Cambridge, NY, on 20 July 1829. His age in every census agrees with the 1829 date, and my grandfather put a death date of 1830 on his father's gravestone. This was the first clue that something was wrong with the story.
(2) The family Bible of Matthias Johnson was given to me by Willis Johnson, a great-grandson of Matthias, who lives in Greenwich, NY. After having the family data pages photographed, I placed the Bible in the Washington County (NY) Archives, in Fort Edward, NY. The death date of William Storey Sr. Is given as "Oct. 1831" with no date, indicating that the family received news of his death without knowing the exact date.
(3) On my first visit to Cambridge, NY, in 1986, I located three descendants of Matthias Johnson, two of whom are now deceased. One, Harold Johnson, had two letters written by Melancton Jr. to his uncle Matthias, one from Raines Store (now Jeffersonville),Twiggs County on 20 Dec.1846, and one from Wilkinson County on 26 Jan. 1852, where he was teaching school. I now have these letters in my possession.
(4) On my second visit to Cambridge, the new county Archives had been built and everything accessible on the computer. I asked about Thias Johnson, and found his estate papers. In them was the proof that William S. Johnson was the father of the two boys in Georgia. Thias died intestate in 1843, and "Melancton B. And William S., sons of William S. Johnson, deceased" were listed among the heirs. Also there was a letter from Melancton Jr to his uncle Matthias, asking if it would be worth his time to come to New York to claim his share of the estate, and two documents from Melancton Jr and William Jr certifying that they had been informed of their inheritance, with a note written and signed by their grandfather, Gideon Beddingfield, stating that the boys lived with their grandfather and had no guardian.

(5) The records of the Cambridge Presbyterian Church list the baptisms of all of Thias and Sarah Johnson's children, and I noted that the baptism usually occurred about 6 months after birth. Also, it lists the baptism of "William M.(sic), son of William Johnson and wife" on 16 July 1830. A William S. Johnston (sic) is shown in the 1830 Federal census of Cambridge, Washington County, NY, with 1 white male under 5, 1 white male age 20-30, and 1 white female age 20-30. He is listed directly under Thias Johnston (sic) Jnr. Unfortunately, William's wife was not listed by name since she was not a member of the church.
(6) In the 1832 "Gold Lottery", William S. Johnson's orphans, of Pounds district, Twiggs County, drew Land Lot #854, District 4, Section 3. One requirement for drawing was that the father had to have been a resident of Georgia for 3 years preceding 1 January 1832.
(7) The gravestone of Melancton Sr is very similar to the gravestones of the other family members in the Cambridge Presbyterian cemetery. I believe that the gravestone was made in or near Cambridge, and that William Storey Sr brought it to Georgia in late 1827 or 1828, probably traveling by ship and then by oxcart, to Twiggs County and placed it on his brother's grave. After that he stayed with the Beddingfield family and married their oldest daughter (Elizabeth?). He was born in 1807, and her NY census record indicates she must have been born in 1809 or 1810. They were probably married in 1828, and the next summer traveled to New York where Melancton Jr was born in July 1829. Imagine the feelings of a new bride traveling by ship to a strange part of the country, pregnant, and then having her first child in the family of her in-laws!
(8) I am still seeking proof that Thias Johnson Jr was the son of another Thias Johnson, who lived in Cambridge and nearby areas. He was born in 1862, served in the Revolutionary War, and submitted a lengthy pension application, which unfortunately names no other children than a wife too young to be the mother of Thias Jr., and a 7-year -old son. The two Thiases must be father and son, but I cannot find definite proof. There are two letters which only suggest such a relationship. The lineage of Thias Sr goes all the way back through Massachusetts to the original immigrant, William Johnson, of Herne Hill, Kent, England, who was in Charlestown, MA by 1635. If I could prove the link between the two Thiases, I would have 12 generations of Johnsons going back to England! I have had a Y-chromosome test done in hopes of finding some proof.

The gravestone of Melancton Sr. Is in a remote part of Twiggs County, and its exact location will remain undisclosed. It is remarkable that it has existed all this time undisturbed. I suspect that William Storey Sr is buried in an unmarked grave next to his brother, as is Hiram Beddingfield, a son of Gideon and Henrietta, who died in 1835. Gideon and Henrietta Beddingfield moved to Dooly County in 1852, and their burial places are unknown. I also find it remarkable that my grandfather apparently did not know that he had been named for his two grandfathers: William Storey Johnson Sr and Stephen Harvard.
Acknowledgements: My thanks to Doris M. Davies of Thomasville, GA for supplying some of the information in this article. She is also researching this family since her husband is a grandson of my grandfather's oldest sister. Also thanks to Dennis W. Lowery, Washington County (NY)

Archivist, for help in locating vital records. Sincere thanks to Willis Johnson of Greenwich, NY for giving me the Matthias Johnson family Bible, and to Harold Johnson (deceased) of Cossayuna, NY for the two letters from Melancton B. Johnson, Jr. to his uncle Matthias, and to Kenneth MacFarland (deceased) of Cambridge for oral history of the Matthias Johnson family.

"In Memory of Melancton B. Johnson a native of Cambridge N.Y.
Died April 8, 1827 In the 22 year of his age.
The fleeting Soul Could not be stayed when it was call'd by Him To whom it owed its being and he died Died once to live throug (sic) all eternity"

Nearby there is a footstone with the initials M.B.J. The inscription side of the headstone faces away from the footstone, as is the custom in New England. The entire area has grown up in oak-hickory woods, and there are no other gravestones nearby. The first time I was taken to the site about 1960 by my grandfather, he found the grave because it was next to a very large hickory tree, which has since died and fallen to the ground. On our 1960 trip to the grave site, my grandfather mentioned that when he first saw it, the pillars of the old house were still there. I assume he meant that the house was built up off the ground on rock pillars. In those days it was common to have the family cemetery a few yards back of the house.

"LUCIUS MALLORY DIES ON GALLOWS PAYS PENALTY AFTER BEING SENTENCED TO DEATH SIX DIFFERENT TIMES"

Contributed by Wayne Chapman

This article is reprinted from the Houston Home Journal issue of Thursday, June 19, 1924. The contributor is a grandson of the Sheriff Chapman mentioned in the article. The pauper's farm referred to below was probably the one located near the present day intersection of Hwy 41 and the North Perry Parkway.

"After remaining in jail for two years and six months and receiving the death penalty six separate times Lucius Mallory, Negro, paid the penalty on the Gallows for the crime of murder here today.

The trap was sprung by Sheriff Chapman at 1:12 p.m. and the Negro declared dead by attending physicians, Dr. Orr, Dr. Wise and Dr. White thirteen minutes later.

The crime for which Mallory has paid the penalty was the murder of an old Negro woman named Isabella Taylor near Henderson on December 23, 1921, two and one half years ago. Strong circumstantial evidence pointed to his guilt and he was arrested for the crime a few days afterwards.

The history of the case from a legal point of view is most unusual and interesting, because of the long drawn out fight to save the Negro from the gallows. Only after every possible appeal had been made and six different sentences of death passed has the law been vindicated.

The Negro was tried and convicted at the April term 1922 of the Superior Court, and sentenced to hang on May 26, 1922. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court by his attorneys Messrs. Vining & English on November 11, 1922. On October 22, 1923 the Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the lower court, and the Negro was again sentenced to hang on December 21, 1923, appeal was then made to the Prison Commission and denied. The Governor [issued a] respite to the Negro until February 19, 1924, the sentence at that time being held up by order of Judges of Superior Court pending re-sentence. Resentenced to hang March 23, 1924, and sentence held up by Habeas Corpus proceeding but denied by Supreme Court. Again sentenced to hang on April 23, 1924. Attorneys for Mallory contended that, in as much as the date of the execution had passed their client was legally dead, and the case was again appealed to the Supreme Court to settle this point. The decision of the higher court was against the condemned Negro and he was again sentenced to die June 18, 1924. This sentence was carried out after a last futile appeal to the Governor Wednesday to commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

The condemned man was taken from his cell about 12:30 Wednesday by Sheriff Chapman. He emerged from the jail complacently smoking a cigarette and mounted the scaffold with a steady step.

Religious services were conducted by two Negro Ministers G. G. Taylor and H. C. Cain who had been with him an hour before the execution. When asked if he was guilty he denied killing the woman but said that he helped only in moving the body, however as he stood on the trap and the cap was being placed over his head he asked to make a statement, saying he did not want to die with a lie on his lips. He then after some questioning from the sheriff made a complete confession of his guilt saying he killed the woman with a gun barrel, striking her over the head three times. He talked for sometime without the slightest signs of fear. He was then placed on the trap and final preparations made for the execution. The trap was sprung at 1:12, the neck was broken and the Negro was pronounced dead in 13 minutes. As no relatives claimed the body it was buried at the paupers farm by the county a few miles north of Perry on Highway 41."

GRAND VIEW HOTEL, MARSHALLVILLE, GEORGIA

Helen S. Hudson with information from Davine Vining Campbell

We tend to think of Marshallville as a sleepy little town known for being the home of the Elberta peach and the Headquarters of the American Camellia Society. In it's hayday it was a thriving community with businesses and many travelers making stop overs as they passed through the area by train. Peach growers and sellers did their business in the local hotel and many local folks would share meals there. The train tracks are still there as is the old depot but the depot has other uses and the trains no longer stop to drop and pick up passengers but pass on through to other destinations with their cargo.

The register for the Grand View Hotel still exists, unfortunately a child of the family who owns it glued cards and magazine cutouts to many of the pages. The glue is old and so are the items glued. They can not be removed. The first Proprietor listed was M.H. Zuber. He was followed by Jno. P. McCall and then by J.C. Lee.

The Dec. 1, 1893 shows guests registered from the following cities: LaCross, Wis; New Haven, Conn.; New York; London, England; Liverpool, England; Valdosta, Ga.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Richmond, Va.; Philadelphia, Penn.; Syracruse, N.Y.; Bowling Green & Frankfort Ky.; Boston, Mass.; Lanark, Ill.; and someone with very bad handwriting from Rhode Island.

Saturday, February 3, 1894 shows Jno. Farson, his wife and 2 children checking in. No home residence listed. Were they just traveling or on their way to a new home?

Many people from the area would run an account for meals. These were mostly men, some possibly staying over while doing business. An example of these from Wednesday, June 13, 1894:

Thos. W. Sanders	County (Think this means Macon County)	Dinner
Tarry (Terry??) Sanders	County	Dinner
M.L. Sanders	County	Dinner

On January 24, 1897 from Perry for Dinner was H. Lawson and E.A. Stead. And on February 24, 1897 T.W. Hunt from Perry enjoyed a Dinner at the establishment. Since this would have been the closest place for passengers to catch a train, they may have been traveling.

Thursday, Dec. 13, 1894 a jury, the Bailiff and Coachman were patrons for supper in Parlor 19 & 20. W.D. Palmer was the Bailiff, J.P. Brown may have been the coachman. Others listed for this event are: M.S. Sams, R.J. LaRoche, R.B. LaRoche, R.J. Mathers, John Houston, C.C. Boynton, E.M. Whaley, F.T. Wetlock, J.R. Miob, and E. Dukes.

The Hotel served as a location for many and varied social events. On February 24, 1897, the Dixie Minstrel & Comedy Co. consisting of Wm. Nasmyth, Prof. D.M. Carson, Prof. W.A. Potts, Jas. De Forrest and T.E. Cline were scheduled for supper. On Wednesday, November 17, 1897 guests L.C. Gillette, Chas. Schilling, Chas, Morgernstern, L.W. Howell and Fred Andrews are marked "Advance of Sparks New Great Syndicate Shows".

Private social events for Bell Telephone Co., R.R.S., Macon Telegraph Newspaper, Macon County Citizen (Oglethorpe, GA), Postal Fel. Co. (?) were scheduled to be held.

The last entry in the journal was for November 28, 1898.

The Hotel is gone, another building has taken it's place. Many of the buildings in "downtown" are empty and abandoned. The thriving Masonic Lodge has disbanded. The Churches with their membership declining, still hold the community together as does the Senior Center, meals at the Vegetable Basket and ties that are strengthened by shared experiences.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

QUARTERLY STAFF

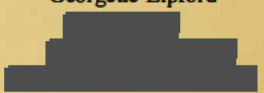
Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Davine Campbell, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Nelson & Joy Kimberly

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly is published in March, June, September, and December. It is distributed free to society members, second class postage paid at Warner Robins, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of the quarterly are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications page and order form in this issue for S & H costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the quarterly of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on the central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Articles may also be emailed to the editor as an attachment. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to about 50 words. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable quarterlies and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the quarterly) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this quarterly.

BLACK MARRIAGES OF HOUSTON COUNTY, GA, BOOK I

Continued

Transcribed by Helen S. Hudson

Located in the office of the Probate Court of Houston County, GA. Once again keep in mind that these marriages are not recorded in the order that they occurred. There is one in this group from 1883 that made me go back and look twice. Some of the recorders writing is absolutely beautiful - and very difficult to read, other recorders are difficult to read because they handwriting is not very good and others were still using the archaic forms of letters.

RANSOM FAMILY CEMETERY

Dooly County, Georgia

Surveyed March 2006 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

This is listed as CEMETERY No. 73 in Watts & Nora Powell Book. Location: Hwy 230 East of Unadilla, turn left on DEAD END ROAD. There is a red brick house [4360 Hwy 230],on the left at the corner of Dead End Road and Hwy 230, the people there will show you or even take you to the cemetery but you do need to ask permission to go back to it.

The gentleman who took us back to the property said that a farmer who was leasing the property at one time did some damage to the cemetery with a tractor and harrow. It is now fenced with chain link fence and we had to go through a horse pen in order to get to the gate to the cemetery. All of the markers listed by the Powells are still there though most of the smaller ones are propped against their base.

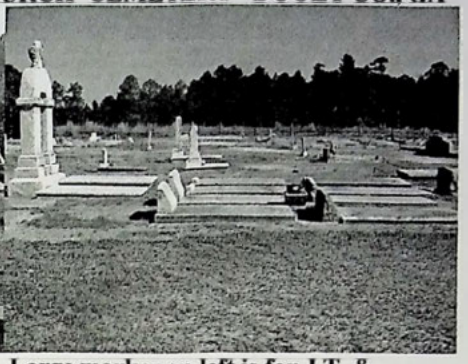
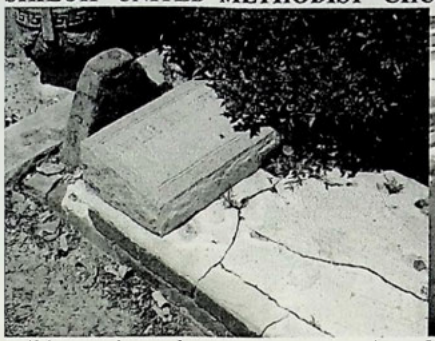
Jackson Lot



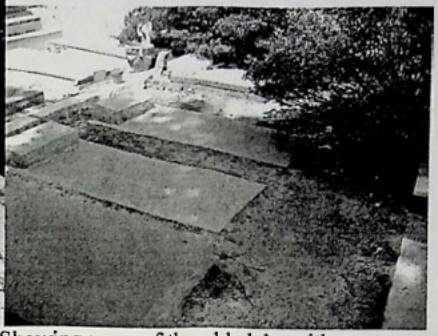
Large marker on left is for J.T. & Narcissa Murray

These home made markers appear to be made by the same people, or prehaps one copied the other. The lower right photo shows the three Watson children in a row. Unusual.

SHILOH UNITED METHODIST CHURCH CEMETERY –DOOLY CO., GA



Willie Sue Coppedge, note the old head stone behind the new pillow marker.



Showing more of the old slabs with new pillow markers.

There is not a marked burial right next to this grave. It looks like it may be one of the older in the cemetery

Looking North from the side of the Church

The cemetery has a resting place for visitors. A peaceful spot to visit family members who Are no longer with us. They lie side by side the wealthy with their large elaborate markers and the members of the community whose graves are marked with simple headstones. All are cared for by the families and the Church community.

SHILOH UNITED METHODIST CHURCH CEM.

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson August 2007

End of Survey

Do we research every burial? No, only those that present questions or that may tie into some families that are being researched who came out of Macon, Co., GA. And sometimes it is those that just catch our interest. It may be the information on the marker, it may be the marker itself. If you have information on unmarked graves in this cemetery, we would love to know about them. Someone also told us that there were some graves moved to Shiloh from another small family cemetery (Sego-Brown Maybe??) but they did not know which ones.

Heading out for some cemetery work? Be sure to take: a rake, a hoe or small hand trowel (markers may be partly covered with dirt or fire ants, clippers for the vines/bushes, gloves for those self same vines w/stickers, bug spray & use it-especially if you are going into a wooded area that may have red bugs [the ones in Macon Co. are HUGE!!!] long sleeved shirt [protection against bugs, sun, bushes & vines], baby powder [Dollar Tree for this] to use on markers to bring out the lettering especially the older cement markers made with large grains of sand, sidewalk chalk to be used with care, a brush/broom [to clear leaves, dirt, etc off the slabs], an old towel to wipe the chalk/powder off with, a metal rod to probe for those covered over slabs and markers, we have even carried a large crow bar [cushioned with a towel to turn over markers], a hat for protection against the sun and sun screen in the summer time, lots of pencils [I buy the Paper Mate SharpWriter #2 by the box & usually have at least 6 on me], notebooks/pads & a clip board is handy [can be used to help you get up after crawling under bushes, etc. besides holding writing material steady, wipes and paper towels for dirt clean up. A small backpack or carryall helps save trips to the car. LOTS of WATER, summer and winter. We start out with most of it frozen in the summer, then put one bottle for each of us on the outside where the windshield wipers are to thaw & be ready when we need a cool drink. Some not frozen to clean markers & hands with. If you are going to be a pretty good ways from "civilization" [eating places] take snacks

It is recommended that you do not go into many cemeteries alone, danger from people, critters, accidents, etc. Lock your car, keys in your pocket. Purses out of sight. Use common sense. Have fun, be careful & take pictures just in case you can't read your notes. Share. Talk to locals, they may know where the "hidden" cemeteries, especially farmers, Forestry Workers, Deputies from the local Sheriff's Dept. are also a good source. Take your camera into the restaurant & sit it on the table while you are eating. You may get questions and great info.

CGGS's 2012 Donation to the WML Genealogical & Historical Room

Each year CGGS is proud to make a donation to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library. The donation always results in new resources for genealogical research. The 2012 gift of $1,200 was made possible in part by individual donations designated for the library by CGGS members. The society wishes to recognize and thank the following members who contributed to the 2012 Genealogy Room gift:

Dorothy C. Baker, Chicago, IL
Susan McKay Bromwell, Vero Beach, FL
Lavonia Hogg, Lizella, GA
David & Carolyn Schomer, Warner Robins, GA
Cathy & James Smith, Big Canoe, GA
Mary M Clark Stone, Texarkana, TX

CGGS Website Progress

The society has made changes to our website over the past seven months and we still have much to accomplish. While some portions of the website work okay the "Books" page is still under construction. The society's goal is to offer the option to purchase books online through the website. We encourage you to check the website periodically for further updates. In the meantime the book ordering form in each issue of the quarterly may be used. Monthly meeting and program announcements can be found on the website www.cggs.org or on our Facebook page for Central Georgia Genealogical Society.

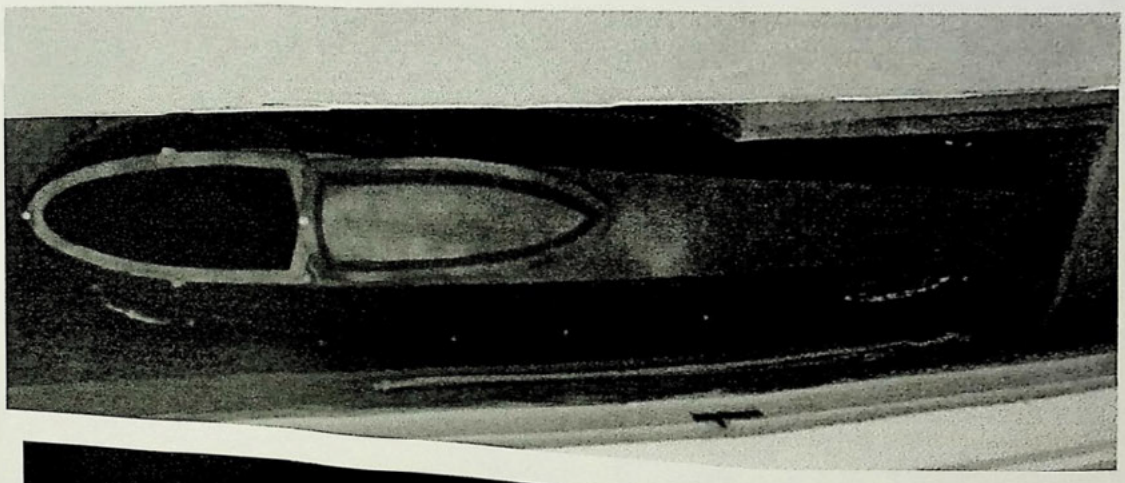
THE UNNEEDED COFFIN

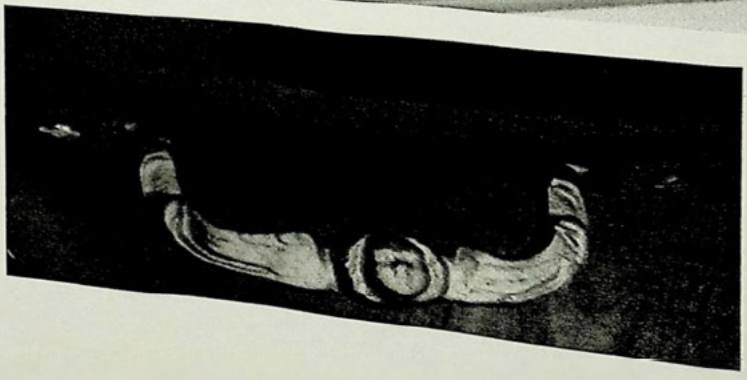
Helen S. Hudson

Death of a child was unfortunately a common event in the 19th century. The coffin below was found in the basement of an old house in Perry and is now at the Perry Area Historical Society Museum, though not on display at this time. It is possible that a glass plate would have been in the opening but is not there now. Note the metal faceplate that swings up and covers the area of the deceased person's face. The coffin itself may have been lined. It is not heavy, probably made of tin or something similar. The handles are ornate as you can see from the photo. A name plate could have been attached.

Just guessing, the child that this coffin was purchased for was extremely ill and the family prepared for it's death. It must have been a day of rejoicing when they realized that the coffin would not be needed.

During vandalism of a cemetery in Burke Co., GA a coffin quite similar to this one was dug up and the bones from an 1884 burial of a toddler emptied onto the ground by the vandals. Though a terrible thing to have happened, this gives us a way to date this relic.





The coffin is big enough to hold a child. There is no lining apparent, maybe that was added when it was needed or it is possible that the child would have been wrapped in a shroud for burial.

Note the decorative work on the handles.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

In Memory of Addie Howell

Addie Paramore Howell 1927-2013

This issue of the CGGS Journal is dedicated to Addie Paramore Howell. Addie died on May 7, 2013. She was a charter member of the Central Georgia Genealogical Society when it was formed in 1978 and for more than twenty years was one of the hardest working members of CGGS. Addie served in many roles and handled a wide assortment of duties for the society. Although she didn't make Houston Co. her home until 1952 Addie made significant and lasting contributions to the recording and preservation of its history and people.

In a short biography written for the CGGS newsletter in April 1996 Addie described her early interest in genealogy as follows: "In 1970 I became interested in genealogy. I knew that my people at one time were in Jones, Houston and Bibb Counties. I only knew to look in the census and look for wills at the court house which I did. From 1970 to 1979 I thought I was the only one in this area who was looking for their family. Then I heard that a genealogical society was being formed. I went to the first meeting and found I was not alone. At the second meeting I joined and was elected to be on the first board of directors."

Addie continued on the Board as Corresponding Secretary from 1981 – 2003. In 1984 she was appointed to the membership committee. In the 1980s and 1990s CGGS held annual workshops which Addie routinely assisted with. From 1980 through the early 2000's she contributed multiple articles to each issue of the CGGS quarterly many of which were on Georgia cemeteries, obituaries and Bible records. She also compiled queries for each issue of the quarterly.

After five years of research and preparation Addie published her book Cemeteries & Obituaries of Houston County, Georgia in 1982. It became a favorite of genealogists with Houston County connections. In 2001 Addie collaborated with a team of CGGS members on another Houston County book, The Heritage of Houston County, GA 1821 – 2001.

In addition to her genealogical work Addie was at one time a volunteer librarian. She also volunteered at her church, served on the Centerville Cemetery Committee and worked with the Senior Citizens. Addie is survived by her loving husband of 63 years, James Donald Howell, daughters Donna and Diane, four grandchildren, nine great grandchildren, one great-great grandchild and many genealogy friends.

ALPHABETICAL INDEX VOL. 34, 2012

C.G.G.S. QUARTERLY SURNAME INDEX VOL. 34 FOR THE YEAR 2012

COMPILED BY HELEN SHIRAH HUDSON

This surname index covers Quarterlies No. 1 through 4 for the year 2012. Pages 1-40 are in No. 1, pages 41-84 are in No. 2, pages 85-136 are in No. 3 and pages 137-188 are in No. 4. Check the entire page listed for a surname, there may be multiple entries for that name. Check all possible spelling, names are listed as they appeared. Keep in mind that the recorder of the records listed names the way he "heard" them and that may not be the way we spell them today. A large number of the population could not read or write, though some did learn to write their names for a signature or they may have used a mark.

The larger Dooly County, GA. cemeteries that included an alphabetical index, Shiloh United Methodist Church Cem., out from Vienna in Vol. 4 and the Forehand - Sentell near Lilly & the Forehand also near Lilly, both in Vol 3, are not included in this index. Let me urge you to check through the Quarterlies for any Dooly cemetery that appears if you have family that you are searching for that may have been buried in Dooly Co. It appears that just because the cemetery is listed as a family name, does not mean that other families are not buried there. Neighbors, friends who lived nearby or someone who may have ties to the family will often appear.

If you are looking for a "missing" marriage for a white couple that may have taken place in Houston County, take a glance at the Black Marriages. It appears that some records were mixed up.

Again there appears entries for Free Persons of Color, two of which lists surnames. Those two have the notation of (FPC) by them. The one who does have a surname listed appears under the "A" section (his name is Anderson) with the notation of (FPC) following his name.

Centenary Methodist Church

By Georgette Lipford

Centenary Methodist Church was founded in 1884 after a very successful beginning as a Sunday school. The present church building was completed in 1911 and is located at 1290 College Street, adjacent to the Mercer University campus and across the street from Tattnall Square Park. In their early years the church and Sunday school classes were held in a building on the corner of Ross and Ash Streets about a block to the southeast from the present church. At that time Centenary was one of the largest Sunday Schools in Macon and the attendance rolls included children whose families lived in the College Street residential areas of Macon.

The abstracted Sunday school rolls and church registers in this article were taken from microfilm reel #4148 at Washington Memorial Library's Genealogical & Historical Room. The Register of Pastors, marriages, Sunday School Officers and students are complete as shown on the microfilm. Attendance marks for the Sunday School lists, arranged weekly for each month, have been omitted. The Sunday school rolls and Church registers are unpaginated and all those listed in this article appear to be for the year 1889-1890. Abbreviations, spellings and numbered lists are transcribed as written in the Register. This material is published with the permission of Centenary United Methodist Church. For photographs and more information on the history of the church visit their website at www.centenarymacon.org or Historic Macon's website at www.livinghistorymap.com.

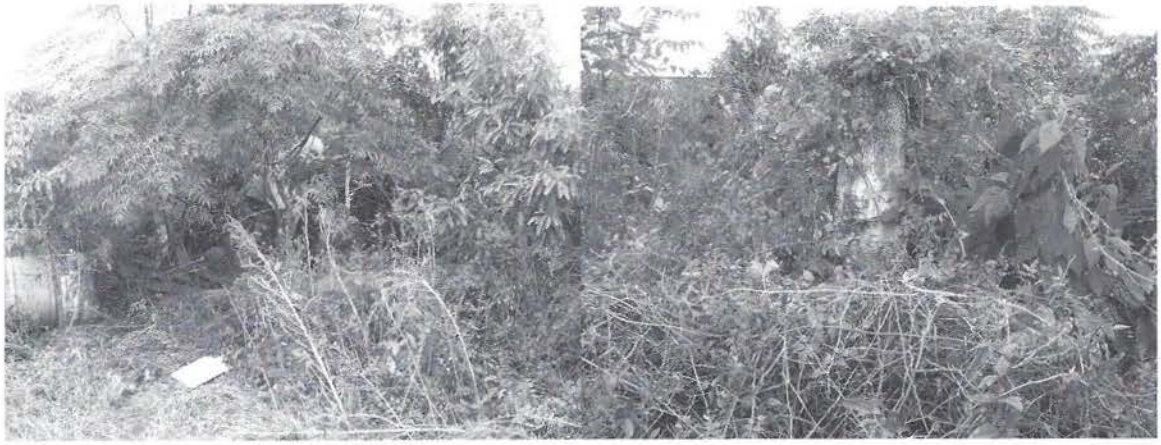
THE JOHN J. COLLIER CEMETERY

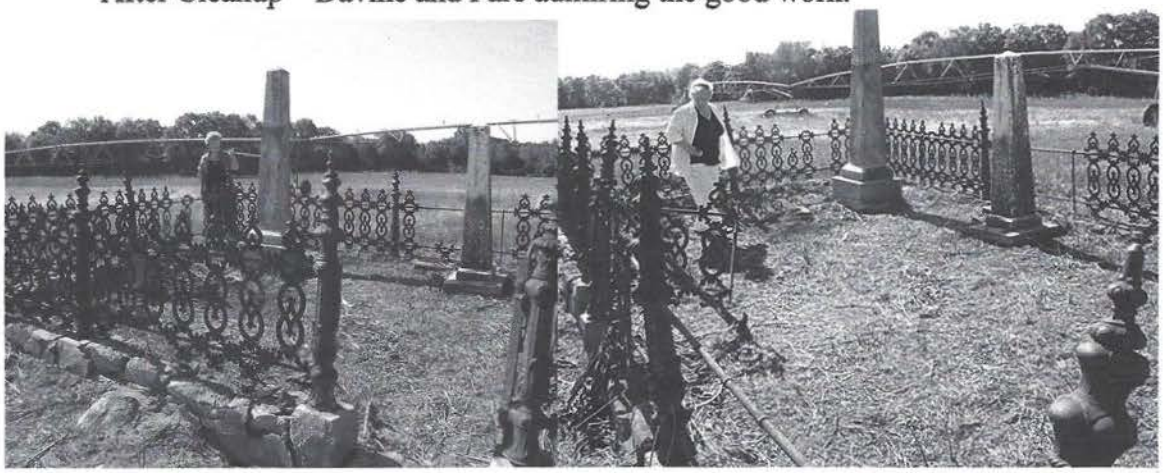
A followup on Cemetery #55 Dooly County, Georgia showing what can be done to a badly overgrown cemetery. In this case it was not by a family member but by the man who had newly leased the land for farming. Davine's grandson happened to be working for him and told her about the clean up. He even had the obelisk that had fallen and been damaged repaired and put upright again.

Taken October 2006

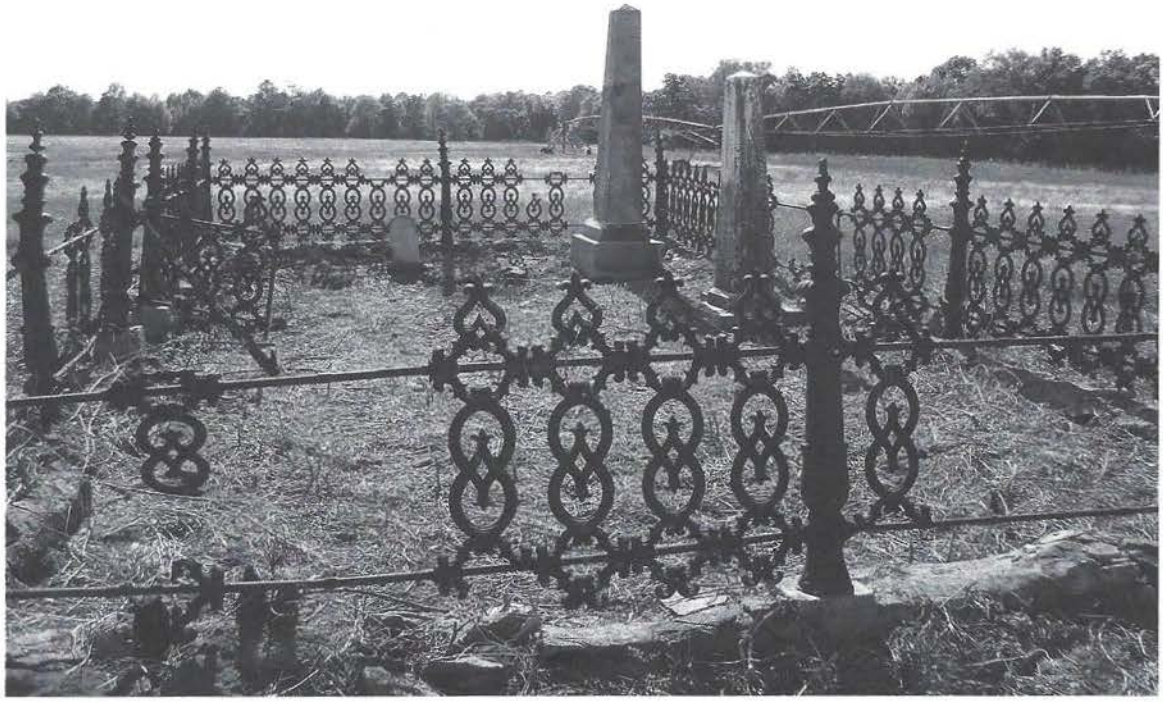


THE JOHN J. COLLIER CEMETERY

After Cleanup Davine and I are admiring the good work.



Taken April 2009 WOW! What a difference.

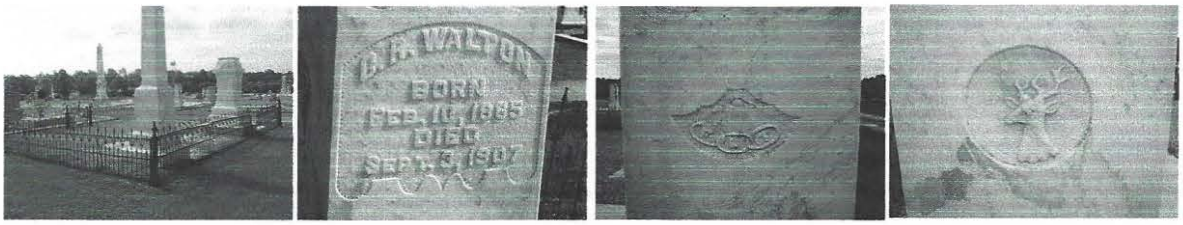


Here's hoping that more responsible land users will help recover and perserve our heritage.

VIENNA CITY CEMETERY
EAST CENTER SECTION

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson (# 89 Powell's Bk. Vol. II)

Below are photos of the Elihu Walton Lot in which are buried Elihu, his wife, Elizabeth and son Charley R. Walton. The IOOF fraternal symbols are on Charley's marker.



EAST CENTER SECTION is located on the North Side of WOODWARD STREET. As you enter the center drive, it will be on your immediate right. Unfortunately we did not get a plat map until we were well into the survey but I think that you can follow this survey and find the lots & graves. We started on the Woodward Street end of each row.

Pic=Picture on Marker
DC GVV= Death Certificate in the Georgia Virtual Vault
DM = Double marker

There is a plat map. We got a copy of from City Hall (after starting the survey) showing the Lot Owner as known at the time this map was drawn. It appears that the Vienna Cemetery grew over time and in different directions.

ALPHABETICAL INDEX

I have tried to make this index as useful as possible. In doing so, a maiden name or other married name that appears on a marker is indexed separately. If a name (spouse, parent, etc.,) appears but there is not a grave for that person, they are indexed under the number of the marker that it is on. In several instances, we have the name of the lot owner but there does not appear to be a grave for that person, I have used the number of the grave sites in that lot, it may give a clue for family members. Some people owned more than one lot. THESE NAMES WILL NOT APPEAR IN A YEARLY INDEX.

Pulaski County, Georgia Deed Book E

Pulaski County was created in December 1808 from Laurens Co. which had been formed a year earlier in December 1807 from Wilkinson County. Since 1808 Pulaski's borders have shifted as a result of the following changes: in 1826 the upper part of Dooly County was added to Pulaski; in 1828 a portion of Houston County was added to Pulaski; in 1857 part of Pulaski was cut away to form Wilcox County; in 1870 a large portion of Pulaski became Dodge County and in 1912 the eastern half of Pulaski became Bleckley County. In 1810 the town of Hartford in Pulaski was established as the location for the county's public buildings.

This article is a continuation of a series by Rudy Dennis which ran in the CGGSQ several years ago. Those installments were later collected and printed as Pulaski County Deed Books A, B, C & D: 7 November 1807 – 30 May 1816. (See the CGGS order form in the back of this issue to purchase)

The deeds in this article were abstracted from microfilm no. 4499 at Washington Memorial Library, "Pulaski Co. Superior Court Deeds and Mortgages Book E, 1811 – 1818". All of the deeds in this installment were recorded in the deed book by Pulaski County clerk G. B. Gardner. The spelling of names has been retained as in the original record. All locations are Georgia unless stated otherwise.

Historical maps showing land districts in Pulaski and surrounding counties can be found on Galileo in the Historical Atlas of Georgia Counties webpage at http://georgiainfo.galileo.usg.edu/histcountymaps/index.htm. The 1839 map from David Burr's The American Atlas, which is one of those in the Historical Atlas, shows the districts well. The Virtual Vault on the Georgia Archives website also has district plats of survey maps which can be helpful in land research.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a Spring issue and a Fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, second class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

Edwards – Lary Bible

Contributed by Wayne Edwards

The Edwards - Lary Bible, published in 1859, has been rebound and other than foxing on some pages is in very good condition. Wayne Edwards is a grandson of George W. Edwards, one of the original owners of the Bible. The Edwards and Lary families lived in Houston County and Dooly County. Spelling and punctuation is retained in this transcript as in the original.

Pike County was created December 9, 1822 from Monroe County. Zebulon is the county seat. The 1825 tax digest is the earliest available for Pike. The entries above were abstracted from microfilm # 5485: "A Digest of the Taxable Property of Pike County for the year 1825". The names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Poll – free, white males age 21 and older (after 1825 males over age 60 were exempt from the poll tax)
3. Land in acres with value assessed by the quality of the land (1st, 2nd, 3rd quality or pine)
4. County where the land is located
5. The waters on which the land is situated
6. Adjoining land owners or the district and land lot number of the land
7. Tax owed [Professionals, such as physicians and lawyers, were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
8. Page number of the tax digest on which the person is listed

LIBERTY BAPTIST CHURCH CEMETERY

31 in Powell's Vol. II. Located in Dooly Co., Ga. off U.S. 41, South of Pinehurst on Liberty Church Road. Cross the Railroad tracks, stay right on Liberty Church Road and the Church will be on your right. Founded 1843 per the sign in front. Beautiful Church, well kept cemetery, fairly small membership according to a member we met while surveying the cemetery.

Many of the lots have been updated with new coping and markers then spread with gravel.

An Upright, Memorial Marker In Memory of Lt. James R. Greeson who died in July 1950 when his jet plane crashed and exploded near this site while on a training mission from Turner Field, Albany, Georgia. A detailed writeup from the newspapers is in my files. [HSH]

As you face the cemetery, we started from Right to Left, numbering the rows so that you could easily find your marker of interest.

LIBERTY BAPTIST CHURCH CEMETERY

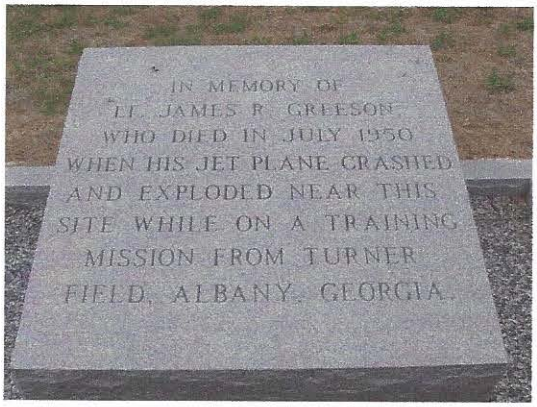
Unusual grave sites Of Annie & Martha A. Parker. You can tell how large they are by comparing against my height. The adult slab in between them is unmarked.

Left: Thompson Lot
Right: 5 unmarked infants
Below: Marker for Lt. James R. Greeson



IN MEMORY OF
LT. JAMES R. GREESON
WHO DIED IN JULY 1950
WHEN HIS JET PLANE CRASHED
AND EXPLODED NEAR THIS SITE WHILE ON A TRAINING
MISSION FROM TURNER FIELD, ALBANY, GEORGIA.

ROBERTS FAMILY CEMETERY

Surveyed October 2006 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

Located: East of Byromville, Dooly County, Georgia. Take Hwy 90 S. of Byromville to Byromville-Pinehurst Road, turn East or Left – Go to Nellieville Road, turn left and ROBERTS CEMETERY will be on your left. This is an active, well kept, chain link fenced cemetery. As a special note, Outside the fence, nearest the Buck Thompson Lot is: "Buckwheat" 1991 - 2006 Probably the Family Pet. This is not the first time we have found a marker in a cemetery for a pet but in this case this grave is not actually with the family burials.

Note: There is a VERY BIG Thompson Lot at the beginning of Row 5 having 4 rows, we refer to them as 5a,5b, 5c & 5d.

Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847 – 1933) lived in Dooley County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer, Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery [also printed in this issue] as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. CGGS member A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original.

CGGS's 2013 Donation to the WML Genealogical & Historical Room

Each year CGGS is proud to make a donation to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon. The donation is used to grow the collection with new resources for genealogical research. The 2013 donation of $1,200 was made possible in part by individual donations designated for the library by CGGS members. The donation check was presented to Muriel McDowell, Head of the Genealogical Room, on June 15, 2013 as part a special CGGS meeting at the library. The society would like to recognize and thank the following members who contributed to the 2013 Genealogical Room gift:

Dorothy Baker,
Susan Bromwell,
William & Clara Camp,
Nancy Douglass,

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
POST OFFICE BOX 2024
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a Spring issue and a Fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, second class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

C.G.G.S. JOURNAL SURNAME INDEX VOL. 35 FOR THE YEAR 2013

Compiled by Helen Shirah Hudson

This surname index covers the Journal for the year 2013. Pages 1-64 are in issue No. 1 and pages 65-124 are in issue No. 2. Check the entire page listed for a surname, there may be multiple entries for a name. Keep in mind that names may not necessarily be spelled the way we would spell them but were written down the way they sounded to whoever was taking the information. Names may have been spelled differently in the same document. If that person was from another area and spoke with a heavy accent, that may have caused the name to be written down incorrectly. Many people did not know how to read or write until well into the mid 1900s often "signing" a document with a mark. Even if they signed with a written name, that may have been the only words they knew how to write. Look at the 1940 census and that will give you an idea of how much education many people were able to receive.

The Dooly County, GA. Cemeteries that included an alphabetical index, Vienna City Cemetery (East Center Section), Liberty Baptist Cemetery, and the Roberts Family Cemetery will not be included in this surname index.

If your family lived near a cemetery that does not carry your family name, be sure to check that cemetery, often neighbors were buried in a nearby cemetery and so could visitors to the area. It won't take but a few minutes to look at cemetery indexes for your family surnames.

Pike County, Georgia 1825 Tax Digest

Pike County was created December 9, 1822 from Monroe County. Zebulon is the county seat. The 1825 tax digest is the earliest available for Pike. The entries above were abstracted from microfilm # 5485: "A Digest of the Taxable Property of Pike County for the year 1825". The names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Poll – free, white males age 21 and older (after 1825 males over age 60 were exempt from the poll tax)
3. Land in acres with value assessed by the quality of the land (1st, 2nd, 3rd quality or pine)
4. County where the land is located
5. The waters on which the land is situated
6. Adjoining land owners or the district and land lot number of the land
7. Tax owed [Professionals, such as physicians and lawyers, were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
8. Page number of the tax digest on which the person is listed

Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part II

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847 – 1933) lived in Dooley County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer, Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. CGGS member A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from the CGGSJ issue No. 2 of Volume 35 (2013).

Pulaski County, Georgia Deed Book E

Pulaski County was created in December 1808 from Laurens Co. which had been formed a year earlier in December 1807 from Wilkinson County. Since 1808 Pulaski's borders have shifted as a result of the following changes: in 1826 the upper part of Dooly County was added to Pulaski; in 1828 a portion of Houston County was added to Pulaski; in 1857 part of Pulaski was cut away to form Wilcox County; in 1870 a large portion of Pulaski became Dodge County and in 1912 the eastern half of Pulaski became Bleckley County. In 1810 the town of Hartford in Pulaski was established as the location for the county's public buildings.

This article is a continuation of a series by Rudy Dennis which ran in the CGGSQ several years ago. Those installments were later collected and printed as Pulaski County Deed Books A, B, C & D: 7 November 1807 – 30 May 1816. (See the CGGS order form in the back of this issue to purchase) The series has been continued with abstractions from Deed Book E in the CGGS Quarterly and Journal.

The deeds in this article were abstracted from microfilm no. 4499 at Washington Memorial Library, "Pulaski Co. Superior Court Deeds and Mortgages Book E, 1811 – 1818". All of the deeds in this installment were recorded in the deed book by Pulaski County clerk G. B. Gardner. The spelling of names has been retained as in the original record. Names are sometimes spelled more than one way in the same deed. All locations are Georgia unless stated otherwise.

Historical maps showing land districts in Pulaski and surrounding counties can be found on Galileo in the Historical Atlas of Georgia Counties webpage at http://georgiainfo.galileo.usg.edu/histcountymaps/index.htm. The 1839 map from David Burr's The American Atlas, which is one of those in the Historical Atlas, shows the districts well. The Virtual Vault on the Georgia Archives website also has district plats of survey maps which can be helpful in land research.

WILLIAMS -PEACOCK CEMETERY
DOOLY CO., GA.

Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson & Davine V. Campbell March 2007

Located: South of Pinehurst-Hawkinsville Road, turn right on Third District Rd., Left on Owens Store Road. After you pass Double Branch Road, Williams Cemetery Road will bear off to the right. Since you will be traveling part of the time on dirt roads, I suggest that you do not go if it has rained, the roads are well maintained but dirt roads can be interesting to drive on if you have not had experience. Cemetery #37 in the Powell book survey. We did find all the burials listed by the Powells plus many others.

We started our survey at the parking area. If you stand with your back to the covered picnic type space, we started on the right. The Peacock section is distinctly separate. It is located at the upper left hand side as you look down from the parking area and is recorded separately following the main cemetery as rows 16-18.

DM = Double Marker [Usually indicating a husband & wife but sometimes other family members share a marker.]
FHM = Funeral Home Marker some have quite a bit of age and therefore are almost impossible to read.

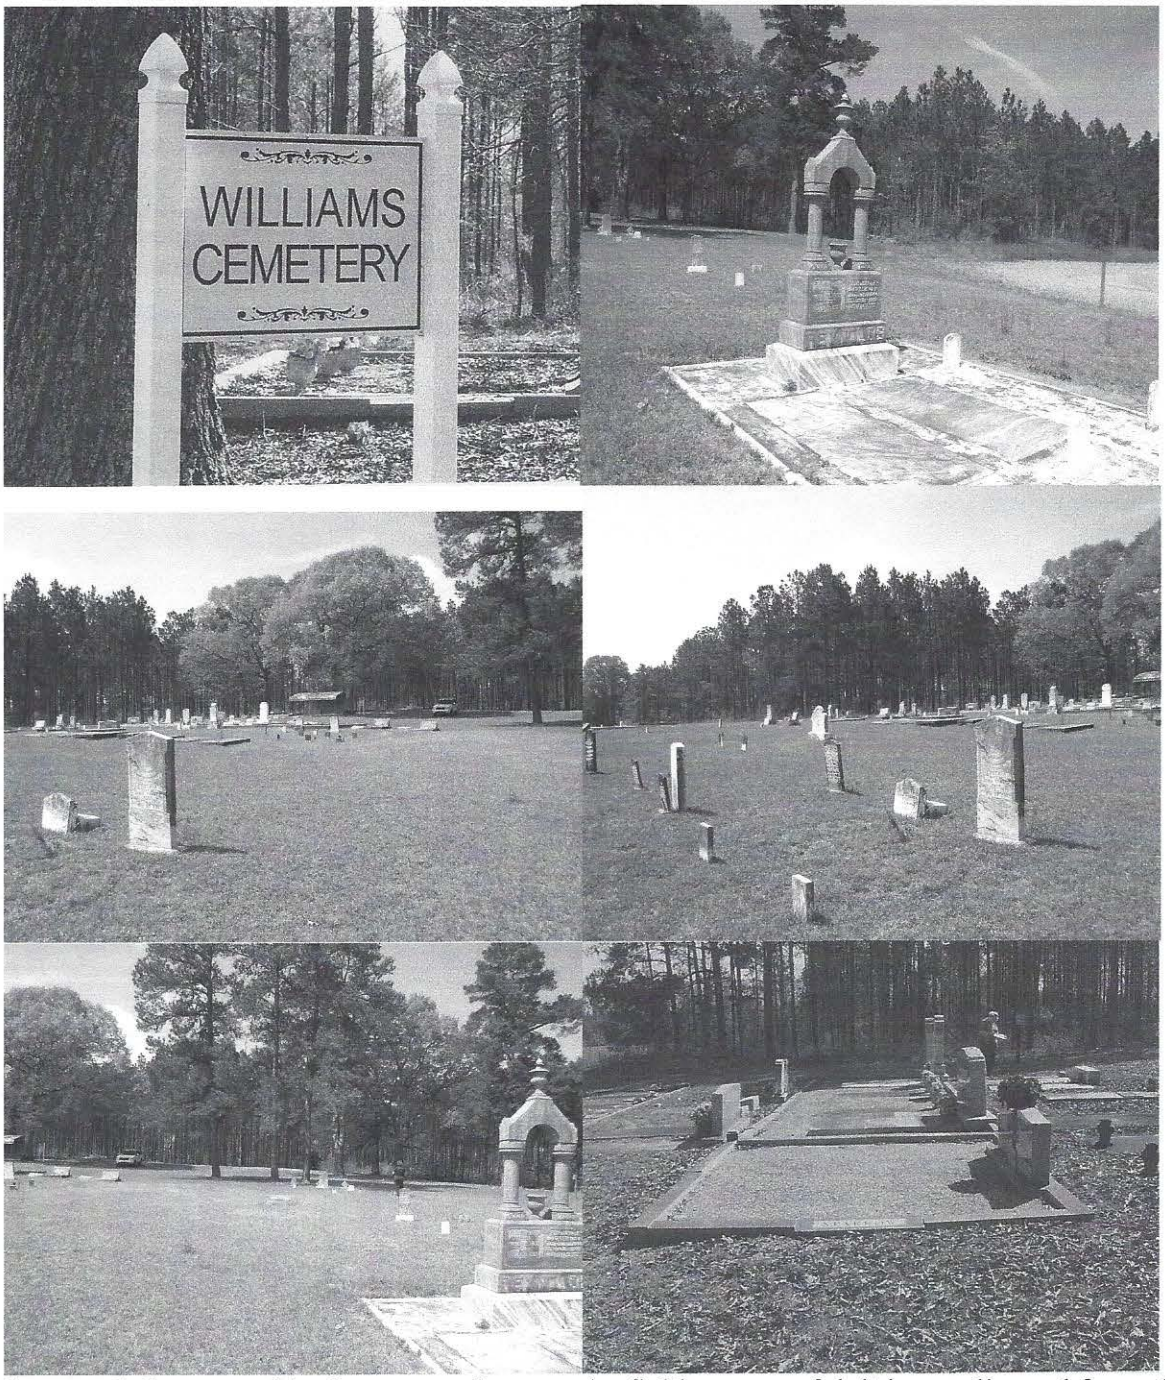
WILLIAMS – PEACOCK CEMETERY



Surrounded on two sides by trees and on two by fields, a peaceful, it is a well cared for and still active cemetery. Top left, sign at the Western side near the covered picnic area. Top Right, the R.E. Reynolds lot is probably the most elaborate. Behind it lies the "Peacock" Area. Center, both are facing slightly South –West with the left one showing the large gap Between the two sections. Bottom left, another view showing the gap and the "Peacock" Section. Bottom right, a mixture of the old and new.

The PEACOCK CEMETERY Section of WILLIAMS CEMETERY

This section is definitely set aside from the remainder of the cemetery. The PEACOCK "Section" of this Williams Cemetery is for the most part contained in rows 16-18. BUT just to make things more confusing, Virgil D. Williams' Death Certificate states that he is buried in the Peacock cemetery. He is the s/o T.C. Williams & Ida Lou McIntyre and is buried in row 7, grave 56, a part of the William Cemetery that we did not associate with the Peacock Cemetery.

And as far as we know, there are no Peacocks buried in the cemetery. It may have been on Peacock land and the name came from the land owner. Much of the surrounding land is still being farmed or has planted pines.

WILLIAMS-PEACOCK CEMETERY, DOOLY COUNTY, GEORGIA

In the Citizens & Georgian Newspaper, published in Montezuma, Georgia, Davine found one Obit of a person buried in this section that states :
MRS. CHARLES THOMAS [Mary E. Clark] DAVIS - Citizen & Georgian - March 4, 1937
LAST RITES HELD FOR MRS. CHARLES T. DAVIS. Montezuma, Ga. March 5

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Charles T. Davis of this City, who passed away Tuesday after a siege of pneumonia. The deceased was 67 years old. Mrs. Davis was a native of Yorkshire, England, coming to this country in her youth and settling in Pennsylvania. For more than twenty years, she had been a resident of Montezuma.

Surviving her are her husband, C. T. Davis [Charles Thomas Davis is buried in Bertha Dozier Cem. In Montezuma, Ga. Beside his sister, daughter & son-in-law.] Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Annie Moore and Mrs. Ethel Spradley and eleven grandchildren.

Pallbearers at the services which were held at PEACOCK CEMETERY in Dooly County were Frank Moore, Lemmon Martin, Bob Harp, L. J. Spradley, Willard Smith, all of Montezuma and Joe Brent of Cordele.

Rev. Perry Bridges of Pinehurst read the service and Yancy Hill was funeral director in charge.

Georgia Deaths, 1919-98
Name: Mrs Mary E Davis
Death Date: 02 Mar 1937
County of Death: Macon Certificate: 7068

The Death Certificate of James Davis [Born Jan. 15, 1841 – Died Jan. 25, 1929] in Macon Co., Ga. Informant, Charles Thomas Davis, son, states that James Davis is buried in PEACOCK CEMETERY in Dooly Co., Ga.

We do NOT find a marked grave, only a distinct sink next to his wife's grave. His wife being, Annie L. [Dunnaway] Davis, wife of James Davis [Born Oct. 9, 1837 – Died May 24, 1911] There is a marker for her, she is also listed in Powell's Vol. II as being buried in WILLIAMS CEMETERY.

Even in the early years, this may have been used as a community cemetery. It is not surprising to find neighbors that are also relatives or at the very least, relatives of relatives.

Anyone having additional information on the graves that are unmarked or burials that are missing from this listing [at the time we surveyed it], please share that information.

HEPZIBAH CEMETERY

Established 1853 - Dooly County, Ga.
Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson and Davine V. Campbell November 2006

Cemetery #57 in the Powell books. Located on the Left/East side of Hwy 230, South of Byromville, Ga. Beautiful, well kept, flowers and plants for every season, just like a garden. This cemetery even has its own well and watering system for the many shrubs and blooming plants. This is an active, well cared for cemetery. We started our survey on the North-West side.

Note: Hollon often appears as Holland in Census records.

Bullard Railroad Depot, Twiggs County, Georgia

By Georgette Lipford

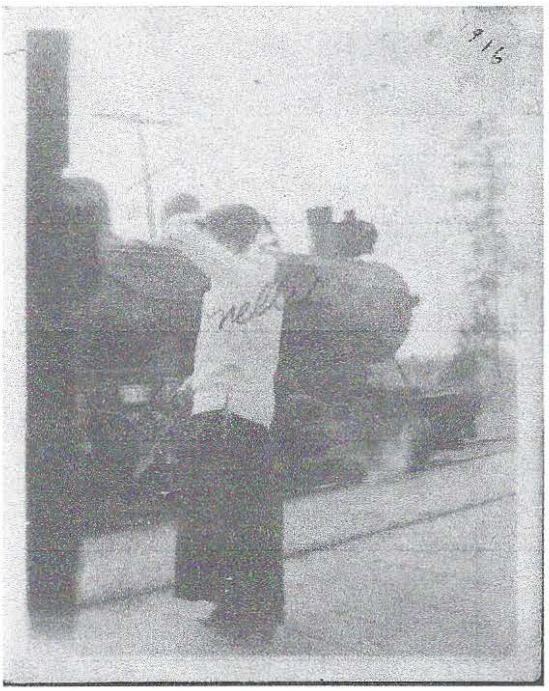
Sparks H. Ramey and his wife Ruth Phillips lived in the Bullard community of Twiggs Co. from the time of their 1911 marriage until 1937. The images in this article are from photo album pages that belonged to the couple and are believed to have been taken at the Bullard railroad station depot. Some of the photos in the collection are dated between 1916 and 1918.

Ramey was a telegraph operator and railroad agent for many years and served as Bullard Postmaster from 1918 to 1923. He also farmed at their nearby home in Bullards which he purchased from his uncle Henry Freeman Land.

Although the Bullard depot no longer exists it was for many years a regular stop on the Macon and Brunswick Railroad. The railway company was organized in 1856 and construction of the road began in 1859. The railroad was completed at least 13 miles and reached into Twiggs Co. during the civil war. J. A. Barclay, who lived in the Bullard community of Twiggs Co., was contracted to the Confederate States Central Laboratory in Macon to supply cord wood in 1863 to be picked up at the 13 mile post of the railroad. (1) The rail line was completed from Cochran to Brunswick in 1871. In 1881 the Macon & Brunswick RR was absorbed by the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railway. Southern Railway Company acquired the line in 1894. (2) It is known today as the Norfolk Southern Rail Road Co.

Ruth and Sparks Ramey at the Bullard Depot and Telegraph Office

The caption on the above photo reads: "The section crew at Bullard." Railroad section crews were responsible for maintaining the rail lines and making repairs as needed. A section crew was usually composed of men living in the area. Names written under some of the people in this photo are as follows: "Eddie" under the second man standing from the left; "Bennie" under the fourth man standing from the left; "Millie" under the woman standing on the steps; "Sparks" is standing on the rail car and "Edwards" is standing on the far right.



The above photo is labeled 1916 and the woman is identified as "Millie"

The Macon and Brunswick rail line was a vital link between Twiggs County and Macon from its beginning. As early as February 1861 trains ran a regular schedule from Macon to Bluff Road/Bullard Station and in May 1861 the scheduled stops reached further south in Twiggs Co. to Buzzard Roost. Confederate soldiers leaving for military service often made the trip on the Macon and Brunswick line (3).

Travelers carried news to and from each point on the line as the train made stops on its route. Residents of Twiggs Co. regularly road the Macon & Brunswick to conduct business in Macon. Bullard Station played a role in the Stone Creek train wreck which occurred on February 29, 1896. Immediately following the wreck, which happened late in the evening, Joseph T. Land, an agent and telegraph operator at Bullard's Station made his way from the wreck at Stone Creek to Bullard's where he telegraphed the news of the wreck and a request for help for the injured. (4)

Bullard depot was the scene of a fatal accident in January 1872 when Capt. Norman McDuffie, visiting from Texas, fell and was crushed to death. McDuffie was traveling on the Macon & Brunswick up passenger train. As the train approached the Bullard Station McDuffie stepped from a moving train car. As he tried to ascend the platform steps to enter the depot he slipped and fell between the still moving train and the platform and was killed. (5)

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

Elizabeth Ayers Thompson Bible

Contributed by Angela Collier

Published in 1865 the Elizabeth Ayers Thompson Bible is in poor condition with some loose pages. The Bible also shows signs of water damage. It measures 4" by 7" in size. There are no recorded deaths in this Bible so there may be a page missing. The Bible was passed down through members of the McCart family to the present owner, Angela Collier. The entries below preserve spelling as in the original Bible.

Elizabeth Ayers Thompson was born in Georgia (listed below as "E. C. Ayers") and moved to Tennessee sometime after the death of her husband Isaac Newton Thompson. Elizabeth was the daughter of Jedediah Ayers and Eliza E. O'Barr and through her father was a descendant of two Revolutionary War patriots; Moses Ayers, buried in Hart County, GA and Fredrich W. Aderhold who was a German immigrant.

Pike County was created December 9, 1822 from Monroe County. Zebulon is the county seat. The 1825 tax digest is the earliest available for Pike. The entries above were abstracted from Washington Memorial Library's microfilm # 5485: "A Digest of the Taxable Property of Pike County for the year 1825". The names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Poll – free, white males age 21 and older (after 1825 males over age 60 were exempt from the poll tax)
3. Land in acres with value assessed by the quality of the land (1st, 2nd, 3rd quality or pine)
4. County where the land is located
5. The waters on which the land is situated
6. Adjoining land owners or the district and land lot number of the land
7. Tax owed [Professionals, such as physicians and lawyers, were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
8. Page number of the tax digest on which the person is listed

GAINES-DANIEL-PARHAM-INGRAM

Surveyed May 2006 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

We found that this small cemetery had not been recorded by the Powells in their recorded surveys.

It is located in a field, west of Hwy 230 from Byromville toward Unadilla, north of the Page Family Cemetery. It has chain linked fence, many of the markers are broken. Time has not been kind to this small cemetery.

MOORE CEMETERY

69 IN THE POWELL BOOKS Visited by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson April 2006

This small cemetery is located about two miles from Snow Spring. Located on Co. Rd. 331, South of Hwy 230. Cross Little Creek, go to & thru the next crossroads and the Cemetery will be on your left. [Dillard Moore Road] It will be visible from the road but is in the edge of a field. It is surrounded by a wire fence, When we visited, it was grown up with weeds but had been at some time in the not too distant past spread with a fine rock covering. The farmer has been plowing around it leaving enough space so as not to damage the fence.

OWEN FAMILY CEMETERY

DOOLY COUNTY, GA.

Hwy. 90 – South of Byromville about half way between Byromville and Lilly

Surveyed August 2006 by Helen Hudson & Davine V. Campbell
#6 in the Powell book listing. Across a small gully and fenced separately is another small cemetery that the Powells included in their abstract for cemetery #6. Because they are so obviously two separate cemeteries, we have split the listing. It will be listed as the Owen-Martin-Wilder-Webb-Thompson-Matthews-Bennett cemetery. The Owen cemetery has been cleaned, the other has not.

OWEN-MARTIN-WILDER-WEBB-THOMPSON-MATTHEWS- BENNETT CEMETERY

Surveyed August 21, 2006 by Davine Campbell & Helen Hudson

Located on Hwy 90, South of Byromville, East side of Hwy. About half way between Byromville and Lilly. Fenced, wooded, separated from the OWENS CEMETERY by a narrow strip of land.
This cemetery is NOT cleared but the Owens Cemetery is.

Included in Cemetery #6 in The Dooly Co. History, Vol. 2, by Nora & Watts Powell has the two linked together. They are fenced separately, cared for separately, divided by a strip of land, indicating to us, that they should be listed separately.

HOLMES - KELLAM - ROGERS -FORBES CEMETERY

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell and Helen S. Hudson November 2009

#3 in the Powell books This small overgrown cemetery is located in the side yard of a home on Fourth Street near the center of the block between Church Streets and Youmans Ave., in Vienna, Dooly County, Georgia. In order to visit it, you would need permission from the homeowner since you must go into their yard.

I am listing the burials that we were able to find in the order that we were able to access them. We just recorded them as we could.

Holmes, J.R.	June 25, 1834 - Feb. 4, 1881
Gone But Not Forgotten
Kellam, Sallie Leonard	May 13, 1881 - June 5, 1890
Dau. of R. & L.B. Kellam
Kellam, Russell Baskin	Jan 18, 1877 - Dec. 18, 1877
Infant Son of R. & L.B. Kellam
Kellam, Seth	Oct 28, 1803 - Dec. 16, 1854
Masonic symbol on marker
Rogers, Shepard	Died Dec. 6, 1872 Age abt. 60 years
Masonic symbol on marker
Rogers, Shepard F.	April 22, 1851 - Dec. 20, 1885
Son of Shepard & Nancy S. Rogers
This marker was badly broken
Rogers, Nancy S.	Died Dec. 24, 1886 Aged 72 years
Wife of Shepard Rogers
This marker is also badly broken.
Forbes, Eva Gertrude	Aug. 27 - Jan 21, 1890
Wife of B.F. Forbes

There appeared to be at least two other burials in the cemetery.

I did not find any connection between the various surnames of the people buried in this small cemetery,

R & L.B. are Russell and Lizzie (Elizabeth) B. Kellam. I found them in the census.
Seth Kellam is the father of Russell.
Russell Kellam died in November 1900 and is buried in the Vienna City Cemetery. From the Powell's records there is another child of Russell & Lizzie B. Kellam buried in the Slade Cemetery, located off the road that leads from Cordele to Americus. That daughter was born in Sept 1871 and died in August 1874.

Houston County 1829 Tax Digest

Transcribed by Helen Hudson, prepared by Sandra Morton

These entries were transcribed by Helen Hudson before the Houston Co. courthouse moved from downtown Perry to its new location on the Perry Bypass. Helen used the original 1829 tax book which was then misplaced during the move. There is a microfilm copy of the digest at the Georgia State Archives and one at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, GA.

Helen Shirah Hudson [redacted]

I was fortunate enough to receive a photo album that belonged to my Grandmother on my Mother's side. Unfortunately, there was a number of photos in it that were not identified and Mother did not recognize the people in them.. Granny was ALMA PAULINE LEVERETT daughter of WILEY LEVERETT and his third wife MARY THOMAS (No idea where the Thomas part came from) HAMMOCK/HAMMACK.. She married CLATNUS CLAYTON LEVERETT s/o THOMAS MADISON LEVERETT from the Putnam County, Georgia area & AUGUSTA ANN REBECCA GRANT from the Putnam and Talbot County, Georgia area. Though my great aunt, Clayton's sister, said that Alma and Clayton were distant cousins, I have not been able to tie Wiley to his parents.. Alma was born January 1890 in Houston County, GA and died September 1969 in Warner Robins, Houston County., GA. She was the youngest of a total of 18 children that Wiley fathered and her half siblings and one whole brother married into many of the old Houston County families, WATSON, AMMONS, LONG, JOHNSON, ETHERIDGE, HARDISON, MARSHALL, STAFFORD, HOLLAND, STRIPLING, MILLER, CHRISTIAN and many more. Add the families that their children married into and the members of the HAMMOCK/HAMMACK clan who married into the THOMSON, GOODROW/GOODROE, and TUCKER families and it covers most of north Houston County. If you recognize any of the people in these photos or any of the background material, please let me know.

Taken at the Zeiglar Apts. ca 1948 (Apts. built for people who were employed at the base)

A brief bit of information on the Zeiglar Apartments. This housing was built of large red brick blocks and were in long rows, with connected apartments in each row. They were built for workers at the base. Housing at that time in the area was scarce and most of the people who worked at the base lived out in the country causing problems with transportation to their jobs. One of the stipulations of the facility being built here was that 2,000 housing units had to be built. The ones I remember were in South Zeigler. They had a small kitchen that was partly divided from the living room area by a bookcase type shelf unit. There was also a bathroom with a bath

Top: Father/son? Anyone recognize this family or the location?

Left: I think that every family has at least one of these pony photos in their collection. Now does anyone know who this cute little girl is?

Right: Taken ca 1916 & identified as Helen Thomson, d/o Grover Cleveland Thomson who was the s/o Graham Thomson & Laura Elizabeth Hammock. Helen was Granny's 1st cousin, 1x removed. Just liked the photo and wanted to share it. [I was not named for this cousin] tub and two tiny bedrooms. Since my Uncles worked at the base they and Granny were able to live in one of the apartments. They lived across a field from the old Charles E. Thomas III School. Aunt Alice and her son (she also worked at the base) lived further back from present day Watson Blvd. in the area that would later be destroyed by the tornado.

Contributed by Sherrie M. Nelson

In 2011, while antiquing in Chattanooga, TN, I found this beautiful bridal photo. The bridal attire and the lovely flowers caught my attention. The name "Grace Webber Harper" and the date "4/28/1920" were written on the reverse.

I spent a short amount of time researching the name online and posted some queries on a few message boards but did not get a response. I continued to look for additional clues hoping to eventually reunite the photograph with a family member or at least an interested researcher.

Researching online and mostly on Ancestry.com, I was able to put together several facts in a short amount of time.

A marriage record showed that Grace M. Webber, age 28, married in Chicago, Cook (county), Illinois on 28 Apr 1920 to George Harper.

The Federal Census for 1930 and 1940, Cook Co. Illinois, revealed several additional details.

George Harper was born in Missouri. His occupation was that of a "sign painter" in the industry of "advertising."

Grace Webber was born in Illinois. In 1930, her mother, Norah Webber, was living in the household with them. Grace and George had two children, also named Grace and George, and both were born in Illinois.

Census Summary, 1930:
George, head of household, age 36, born in Missouri
Grace, age 38, born in Illinois
George, age 8
Grace M., age 2 (2 1/12)
Norah Webber, MIL, age 57, born in New York

Census Summary, 1940:
George, age 46
Grace, age 45, was working as a teacher
George W., age 17
Grace Marie, age 12

In addition, the 1930 census stated George's father was born in England while his mother was born in Scotland, Grace's father was born in Wisconsin while her mother was born in New York and Norah Webber's father was born in Ireland while her mother was born in New York. George Harper's WWII draft record revealed he was born in Birmingham, Missouri on Oct 4, 1893. I would still like to reunite this photo with the proper family. Please contact me at [redacted]

Some pages have been repaired with tape, obscuring words. Partially obscured and undecipherable words and names are indicated with an underscore. Spelling and punctuation (and the lack of) has been retained as in the original. Note that the clerk used commas sparingly sometimes causing confusion for the reader. The judges' names at the end of each court session appear to be their own signatures rather than the clerk's copying of their names. Thomas H. Kenan was appointed clerk of the Court of Ordinary in January 1819 succeeding Abner Locke. Kenan had previously served as clerk of the Superior Court of Baldwin Co. His handwriting is not as legible as the handwriting of Abner Locke. In some instances it was necessary to refer to earlier court sessions to help determine names of individuals in the court minutes recorded by Kenan.

CGGS's 2014 Donation to WML's Genealogical & Historical Room

By Georgette Lipford

The Genealogical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon is a very special place to CGGS members. Those of us who began researching before Ancestry.com and other online services became available, thought of it as "home away from home". Some of us "camped out" there on a weekly basis. One CGGS member even considered a few years ago if she should rent an apartment in down town Macon in order to be closer to the library. We remember the busy Saturdays at WML when in order to find an open microfilm reader you needed to arrive by 9:30!

While the Genealogical Room's collection is better than ever and knowledgeable staff is still on hand for guidance and assistance, the microfilm readers are not as busy now and there is plenty of table space to spread out books and files. Genealogists are relying on the internet now as their primary (and sometimes only) research option. Recently, CGGS pledged to remind local researchers what a superb collection WML possesses and to encourage greater utilization of the Genealogy Room.

The CGGS July 2014 meeting was held at WML on a Saturday with a twofold purpose: to present our annual donation to the library in the amount of $1,200 and to encourage CGGS members and the local genealogical community to take advantage of the extensive resources at WML. Head Librarian, Muriel Jackson, welcomed CGGS with an update of the library's holdings which include 32,000 volumes and 24,000 microforms.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

QUARTERLY STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Nelson & Marsha Meyer
Newsletter Editor – Sandra Morton

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Nonmembers may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

C.G.G.S. JOURNAL SURNAME INDEX VOL. 36 FOR THE YEAR 2014

Compiled by Helen Shirah Hudson

The CGGS Journal surname index for the year 2014 will not include the Dooly County Williams-Peacock and Hepzibah cemeteries since each contained a surname index when they appeared in Issue #1. To make it easier to find the family that you are searching for, Pages 1-52 are in Issue No. 1 and Pages 53-100 are in Issue No. 2. Check the entire page listed for a surname since that name may appear more than once. Also keep in mind that spelling of names was not consistent and may appear spelled in more than one way within the same document. Check carefully for any names that may sound like your family surname. Some of the documents that were abstracted for these Journals were signed with a mark, meaning that the spelling of the name was probably done by a nonfamily member using how it sounded.

Just looking at the surnames listed and sounding them out may help you find a nontraditional spelling of your family name.

Part III

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847 – 1933) lived in Dooley County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer, Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. CGGS member A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from the CGGSJ issue No. 1 of Volume 36 (2014).

HENDERSON BAPTIST CHURCH & CEMETERY

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson May 2008 with some updates January 2013

Cemetery #42 in the Powell's Dooly County Books. Many of the people that are buried here have ties to Dooly County, Houston County and Macon County.

When entering the chain link fence gate, you will be going down the center of the Henderson Baptist Church Cemetery. We elected to name the section on our left, which is south of the drive, as SOUTH SECTION – S1-1 means South Section – Row 1 – Grave 1, etc.
NORTH SECTION – N1-146 means North Section – Row 1 Grave No. continues
This Cemetery has "different" CSA Markers They are rounded on the top, with the letters C. V. for Confederate Veteran rather than CSA.
DC-GVV=Death Certificate on line at the Georgia Virtual Vault.
* Before the name = there is an obit in the newspaper and the abstract is probably in Addie Howell's "Cemeteries & Obituaries of Houston Co., GA" & we have referred to it.
If a lot is coped or fenced, I have put a notation before and after with the dominent name in that lot unless it has a different lot owner listed. In the West end of the cemetery there are lots marked off with initial-type lot markers. Those were not recorded, only lots with burials were recorded. A row may actually be a double row since many of the families were grouped that way and if a lot was deep [E & W], coped and obviously the same family group, they will be recorded together.

OLIVER P. SWEARINGEN CEMETERY (SWEARINGEN CEM. #2)

Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson and Davine V. Campbell March 7, 2007

Listed as # 39 in Watts & Nora Powell's Vol. II. Since Oliver P. Swearingen would be the family elder I am using his name for this cemetery.

Located: From Vienna, North on Hwy 90, turn right on Camp Ground Road, cross the railroad tracks. There will be a couple of roads turning left, the Cemetery is "Grown Up", contained in a wrought iron fence, in the yard of a two-story house facing the corner. When we visited there was several trailers for semis parked nearby. These burials had to be surveyed as they could be reached. My notes are enclosed in brackets.

SWEARINGEN, Edd Lee "My Husband"	June 3, 1864 - May 3, 1897	1
FUDGE, Joseph Hinton, s/o J.T. & N.L. [Possibly M.L./Mary L.]	Dec. 15, 1891 - Mch.18,1892	2
SWEARINGEN, Ida May, d/o O.P. & G.H.	Died July 1863 @ 2 Mos.	3
SWEARINGEN, Georgia A.H. w/o O.P. [2nd wife of O.P., Sr.]	Mar. 18, 1822 - Jan. 6, 1866	4
SWEARINGEN, Oliver P. [Sr.]	June 19, 1819 - May 30, 1897	5
SWEARINGEN, George F. "Father"	Dec. 8, 1845 - May 12, 1908	6
SWEARINGEN, Eliza Powell, d/o O.P. & Lucy	Apr.9, 1882 - Mar.2,1883	7
SWEARINGEN, Lucy M. w/o O. P., "Our Mother" [w/o O.P., Jr.]	Jan. 1, 1850 - Aug. 29, 1901	8
SWEARINGEN, Augustus Virginia d/o O.P. & G. H.	Sept. 22, 1858 - July 29, 1895	9
SWEARINGEN, G. Bascom	Feb. 12, 1874 - Nov. 16, 1882	10

[George Bascombe per posted information, G. Bascom is how it appears on the marker]

I do not know where Nancy Fenn Collier Swearingen, 1st wife of Oliver P., Sr. is buried. She died Feb. 13, 1846 after the birth of their son [this information is from an old family book found on line].

The Fudge child was a relative. There are Fudge families in Dooly and Miss Frances Jane Fudge of Houston Co., GA married Thomas Augustus Swearingen, b/o Oliver P. Swearingen, May 20, 1850. There is a J.T. Fudge boarding with the S.M. Byrom family in 1880, age 22. He is a clerk in a store, probably there in Byromville. J.T. died

The family's fortune waxed during the days of big plantations and waned as did many in the South during reconstruction. In the 1860 census, O.P. Swearingen's real estate was valued at $4,670. and personal property at $10,750 reflecting the value of his slaves. In 1870, his real estate is valued at $909. and personal property at $500. In 1866 the only thing listed in the Georgia Tax Digest for O.P. that was not real estate was one watch.

More information on this cemetery would be appreciated.

Forgotten Graves: Bones in the Bank

By Richard Gambill

Editor's Note: Genealogists are all concerned about lost graves. We worry that everyone who knew the location of an ancestor's unmarked grave, or in some cases marked grave, has died and that the information is lost. The passage of time, the effects of the environment and changes in the landscape can obscure or destroy a gravesite. CGGS member Richard Gambill shares the following story of his personal involvement in the finding of graves at the site of a former poor house cemetery in Bibb County. At the time Richard was working construction for the Brown and Williamson tobacco plant located on Weaver Rd. near the Cochran Short Route, southeast of Macon. The former Roff Home which was the Bibb County alms house moved southeast of Macon about 1920. It operated in that neighborhood as a home for the old and indigent until its closing about 1968. At some point prior to construction of the Brown and Williamson plant the poor house cemetery was reportedly relocated. In a recent interview CGGS member Joyce Green recalled what researcher Bobby Stokes told her of the poor house cemetery: "Bobby knew the man who was instructed to remove the cemetery markers and to remove any signs of a cemetery. The markers were then stored in a warehouse. Bobby always doubted that the graves were ever actually moved from their original location". (1) Richard Gambill's story shows that either the cemetery was not relocated or that some graves were missed in the relocation process.

I was the fourth plumber hired to work on the Brown and Williamson project in 1973 or 74. Daniels Construction Co. was construction manager for the project and they hired all the trades to work. Daniels had the plumbing crews installing all the outside utility work (sanitary and storm sewers, domestic and fire protection water services).

My helper and I were grading a ditch behind a piece of excavating equipment when something half round fell off the ditch bank into our grading work. The helper picked it up and knocked the dirt off it on his shovel handle. With the dirt off, it appeared to be some kind of bowl without a flat bottom. He turned it over in his hands, handed it to me and asked me if I knew what it might be. Rubbing the outside of the bowl with a gloved thumb, I noticed the sutures in the plates that appeared to be bone. The size and shape lead me to believe that it was the back half of a human skull. I handed it back and told him what I thought. He was surprised and flipped it over and over in his hands, finally looking up from it and saying that it would make a good ash tray.

I shrugged and started looking up on the edges of the ditch bank. We had found all kinds of strange stuff in the ditches and backfill on this construction site. The site was the location of part of old Camp Wheeler, a US Army training base during WWI and again during WWII. We had followed the excavation equipment through all sorts of army trash. Medical tools, surgical instruments and even an artillery projectile with bronze fuse had all fallen out of the banks and excavated material at one time or another on this ditch line.

Up high in the ditch bank I noticed what looked like two sticks protruding from the wall at an angle. I marked the spot on the bank with a large clod of red earth and went back to work grading the ditch. This kind of work was usually the purview of labor gangs but it amounted to cleaning the bottom of the ditch and keeping the excavator operation on the correct slope to support the flow in the sewer line. But work is work and the pay was good.

At break time my helper and I took shovels and went back to the marked spot. Looking over the edge I could see that the sticks now looked like bones. Using shovels we dug down to the level of the bones and then over lunch and afternoon break we preformed a careful excavation of the rest of the emerging body with trowels and paint brushes from the gang tool box.

The bank bones appeared to be the thigh bones of a female body. The excavator had dug through the grave at an angle cutting almost half of one thigh and taking off the knee on the other leg. The skull was crushed from the overburden and the hands were crossed on her chest. There was a small hank of longish gray hair on a piece of the skull and a small piece of costume jewelry on the chest. The jewelry had protected a small piece of cloth from her dress. The excavation contained rusted nails and cheap casket hardware handles. The coffin was reduced to a line of dark brown dirt around the remains.
Our archeological digging soon attracted the attention of others. The excavation equipment operator came over and declared that we had uncovered the body of a monkey (not being willing to acknowledge that he had just dug through a cemetery). I told him I thought it would be unusual to bury a monkey in a coffin. I had the same answer for the Indian burial ground proposal from another member of the crew. The Utility Supervisor came by on his Honda Minitrail, took one look, and left for the construction office.

Before the close of business that afternoon we were visited by two Macon Police Detectives. They had a conference on the bank over the bones with the construction project manager (we, the excavators, were not invited). After the meeting the detectives left and we were instructed to build a tent over the remains and cease working on this ditch line. There followed a couple of days of confusion while our supervisors tried to find our crew somewhere else to work. Rumors flew on the construction site. Construction workers are the world's worst gossips.

We were reassigned to other work, but were close enough to observe the activity around the grave and we, periodically, had to go and rebuilt the tent. The grading supervisor sent an earth mover (a piece of equipment called a "Pan") to the ditch line and had the top soil removed from each side of the ditch for two or three Pan widths. With the top soil gone, you could clearly see the rectangular patches of disturbed earth that indicated additional graves. A few days later, two grave diggers with a pickup truck came and started digging up the additions remains. The bones were collected and put into small concrete coffins (which looked like coffins for children). They collected eight or nine sets of bones and hauled them off. All of this was done by hand and the graves were four to six feet deep so it took this two-man crew a couple of weeks or so to get their work done.

The remains were taken to a cemetery in Macon and re-interred with ceremony. The burial made the local news papers. We were all finally told that the site, in addition to being a military training base, had been the location of a poor house with a pauper's cemetery. The known graves had been relocated years ago, but they had not known how many, unmarked, graves there were. Our ditch line through the graves was ten or twelve feet wide and I am certain that a number of bodies were in the back fill.

All the members of the construction crew who witnessed the find of these graves are now scattered to the wind. The Brown and Williamson cigarette plant is closed and mothballed. I wonder how many people remember this story.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

This cemetery was surveyed in 1974 for "Cemeteries And Obituaries Of Houston County, Georgia", compiled by Addie Howell. At that time only one grave was recorded with the note that other graves are unmarked, no grave count given. Now there are two markers showing one for Elizabeth Seago Louvitte, wife of James Louvitte and one for Caswell Sullivan. We probed and found another grave that had brick as a slab. It was adult sized and not in the same line as the headstones for Elizabeth Louvitte and Caswell Sullivan. We have kept the name Louvitte Cemetery since because that is the way it is in the "Cemetery Book" and the person who put it on Find-A-Grave used that entry to post it. Actually Caswell Sullivan was buried first.

Back in 1974 this area is described as "woods south of Centerville, Ga.", now it is included in the subdivision, Carter Woods West, LL116, 5th Dist., Lot 20, Block B, 117 Briarmoor Dr. The cemetery is still wooded and is located between two inhabited new homes. We parked at the edge of the lot and walked into the woods, it is just a few steps but is not really visible from the road.

We know that the following two marked burials are in this cemetery:
Louvitte, Elizabeth Seago, wife of James Louvitte B Sept. 21, 1833 D Mar. 7, 1909
Sullivan, Caswell B July 9, 1848 D Apr. 23, 1887 [Remembered By His Devoted Wife]

The third grave has what appears to be the base of an upright marker at the head of it but a probable foot marker with only the initials E.S. [Elizabeth Seago?] is stuck into it. The grave site has bricks laid for a slab and is adult sized.

There are lots of leaves and probing is difficult due to the tree roots but we did find the unmarked grave and the marker for Elizabeth. Both were well covered with dirt and leaves.

Elizabeth Seago Louvitte

Elizabeth is a bit of a mystery. Since I find an Elizabeth Lovell of the right age in the 1900 census in the house hold of Jane Sullivan listed as an aunt, this might provide the ties to Caswell and be the reason she is buried in this cemetery. Is this the Jane who was married to Carswell or another Jane?

Caswell Sullivan

Caswell is the son of Abel Sullivan and Priscilla Hearn. He was married at least twice. In the Thursday, May 5, 1887 issue of The Houston Home Journal the following was listed under the column, "From A New Village", Smithville, a village about four miles west of York, on the district line between the Upper and Lower Fifth districts."

"Mr. Casbin [sic] Sullivan, died last Friday night near this place, after an illness of a few days with pneumonia."

In the 1850 Census for Dist. 5 [Upper], Houston Co., GA he is listed as age 4, in the home of his parents and siblings.

In the 1864 "Joe Brown Census", 23rd. Senatorial District, 769th Militia District:
Abel Sullivan is listed as 44 yrs. old, farmer, born in GA

Louvitte Cemetery

C. Sullivan is listed as 16 yrs. 5 mos. old, farmer, born in GA
Thomas Sullivan is listed as 57 yrs. old, farmer, born in GA Possible connection

There is a marriage for Caswell Sullivan and Mollie Daniels in Houston Co., GA, Dec. 27, 1876 and another with the license in Bibb Co., GA but the marriage in Houston Co., GA to Sarah Jane Willoughby. Lots of questions here. Where is wife #1 & #2? Who is wife #1?

The 1880 Census for Houston Co., Lower 5th we find Caswell, age 30, Jane [wife] age 22 and Jinnie [daughter] age 8. From information that I have found, Caswell and Sarah Jane had four children together. I have not proved any of these children for Caswell with the exception of Jinnie who appears in the 1880 census only to disappear.

If anyone out there knows more about this cemetery, please share.

Taken from Briarmoore Dr., North East corner of the lot.

SANGSTER - DOROUGH - GOLMITZ CEMETERY

Listed as the Sangster Family Cemetery #41 in the Powell Books.
Dooly County, Georgia Surveyed August 2006 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

This cemetery is located South of the Byromville-Pinehurst Road and just beyond the Midway Independent Methodist Church cemetery (Church had burned prior to our visit.), off of Lilly Rd.. Turn right on a dirt field road and the cemetery is on your right. This cemetery is still active with a burial being held as recently as June 2008 per an obituary that appeared in the Macon Telegraph.

A gentleman that we met at the Lilly Cemetery took us to this cemetery.

Pike County was created December 9, 1822 from Monroe County. Zebulon is the county seat. The 1825 tax digest is the earliest available for Pike. The entries above were transcribed from Washington Memorial Library Genealogy Room's microfilm # 5485: "A Digest of the Taxable Property of Pike County for the year 1825". Tax payers names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Poll – free, white males age 21 and older (after 1825 males over age 60 were exempt from the poll tax)
3. Land in acres with value assessed by the quality of the land (1st, 2nd, 3rd quality or pine)
4. County where the land is located
5. The waters on which the land is situated
6. Adjoining land owners or the district and land lot number of the land
7. Tax owed [Professionals, such as physicians and lawyers, were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
8. Page number of the tax digest on which the person is listed

Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part IV

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847 – 1933) lived in Dooly County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer, Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. CGGS member A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from the CGGSJ issue No. 1 of Volume 37 (2015)

Oh Victory I can see 1st
There is a land beyond the Skies
Yes where troubles cease to be
And in those Starry Skies
Jesus Still remembers me
Chorus
When Jesus voice bids me arise
How joyfull it will be
To March in triumph through the Skies
And Shout oh Victory I can See
Bline and feeble now I be
And my trembling footsteps see
But Jesus Speakes to me
Weep no more Ill walk with thee
(3)
There is a home on that bright Shore
Where the grief of life are ore
There no Tears will ever be
For Jesus wipes those tears for me
(4)
Come my loved ones will you goe
With me to that golden Shore
There our loved ones we shall meet
And worship at the Saviours feet
(5)
When life is oer the race is run
Joy in Heaven have just begun
Pearly gates will open wide
When Jesus bears us oer the tide

Baldwin County, Georgia
Businesses and Planters of 1883

Contributed by Sandra Morton

The following information was abstracted from the Georgia State Gazetteer, Business & Planter's Directory, 1883, Vol. III.[1] As much as possible, spelling and punctuation was retained as it was printed in the Directory. All the communities in Baldwin County that could be identified using Baldwin County map circa 1869 in the Digital Library of Georgia Archives[2] and the Georgia Atlas[3] have been included. The towns are alphabetized with the gazetteer's corresponding information included. Many towns include a list of businessmen and town leaders, and a separate list of farmers. Some communities only identify the distance to the nearest post office. There are no Fish Culturists in Baldwin County.

Midway – Baldwin County
Milledgeville is the nearest postoffice for this place.

Milledgeville – (m.o.) – Baldwin County Seat. – M. & A. and M. & E. R. Rs.

Milledgeville, for many years, was the capital of the State. It is well situated on the Oconee River, at an altitude of 310 feet above sea level, 32 miles from Macon, 93 from Augusta and 135 from Atlanta. Population about 4,000, with five white—Baptist, Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian—and three colored—Baptist and two Methodist—churches, two white and two colored schools, a banking house, weekly paper, Union and Recorder, several carriage and wagon shops, planing mill, offices of Western Union Telegraph and Southern Express. The Middle Georgia Military and Agricultural College, a department of the University of Georgia, which is located at Athens, occupies the old capitol building. The State Lunatic Asylum is one and a half miles from the city, and at present contains 1,013 inmates. The fire department, which is volunteer, is very efficient. Cotton is the chief production, about 13,000 bales, and 125 carloads of the seed being shipped annually. Carlos G. Wilson, P.M. Ben. Gauze, assistant.

DEDICATION OF THE CSA MARKER FOR ROBERT W.G. SHIRAH

Helen Shirah Hudson

Robert W.G. Shirah died August 9, 1879. He was a CSA veteran having served in Company G of the 8th Regiment of the 67th Georgia Cavalry . He enlisted May 31, 1862 in Griffin, Georgia and is listed as a resident of Spalding County, Georgia, though in 1860 he is in the Federal Census with his mother and sister, living in Dist. 5 of Houston Co., GA+ He served the Confederate States of America and the State of Georgia until he was captured by Union forces in Feb. 18, 1865 near Greenville, N.C. He was confined on March 9, 1865 at Military Prison, Camp Hamilton, Virginia then transferred on March 24, 1865 to Point Lookout Prison, MD where he was held until his release June 19, 1865. Upon his release, he made his way back home to Georgia. In September 26, 1869 [Bibb County, Georgia, Book D, Page 315] he married Catherine B. (Kittie) McGlamery. Together they had 4 children, Robert William [Willie], John [Johnny], James Carey [Jimmy] and Cora Etta [Corrie].

Times were hard when Robert died and his family did not put a permanent marker on his grave. We know that he was buried in the Hancock Family Cemetery from information found in his mother's will. Lovie Smith Shirah, his mother, is also buried in the Hancock Cemetery. She died in 1897 and has a permanent marker. Where Robert's father, Jacob William Shirah, is buried is not known though it might have been in the now destroyed Shirah Cemetery in present day Peach Co., GA. The family's connection to the Hancock family was through Lovie's sister, Sara Smith Hancock.

The Hancock Family Cemetery is now under the care of the Georgia Society Order of Confederate Rose, Cpl. David H. Holleman-Shiloh Roses Chapter #9 of Warner Robins, Georgia. This group has cleaned the overgrowth and restored the grave sites where needed.

Even though it was known that Robert W.G. Shirah was buried in the Hancock Family Cemetery, there was no visible grave for him. There was no headstone recorded for him when the surveys were taken for "Cemeteries and Obituaries of Houston County, Georgia" by Addie Howell and her helpers about 1980. It was decided that since the cemetery was laid out in an orderly fashion, that the logical place for Robert to be buried was on the north side of his mother and if nothing was located during the clean up like a buried slab or buried marker this is where his marker would be placed. A marker or slab was not found and preparation for the placement of the Veteran's marker was being done, when the remains of a wooden marker were located, slivers of oak, in the probable grave area. These slivers were returned in the site when the headstone was placed. The cemetery is outlined with a single row of field stones.

A Veteran Marker Honoring his service was obtained, and placed at the head of his probable burial location. This marker was dedicated on Saturday, January 28, 2017, shortly after noon, with family members and Sons of the Confederate Veteran members, many in uniform, present. Prayers were said, information on all three of the CSA veterans buried in the cemetery was presented. Jeffrey Shirah, a descendent [Robert is his 2nd great grandfather], read a tribute to this brave soldier. Two ladies from the reenactment group laid roses on the graves. The marker was revealed after having been covered by the banner for the Georgia Society Order of Confederate Rose, Cpl. David H. Holleman-Shiloh Roses Chapter #9 of Warner Robins, Georgia. A 21 gun salute was given followed by a bagpipe melody of 1860s era music. It was a beautiful tribute to all the soldiers buried in this small cemetery.

DEDICATION OF THE CSA MARKER FOR ROBERT W.G. SHIRAH

Holleman-Shiloh Roses Chapter #9 of Warner Robins, Georgia is an Auxiliary to the Georgia Division Sons of Confederate Veterans Lt. James T. Woodward Camp 1399 in Warner Robins Georgia. It does not require CSA lineage but requires a desire to preserve and protect the history and values of the Confederate States of America and is open to men, women and children. They have worked in Old Shiloh cemetery as well as the Hancock and others in this region. More can be learned about them at: www.shilohroses.org/

Some pages were repaired with tape, obscuring words. Partially obscured and undecipherable words and names are indicated with an underscore. Spelling and punctuation (and the lack of) has been retained as in the original. Note that the clerk used commas sparingly sometimes causing confusion for the reader. The judges' names at the end of each court session appear to be their own signatures rather than the clerk's copying of their names. Thomas H. Kenan was appointed clerk of the Court of Ordinary in January 1819 succeeding Abner Locke. Kenan had previously served as clerk of the Superior Court of Baldwin Co. His handwriting is not as legible as the handwriting of Abner Locke. In some instances it was necessary to refer to earlier court sessions to help determine names of individuals in the court minutes recorded by Kenan.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981, the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, federal census records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The Society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia. In recent years, monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Electric Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, GA at 7:00 p.m. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is often conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who have found a better way of accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on the website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this quarterly. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

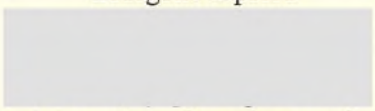
The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Non-members may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

C.G.G.S. JOURNAL SURNAME INDEX VOL. 37 FOR THE YEAR 2015

Compiled by Helen Shirah Hudson

The C.G.G.S. Journal surname index for the year 2015 will not include the Henderson Baptist Church cemetery. It was fully indexed when it was printed in Vol. I.

To make it easier for you to find a surname in the Journal that is in the index, pages 1-52 are contained in Issue No. 1 and pages 53-100 are in Issue No. 2. Check the entire page, a surname may appear more than once on a page. The spelling of the various names are not consistent, check all possible spellings. If a document was signed with a mark, the signer did not know how to write or spell their name and whoever recorded it wrote down how they thought it should be spelled. Take into consideration accents that could make it difficult to understand the person giving the information.

TIPPETTVILLE CEMETERY

Surveyed November 2006 by Davine Campbell & Helen Hudson

At Vienna, cross I-75 traveling East, Across from the Truck Stop you will see that Hwy 215 continues straight East & TIPPETTVILLE ROAD, veers to the left. Take Tippettville Road, it seems like forever, you will see Tippettville Baptist Church on the left and the Cemetery will be on right, the road going in is just before the church. We started our survey on the East side of the cemetery. In the Alphabetical Index, any name that may have appeared on the marker is indexed to help find family members. NDD = No death date on marker

End Survey of Tippettville Cemetery

TIPPETTVILLE CEMETERY

Note: When we were doing our survey, there was a lady visiting the cemetery who told us that the Mixon-Tydings burial was a grandmother and granddaughter who were killed in the Tornado that devastated Warner Robins. We noted it on the survey since it was so unusual.

NOTE: The names in this index will NOT appear in the yearly index for this publication.

Anyone who lived in the middle Georgia area in 1953 will never forget the powerful tornado that swept through Warner Robins and Robins Air Force Base the evening of April 30. It touched many families, through death, injuries and loss of homes and personal possessions.

Family Bible Record of John Harris and Hester Abigail Williams DUKES

Transcribed and submitted by Sherrie Mixon Dukes

This bible record is transcribed exactly as written with a few exceptions. Spelling was corrected for some common words (i.e. months of the year and "born" vs "borned). Some words or notes contained in parenthesis ( ) were transcribed exactly as written. Names contained in brackets [ ] represent my personal research about this family. Some entries are duplicated in the bible. In addition, this bible record contained some named individuals with corresponding birth data but it is not published here in order to protect the privacy of those persons still living.

This Holy Bible contains both the Old and New Testaments and it was copyrighted in 1903 by A. J. Holman & Co., Philadelphia.

HOLY MATRIMONY:
John Harris Dukes and Hester Abigail Williams were married on the 24th of November in the year of our Lord 1901.
Note: The marriage certification page contains birth and death dates which appear to be added later, for both John and Abigail.
John Harris Dukes, Born Dec 27, 1882; Died April 3, 1947
Hester Abigail Williams, Born Feb 17, 1883; Died May 12, 1954
There is a note under the date of the marriage that reads "on Grandpa Williams' birthday."

Note in the front of this bible reads:
"This is the Family Bible of John Harris and Hester Abigail Dukes with dates of births, etc. This [note] was written by their last remaining of children, Denver Alton Dukes, April 15, 2009."

This is the Family Bible of John Harris and Hester Abigail Dukes
(with dates of births, etc.

This was written by their last surviving 7
Children, Denver Alton Dukes, April 15, 2009.

Denver Alton Dukes was the last living child of John Harris and Hester Abigail Williams DUKES of Carroll County, Georgia. Denver died September 7, 2016. Upon his death, this beautiful family bible was transferred into the possession of his niece, Vickie Gilly. Questions about this bible or the entries therein can be directed to Sherrie Mixon Dukes, [redacted]. It has been my pleasure to facilitate the publishing of this family record. -Sherrie

Upson County Businesses and Planters of 1883

Contributed by Sherrie Mixon Dukes

The following information was abstracted from the Georgia State Gazetteer, Business & Planter's Directory, 1883, Vol. III.[1] Spelling and punctuation was retained as it was printed in the Directory. All the communities that could be identified for Upson County are included here. Farmers in the various communities are listed. "P.M." signifies Post Master. The "express" service referred to was for expedited shipping of goods and parcels (perhaps similar to the use today of UPS and FedEx). There is a lengthy list of businesses by trade at the back of this Business and Planter's Directory; none of that information is included in this article.

Upson County – County seat, Thomaston
Population, whites 6,133; colored 6,267; acres of improved land, 75,925; value of farms, $856,653; value of farm products, $669,978. Finances managed by Board of Commissioners.

Contributor's Note: Current day roadmaps and highway signs spell the creek at Lamar's Mill "Auchumpkee" in lieu of "Oakchunky." "Tobler" in lieu of "Tabler" creek runs through Tobler and Waymanville on the eastern side of Upson County. Per website http://www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/~gaupson/waterway.htm, Tobler creek was at one time known as Little Potato Creek. Big Potato Creek ran north to south from the northern part of Upson County all the way to the Flint River near the southern border.

Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part V

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847 – 1933) lived in Dooly County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer, Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from the CGGSJ issue No. 2 of Volume 37.

[Editor's Note: The previous installment ended with a list of births and deaths spanning the years 1885 – 1892 and a poem dated 1907. The diary resumes on the page following the poem. Sallie generally made diary entries on Saturday nights but there is no entry for August 1st]

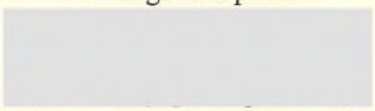
The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford



QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Non-members may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

SMYRNA METHODIST CHURCH [near Harmony]

THIS CEMETERY IS MERGED WITH CEMETERY NO. 32 (HARMONY) IN WATTS & NORA POWELL BK.

Surveyed by Helen Shirah Hudson & Davine V. Campbell

Located: Take Pinehurst to Hawkinsville Road from Pinehurst. It will be on your left, where Co. Rd. 241 to Alligator Pond, crosses the Pinehurst-Hawkinsville Rd. Harmony Baptist Church has a large cemetery back of it and the sign indicated that it is HARMONY-SMYRNA. We chose to separate them since they seem to be two different cemeteries and we understand that the Smyrna Methodist used to stand in front of it. This survey is of the smaller Cemetery across the road from the church. [West end, South to North] New Chain Link Fence on three sides with the opening toward the dirt road between it and Harmony Church.

Background on Smyrna Methodist Church Cemetery

By A Stephen Johnson

Many of my relatives are buried in the cemetery at Smyrna Methodist Church. There were originally two churches there, one Baptist and one Methodist. I vaguely remember two old wooden churches standing side by side when I attended a family reunion there in the 1950s. My grandfather, a Methodist minister, told the old joke that the Baptists would be singing the hymn "Will there be any Stars in my Crown?" while the Methodists were singing "No, Not One".

When Smyrna Methodist Church was dissolved, the South Georgia Conference sold the building to a funeral home in Vienna who used it as a chapel. My great-grandparents, Dr. Melancton B. Johnson and Mary Frances Harvard Johnson, are among those buried at Smyrna. They owned the land adjacent to the church and sold the land to the Methodist Church in 1883. The deed read as follows:

Georgia }
Dooly County } This indenture made this 31st day of July in the year of our Lord Eighteen hundred and Eighty three between M. B. and Mary F. Johnson of the one part and the Trustees of the Smyrna Methodist Church and their successors in office of the other part, all of the county aforesaid, Witnesseth: that the said M. B. and Mary F. Johnson for and in consideration of the law, Respect for Religion and Christian Esteem do donate to the Smyrna Methodist Church and Trustees of the same and their successors in office One acre of land joining the Baptist Church on the west and the old Masonic lot on the south being part of Lot No. 154 situate, lying and being in the Third District of Dooly County and State aforesaid.
In Witness whereof the said M. B. and Mary F. Johnson have hereunto set their hand and affixed their seal the day and year above written

Signed Sealed and delivered — Mary F. Johnson
M. B. Johnson

In presence of Nesbit Vinson
J.M.V. Williams J.P.
Recorded in Deed Book S, page 160, Dooly County

From the above deed it is apparent that the Baptist Church was at this location first but a good many of those buried in the cemetery were Methodists. All of my own relatives were Methodists. The Harvards in Georgia are all related to me since they descend from a single ancestor. Mary Frances Harvard's father was Stephen Harvard, from whom I get my name by way of my grandfather and father. His father, John Harvard, first appeared in Burke County, Georgia in 1793 and moved to Dooly County about 1822.

Dr. Melancton B. Johnson was born in Cambridge, New York but grew up in Twiggs County, Georgia. His father came to Georgia in the 1820's and his story as told by my grandfather is included in the Twiggs County history book.

Pike County was created December 9, 1822 from Monroe County. Zebulon is the county seat. The 1825 tax digest is the earliest available for Pike. The entries above were abstracted from Washington Memorial Library microfilm # 5485: "A Digest of the Taxable Property of Pike County for the year 1825". The names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Poll – free, white males age 21 and older (after 1825 males over age 60 were exempt from the poll tax)
3. Land in acres with value assessed by the quality of the land (1st, 2nd, 3rd quality or pine)
4. County where the land is located
5. The waters on which the land is situated
6. Adjoining land owners or the district and land lot number of the land
7. Tax owed [Professionals, such as physicians and lawyers, were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
8. Page number of the tax digest on which the person is listed

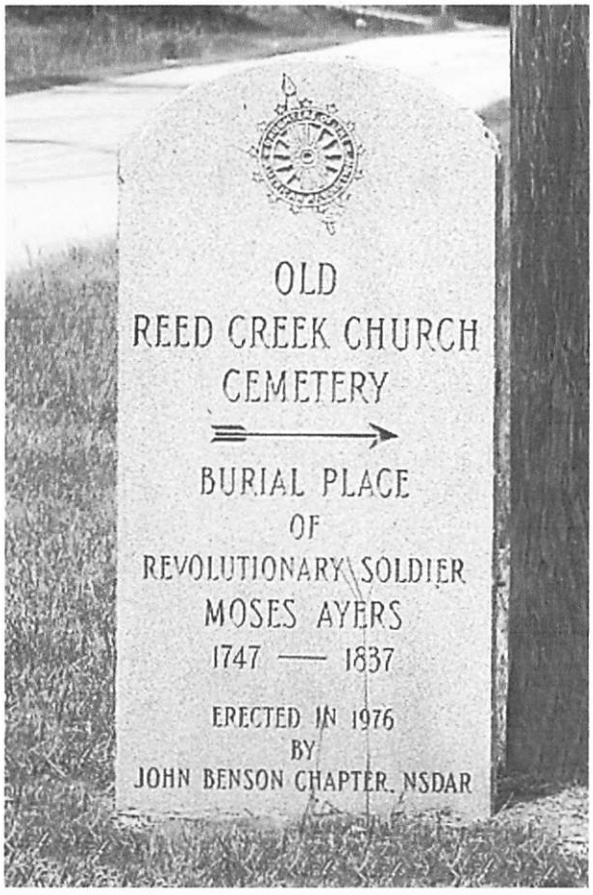
My Search for the Grave of Moses Ayers

By Angela Collier

My fifth great-grandfather, Moses Ayers, fought in the Revolutionary War. He was born on September 11, 1747, in Virginia. His wife was Abigail Payne. He died on August 25, 1833, having lived a long life of 85 years. In the early 1800's Moses moved to Georgia and lived in Franklin County where he appeared on the 1820 tax list. Although he lived in Franklin County at the time of his death his grave is located in what is now Hart County. The original Franklin County included all of the territory now in Banks, Barrow, Clarke, Jackson, Oconee, and Stephens counties, and parts of the modern-day Gwinnett, Hall, Hart, and Madison counties, as well as three counties that are now part of South Carolina.

I thought the search for his gravestone would be relatively simple. After all I had a copy of a newspaper article from the Hartwell Sun with a picture of his Revolutionary War service grave marker. The article also gave the town and church cemetery name where he was buried. It should have been a cinch...but it wasn't so easy.

Finding Reed Creek Church in Hartwell, Georgia was easy enough. Located on the church grounds was a large cemetery. I jumped out of my car and quickly started looking for the marker I had seen in the article. I was looking for the marker reading "Old Reed Creek Church Cemetery" (pictured below).



After about a half hour of futile searching the church service let out and I approached an older member of the congregation. He was kind enough to let me know the church had moved from its original location several years ago. After further explanations and a revised set of directions I found the new location along with the marker. It was not located in the graveyard but rather on the side of the road nearby. It took me a moment to distinguish several headstones in a storage yard behind a chain link fence. The area was on a hillside full of weeds and barren patches. The tallest monument caught my attention and I held high hopes that it was in honor of my ancestor. However, when I finally got inside the storage yard and past the dog I realized that Moses' gravestone was a tiny marker with the name of his wife, Abigail, listed below. The only evidence that there was ever a church in this location was the tall marker that I originally spotted that had stood nearby.

I took photos with a mixed sense of accomplishment and sadness at the state of his final resting place. I also made sure to take photos of the crossroads nearby just in case I ever came near the area again. I left pleased that I had finally found my ancestor, Moses Ayers, but I knew before long he would be lost forever to the unkind hands of time.

Charles R. Ellis Family Bible

Prepared by Georgette Lipford

Editor's Note: This Bible was published in 1868 in Philadelphia by William W. Harding. The front and back boards of this Bible are loose and there are a few loose pages of religious illustrations but otherwise it is in fair condition. The family record pages are securely bound in the Bible and in good condition. The children's birth entries all seem to have been made at the same time with the exception of the last one listed. The Bible has two "Births" pages and the second "Births" page was used by the family to record the place of birth of each person except the youngest child. Charles Randolph Ellis' death is recorded in the Bible as occurring in 1917 however, his Indiana death certificate shows the death occurred in 1916. The death certificate also provides the details that he was a farmer and the son of Samuel Ellis and Catherine Kain. A contributing cause of death was the loss of his left arm by a mowing machine accident. [Ancestry.com. "Indiana Death Certificates, 1899-2011 (database online). Lehi, UT, 2015. Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part VI

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847-1933) lived in Dooly County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Jacob's sister, Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from issue No. 1 of Volume 38.

Guide thou us O gracious Father
Hold us in thy found embrace
When Temtation's lure us onward
Lead where we may See thy face
When we know that thou art gridy (guiding?)
We can live without a fear let us feel thy watchful presence let us know that though art near Comfort thou when friends forsake us Bear us up when cares assail
Well not fear the temters Power led by him who cannot fail guid us Lord through life
Long Jurney this is now our Earnest cry lo I hear his loveing answer I will guide thee with mine Eye

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Non-members may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

C.G.G.S. JOURNAL SURNAME INDEX VOL. 38 FOR THE YEAR 2016

Compiled by Helen Shirah Hudson

The C.G.G.S. Journal surname index for the year 2016 will not include the Tippettville Cemetery or the Smyrna Methodist Church [near Harmony] Cemetery from Dooly County since they both were listed with alphabetical Indexes when they were published.

To help you find a surname a little easier in the Journal from the index, pages 1-48 are in Issue No. 1 and pages 49-92 are in Issue No. 2. A surname may appear more than once per page, so check carefully. Many of these surnames were spelled in various ways, the recorder wrote what they heard, so check all possible spellings, ie, Bateman, Baitman. Your family has not always spelled their surname the same and you don't want to miss that piece of information that might help you break down that brick wall by sticking to one spelling.

The Search for Missing Uncle, James Hudson: a Mystery Solved using Traditional Resources and DNA

By Kenneth H. Thomas, Jr.

My Hudson-Parker line began in Houston County, Georgia, with the arrival in the 1830s of my Hudson Family line from Jefferson County, Georgia, and my James Parker and children from Cumberland County, North Carolina.[1] Alford Lawson Hudson married Mary Jane Parker on 30 April 1837 in Houston County. They appear there in the 1850 Census with their children, after which Alford died c. 1857, and "Jane" and her children moved to Columbus, Georgia, where she and the children went to work in a cotton mill there. They appear in the 1859-1860 City Directory of Columbus[2] and the 1860 Census. I was lucky enough when I began my genealogy research c. 1962 to interview my grandmother, Helen Russell Brooks, her three older sisters, and other Hudson relatives they knew of in the Columbus area. Between them all, they knew what became of all the children of the Hudsons listed in the censuses save the oldest, James Hudson. He appeared in the 1850 Census as the oldest, age 12, thus born c. 1838 and that would seem likely after his parents' 1837 marriage. He should not have been born any earlier than February or March 1838. He was obviously named for her father James Parker, but I have never found him using any middle initial. I descend from the next oldest son, William F. Hudson, born in December 1840.

James Hudson's life span was unknown to the Columbus relatives. Had he died in the 1850s? My grandmother and her sisters never mentioned him, so he had been forgotten by the family, if he had lived to adulthood. He was not with the Hudsons in 1860 in Columbus, Georgia, neither in the census nor the city directory. My grandmother only spoke of her grandfather William and his younger brothers Matthew, Robert and "Boss" (Benjamin F.), and their sister Sarah. The children's names vary slightly from the 1850 census to the 1860 census and from the names they were known by as adults, but they were the ones who were remembered and documented through obituaries. The only clue about James, and it was too vague to attribute to him for sure, was in an interview on 16 July 1965 with Mrs. Ola Mae Hudson Livingston (1893-1988), a daughter of Benjamin F. "Boss" Hudson. In a wide ranging interview, that unfortunately I only conducted once, she covered the usual territory and then mentioned recalling her father's nephew and niece, Alfred Hudson who went to California and had several children, and Maggie who married a Turner and who was in a nursing home in California, last she heard. She could not place them in the family tree, even though they were in fact her first cousins. As this was decades before the Internet, I had no way of easily tracing them, and did not follow up. One complication was that she called the man "Alfred" when almost all later records styled him as "James A. Hudson."

Then after the 2000 publication of the sexton's burial records from the Columbus City Council Records[3] I learned that a James Hudson had died in Columbus, Georgia, and was buried on 2 February 1863. He would have been buried in the City Cemetery, now called Linwood Cemetery. The cause of death was pneumonia and his age was 24, exactly the right age for our man. I was hoping he had been a Confederate Soldier, like his four younger brothers, so I could apply for a free government tombstone for him, but I have not been able to prove that. I have not found any obituary or funeral notice, but that is not surprising if his family were mill employees. Was this our missing uncle?

As James was the oldest, and nearing 21 when his widowed mother and siblings moved around 1859 to Columbus, he was the one most likely to have already started working in Houston County or had a romantic interest there. And that proved to be the case. I found that a James Hudson had married on 20 December 1857 Emeline Ingram in Houston County, when he was 19 and in the same year his father died. Ingram is also spelled Engram. If he married in 1857 and was the man who died in 1863, where was the couple in the 1860 census? They have not been located.

Mrs. Emeline Ingram Hudson and two children appear in the 1870 Census of Muscogee County, Georgia (Columbus), enumerated on 17 June 1870, she was 30, working in a cotton factory with two children Margaret age 11 (c. 1859) and James age 8 (c. 1862) both of whom were in school. They were only two households away from Robert Hudson, her brother-in-law, and his wife Emily. Emeline and her children also appear in Houston County, Georgia, in the 1870 Census enumerated on 14 September 1870, she working in a cotton factory there as well. So a double entry. In the 1880 Census Emeline was living in Bibb County, Georgia (Macon), with two children, James Hudson age 19, and Maggy Hudson age 22. Emeline was keeping house and the children were working in a cotton factory. Was this the illusive Maggie Turner? That led me to back track to Columbus, Georgia, and to my surprise they had been baptized/christened in the Trinity Episcopal Church there in 1869, only learning this after the church's records were published in 1994.[4] I was surprised, since none of the Hudson family in Columbus were members of the Episcopal Church at that time, being either Methodists, or Baptists, or variants thereof. Had these records not been published, I would have certainly never looked there. Their names and ages were James Hudson, age 10, and Margaret Sarah Jane Hudson, age 8, their ages being reversed, and their parents as "James and Emeline Hudson." Their baptism there could be the result of the church's outreach to the poor, briefly alluded to in the church's recent history, where the parish school had offered free schooling for the poorest children in the 1850s and 1860s. [5]

The Macon, Georgia, city directories, now online, yielded a few more clues. In 1878 Emeline Hudson was listed as the widow of James, living in East Macon, with James A. and Margaret boarding with her, both working at the Bibb Manufacturing Company. The 1880 directory did not list Emeline, but listed the children as living in East Macon and working at the Bibb. The 1884 directory listed Mrs. E. J. Hudson, widow, with James and Miss Maggie living with her, but no occupations.[6] The 1887 directory did not list any of them, the reason being that Emeline Hudson died in August 1886 in East Macon with her brief obituary not giving her given name, but stating that she was the "mother of Conductor James Hudson" and that she was to be buried in the Fort Hill Cemetery. She was called an "old and much esteemed lady of East Macon" yet she was only around 46. [7]

Realizing after the above that James Hudson, the missing uncle, had indeed married, had two children to survive, who had lived in Columbus briefly, then moved on, what became of them? I was able to trace James Alford Hudson, his son, via census records, online family trees and other records on Ancestry.com, and at FamilySearch.org, as he married twice, and moved across the U. S. He even lived for a while in Mexico, and died in 1918 in New Mexico.[8] His children and his sister, Maggie, by then Maggie Turner, moved to California by 1920. Maggie Hudson had married James Turner in 1904 in Laredo, Webb County, Texas,[9] and as stated, she moved eventually to California. She is in the census with her brother's widow Florence Hudson and family in 1920 in Richmond, Contra Costa Co., California. By the 1930 Census, Florence had remarried Ernest C. Duke and was living with her children in Merced County, but without Maggie Turner. In 1940, Florence Hudson (after divorcing Duke) was still in Merced County with two children remaining at home, but no Maggie Turner. Florence died in 1952 and was buried beside her husband James A. Hudson, who had been reinterred in Merced. He had seven children from two marriages.

Margaret "Maggie" Hudson Turner died in Los Angeles, California, on 18 May 1939 at the Eastern Star Home, the "nursing home" that Ola Mae Livingston, her first cousin, had recalled in 1965. On her death certificate her parents were listed, as well as her birth on 19 April 1858 in Perry, Houston County, [Georgia.] She was the widow of James Turner and was buried in the Valhalla Cemetery. [10]

So the story had come full circle. We could now place "Maggie Turner" firmly in her rightful position on the family tree, as she was my great-grandmother's first cousin, but she had spent most of her life well away from Columbus, Georgia.

When DNA Testing appeared it added another dimension to this story. Even though I had figured out what had become of the two children of James Hudson and Emeline, I did not know any of the descendants today. I felt there probably had to be some, given the fact that James Alford Hudson had seven children who survived to adulthood. The census had indicated that Maggie Turner had had none. I tested at Family Tree DNA for the Y-DNA test (direct male line) in 2005, but that would not help me with my Hudsons. Then in 2012 I took the Family Finder (Autosomal) test at the same site. One of my closest matches there was a man named John Alfred (surname withheld for privacy), Sr., who appeared as a match in February 2014, at 74 centiMorgans. That centiMorgan number placed him in the 3rd to 4th cousin range, since I knew he was not a 2nd cousin. I emailed him, and after a while he revealed that his mother was a Hudson and she was buried in Oregon. I found his mother on the Find a Grave website. I then found a family tree at Ancestry.com from Ruth Ann Emery (the Soares-Bettencourt... tree) on his branch that had more or less the same information I had researched. But DNA had sealed the deal, not only helping our two branches get back in touch, but also "proving" the Hudson link. As fourth cousins, direct descendants of two Hudson brothers, it showed the power and importance of DNA testing combined with traditional research as evidenced by a paper trail. Another Hudson descendant, who descends from Benjamin F. 'Boss" Hudson, has also tested. However he is two generations further back than I am. We all three match and represent our three branches, three of the sons of Alford L. and Mary Jane Parker Hudson: James, William, and Benjamin. As for my branch, I have my mother, my sister, and numerous second cousins tested at Family Tree DNA, and others have shown up at Ancestry.com as well. The James Hudson descendant, referenced above, John Alfred (surname withheld for privacy), was a DNA match with 9 of the 13 known Hudson descendants on Family Tree DNA that matched me. There was also another descendant of James Hudson there as well, someone I had not noticed before, but who was on the family tree at Ancestry.com.

The Moral of this saga is the following:

1. Don't discount things you learn in an interview, there could be some nugget of truth there. Now it's easier than ever to track someone down. Also, if you can, always do a follow up interview to get further information on certain points. Or if nothing else, a repeat of what you heard the first time.
2. Try and prove what happened to each member of a family. I should have never just forgotten about James Hudson and his children.
3. DNA can be the answer to a brick wall or a long lost family line/member.

In summation, I present this article to show that it has taken me over fifty years to put all the pieces together to bring my ancestral uncle James Hudson back into the family story and put his children and other descendants back on the family tree.

Pike County, Georgia

Contributed by Sandra Morton

Pike County GA was formed December 9, 1822, from Monroe County. Lamar County was formed August 17, 1920, from Monroe and Pike Counties.[1] The following information was abstracted from the Georgia State Gazetteer, Business & Planter's Directory, 1883, Vol. III.[2] Most of current Lamar County is included in this abstract. As much as possible, spelling and punctuation was retained as it was printed in the Directory. The towns are alphabetized with its corresponding information included. Many towns include a list of businessmen and town leaders and a separate list of farmers. Some communities only identify the distance to the nearest post office. There are no Fish Culturists in Pike County.

History of Andrew United Methodist Church, Houston County

By Ellie Loudermilk

Erected in 1848, Andrew Chapel stood on the banks of Houston Lake in a grove of moss-laden oaks for 118 years. The community was known as Wilna, a small village one mile south of Kathleen, Georgia. The quarterly conference records of the Perry circuit dated April 9, 1848 tell of the appointment of a building committee to erect a church near Houston Factory (now Houston Lake.) Composing this committee were Samuel W. Parr, Thomas J. Cater, and Alexander Smith. Records of Perry circuit dated June 24, 1848 show that the quarterly conference meeting at Hickory Grove Church voted to meet at the new church near Houston Factory on October 7, 1848. The pastor in charge, Rev. Francis W. Baggerly, reported to the conference that the churches at Spring Hill and Emory Chapel had been united and were to be known by the name of Andrew Chapel. The name was approved by the quarterly conference which voted to meet for the third quarterly conference in 1848 at Andrew Chapel. Rev. Isaac Boring was the presiding elder. Andrew Chapel was also host to the first quarterly conference of the Perry circuit held February 24, 1849 with Rev. John Walker Glenn as presiding elder and Rev. George Bright as preacher in charge.

A deed dated June 1, 1869 was made between the church trustees and Joseph Tooke and John Thornton Cooper, owners of Houston Factory that granted two acres for use by the Methodist Church and stated "as long as two acres of the tract will be used for church or religious purposes and no other purpose." Trustees named in the document were L. B. Alexander, Garnett Smith, Josiah Hodges, M. H. Hickson, and W. R. Hickson. (Deed Book U, p. 233) An 1860 instrument recorded in Deed Book 1, p. 343-344 records the trustees of Andrew Chapel. It was not a deed but the result of a quarterly conference held at Lane's Chapel on December 3, 1859 electing replacement trustees for the coming year: Dennis McLendon replacing Joel Walker, deceased; Garnett Smith for Bryant Lane, deceased; Barnett Holloman for T. M. Furlow, removed; Wiley Leverett for Thomas J. Cater, removed; and Levi Ezell for John H. Rutherford, who left the church. The church, with its white wooden structure, beautiful floor length windows and green shutters, was named for the first bishop of Georgia, Bishop James O. Andrew.

The pulpit was located between the two back doors and a pot-bellied stove between the pulpit and front bench heated the church. When Sunday School rooms were needed, wire and heavy curtains were used in the back corners of the church. The old Register lists 62 members in 1923 and 38 members in 1947.

Several modifications occurred during the life of Andrew Chapel ranging from the removal of the slave balcony in the late 1800s; the addition of Sunday School rooms in the mid-1950s to the relocation of the building in the mid-1960s. By 1965 Houston Lake Country Club had been developed around the church which necessitated a change of site. The church was moved to a lot on the Kathleen Road, one-half mile from the lake. Proceeds from the sale of the old site along with other funds were used to rebuild. After the roof was lowered, the old building was placed length-wise at the rear to form the educational social units and a new building placed in front joined to this became the sanctuary. Both buildings were brick-veneered to make the combined units into a modern structure with central heating.

By the 1980s the building was suffering from termite damage and required several replacement boards in the vestibule and sidewalls. In 1989 strong winds swept off one-third of the roof, ultimately causing extensive water damage to the church structure. During this period several ground improvements were accomplished and a new church sign was anonymously donated to Andrew Chapel.

Andrew Chapel Methodist Church

In 1991 the church building was condemned because of termites. The District Superintendent, Reverend Don Kea, approached the small congregation with the possibility of closing the church permanently. The faithful few members of Andrew Chapel had a different idea. Through their faith, they believed God might bless them in some way. After a brief session with the District Superintendent, the congregation began to worship for a time in a Boy Scout Hut in Bonaire. Soon after they were invited to share a church with Beaver Creek Primitive Baptist Church located on Sandefur Road, less than a mile from the condemned building.

As God would have it, Beaver Creek Primitive Baptist Church had burned to the ground one Spring Sunday in 1936 while G. Riley Hunt was preaching. Andrew Chapel offered their Baptist friends an opportunity to worship in their building while they got back on their feet. Nearly 60 years later, Beaver Creek returned the favor and offered the members of Andrew Chapel an opportunity to meet in their building while the Andrew members regrouped and made plans for their future.

In June, 1992, the Revered Gene Bates, along with his wife Kay and their three daughters, Kristen (17), Sarah (13), and Catherine (10), became the first full-time ordained pastor in the history of Andrew Chapel. From this very meager beginning, Gene began to see the vision God had for the remnant congregation at Andrew Chapel.

In the Spring of 1993, out of the dust and termites, God began to move in powerful ways as Andrew Chapel received several families from Warner Robins First United Methodist Church and rechartered a new congregation with 112 Charter Members. By September 1993, the Andrew congregation put a doublewide trailer on the four acres of land originally occupied by Andrew Chapel in 1965. During the next two years, Andrew Chapel acquired two additional doublewide trailers and even resorted to using an old GI tent that became the meeting place for the new "Green Room" Sunday School class.

With growth, hard work, and blessing from the Lord, by June 1995 this new congregation moved into their first multipurpose building of nearly 20,000 square feet.

The church continued to grow and secured a total of 13 acres of land, most of which lay in a beautiful pecan grove. In 1998 Mrs. Genie Evans donated two acres of land and the first Andrew parsonage was built by the church women, men and youth. This beautiful four-bedroom home became not only a hallmark for the conference, but also a blessing to the church as an investment. Because of the dedication and hard work of Andrew's members, the church realized nearly $80,000 equity the day the pastor and his family moved in.

Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part VII

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847-1933) lived in Dooly County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Jacob's sister, Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. This installment is continued from issue No. 2 of Volume 38.

The Sallie Oliver Roberts diary will be continued in a future issue of the CGGS Journal. Included with this installment on the next four pages are family group sheets for Sallie and Jacob's families prepared by A. Stephen Johnson. The FGSs help identify some people Sallie refers to in the diary using only a nickname.

[2] The two Benjamin THARPs may be only one individual. The District/Lot # are identical, but one lot of land only has 202 ½ acres, so it cannot be counted twice. Plus, there is only one Benjamin Tharp listed in the 1830 U.S. Federal Census for Houston Co. GA – "Benjamin A. Tharp". There is no Tharp listed in 1830 Lee Co. GA. There is no explanation why the tax is different between the two entries.

This material was transcribed from an original copy of the 1829 tax digest in the Ordinary's Office, Houston County Courthouse, Perry. Tax payers' names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Number of acres of pine land
3. Number of acres of oak/hickory land
4. Quality of the land: 1st, 2nd, 3rd
5. County where the land is located
6. District number and land lot number of the land
7. Poll tax owed by free, white males, age 21 – 60 years (over age 60 years exempt)
8. Number of slaves
9. Total tax owed (professionals were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50)
10. Page of the person's listing on the original tax digest

CGGS Donations to WML's Genealogy Room

By Georgette Lipford & Sandy McLain

CGGS makes an annual gift to Washington Memorial Library's Genealogical & Historical Room to help grow their collection through the purchase of books and other materials. CGGS members take an active role in this gift by donating funds each fall in conjunction with the society membership renewal process. In recognition of our members' generosity the society sincerely thanks the following persons for their gifts to the library in the years 2015 – 2019:

- Dorothy Baker, Chicago, Illinois
- Susan M. Bromwell, Vero Beach, Florida
- William B. Camp, Warner Robins, Georgia
- Jennifer E. Cone, Pelham, Georgia
- Victor Crawford, Silver Springs, Maryland

Morgan County High School Commencement for Class of 1921

Contributed by Georgette Lipford

A small brown pamphlet commemorating the graduating class of Morgan High School for 1921 was recently found in a box of books donated to the Houston County Friends of the Library. Measuring 4" by 5" the pamphlet is bound with a brown ribbon and contains three pages. The state is not indicated in the pamphlet but a search on several of the students' names in the 1920 census revealed their residences as Morgan County, Alabama. The pamphlet reads as follows:

Class of 1921
The Senior Class Morgan County High School

QUARTERLY STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Dukes & Marsha Meyer
Newsletter Editor – Nancy Phillips
Publications Sales Manager – Angela Collier

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable), postage and handling costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material should be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible. Electronic submissions emailed to the editor are encouraged. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Non-members may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

Editor's Note

Articles in this issue of the Journal cover a mix of frequently used resources (a family Bible and cemetery records) and less utilized resources (tax digests and court minutes). All four record types have the potential to add valuable details to a family history. If you are not familiar with tax digests and court minutes, I hope the articles in this issue serve as an introduction to their great value.

Sandra Morton continues with her well done transcriptions of two tax digests, an 1829 Houston County, Georgia digest and the final installment of Pike County, Georgia's 1825 tax digest.

The Vienna City Cemetery article finishes up a nearly complete survey of this large Dooly County cemetery and its publication in eight issues of the Journal. This project was just one of many Dooly County and Macon County cemeteries surveyed by friends Helen Hudson and Davine Campbell and later published in the Quarterly and Journal. Helen and Davine collaborated on various cemetery surveys for eight years. Helen recently recalled that when she and Davine began work on the Vienna City Cemetery they first obtained a plat of the area from City Hall. They then set about recording the burials in an organized manner. Unfortunately, health issues kept them from completing the Vienna City Cemetery. They were unable to record the extreme southeastern section. With the passing of Davine in 2014 the genealogy community lost a dedicated and productive researcher.

First time contributor Donna Newman has an excellent article on the types of questions that court minutes can answer. Although court minutes and order books from inferior, ordinary, superior, or chancery court sessions are generally not every name indexed and thus more time consuming to read, their use can be very rewarding as you will learn from Donna's examples. For anyone with Virginia ancestors I highly recommend the digitized chancery court records on the Library of Virginia's website, https://www.lva.virginia.gov/ , and found under "Virginia Memory" > "Digital Collections" > "Collections A to Z".

The Mitchell Bible transcribed in this issue is looking for a new home. The Bible was donated to the Houston County Friends of the Library by an unknown person. This Mitchell family had ties to Chambers County, AL and Muscogee County, GA.

Back issues of the CGGS Journal (and its earlier incarnation as the CGGS Quarterly) are available free to members with the payment of shipping (while supplies last). Visit our website's Publications page for an order form.

This material was transcribed from an original copy of the 1829 tax digest in the Ordinary's Office of the Houston Co. Courthouse, Perry. Tax payers' names have been alphabetized for this article. The columns provide the following information:

1. Person owing tax
2. Number of acres of pine land
3. Number of acres of oak/hickory land
4. Quality of the land: 1st, 2nd, 3rd
5. County where the land is located
6. District and land lot number of the land
7. Poll tax owed by free, white males, age 21 – 60 years (over age 60 years exempt)
8. Number of slaves
9. Total tax owed [Professionals were assessed an additional tax of $4 each. Carriages were taxed $1.00 or .50]
10. Page of the person's listing on the tax digest

Court Minutes: an Overlooked Genealogical Resource

By Donna Newman, CG

Court minutes are not as easily used as the resources genealogists rely on most often. In their original form they are generally not indexed or have limited indexes making them more time consuming to search. However, as the examples below illustrate, county inferior and superior court minutes and court order books can contain testimony or statements of fact that provide genealogical information not found anywhere else. These records are available in microform format in genealogy libraries and state archives and the originals can be found in county courthouses. Many have also been digitized and can be accessed through the catalog at FamilySearch.org.

Below are a few specific examples of what court minutes can reveal if we are willing to devote the additional time required to use them.

Relationships: Hezekiah and James Anderson[1]

Hezekiah Anderson left a will when he died in 1826, naming his wife Ally as Executor. She was still living in 1870, so why do most of Hezekiah's estate documents show an Administrator, James Lee? And why does the guardianship return of Hezekiah's minor daughter reflect monies received from the estate of James Anderson in addition to her father's estate? The answer to both questions and more can be found in Screven County, Georgia Inferior Court minutes.

At an Inferior Court held for Ordinary purposes in March 1833, the court determined that Ally Anderson had "mismanaged & wasted" Hezekiah's estate and ordered that the will be annexed and administration be granted to next of kin. James Lee was married to Hezekiah and Ally's daughter Mary and was subsequently appointed Administrator.

Lee also administered the estate of James Anderson, who died in 1830. James Anderson was the sole occupant of his household in the 1820 federal census and like Hezekiah Anderson, he was aged 26 to 44. In November 1830 the court heard unspecified objections to the probate of James's will, deemed the will illegal and denied probate. A few weeks later, James Lee applied for letters of administration and these were granted. The genealogical reveal came in November 1832 when the court appointed commissioners to divide the estate "among the following heirs of the said deceased to wit Robert Anderson, Joseph Anderson, Joseph Harrison, Wm. T. Moore & the heirs of Hezekiah Anderson."

Not only does this record provide evidence that Hezekiah Anderson was James's brother it also identifies other likely brothers (Robert and Joseph) and brothers-in-law (Harrison and Moore). Joseph Anderson and William T. Moore were in the same age range as Hezekiah and James Anderson in the 1820 census but nothing further is yet known about the other two men. I already have a great candidate for the father of Hezekiah (and his newly identified likely brothers): Ignatius Anderson, who registered in Screven County for the 1807 land lottery. Hezekiah named his youngest son Ignatius Bell Anderson, and both Hezekiah and Joseph Anderson carried a middle initial B in some land records. Was Bell their middle name and/or their mother's maiden name? The biggest research challenge continues to be finding viable alternatives for all the Screven County records that were lost to fire during the Civil War.[2]

Children from an earlier marriage: Abraham Shiver[3]

Abraham Shiver left a huge estate that generated many pages of records, but what none of them reveal is the drama that played out in court when the validity of his will was challenged.

The Pulaski County, Georgia Ordinary Court ruled against the caveators but the court minutes paint a tragic picture of Abraham's final days if even a fraction of the claims they made were true. What they also do is clearly identify the challengers as the children and other heirs-at-law of Abraham from his first marriage.

Martha Shiver was Abraham's second wife. She and Abraham signed a quit claim deed in Kershaw County, South Carolina in 1799, were on the census there in 1800 and were living in Georgia by 1814. But between the loss of the 1810 federal census for Georgia and the recurring given names within the Shiver family lines, it has been extremely difficult to distinguish Abraham's children from his nephews and nieces who have the same names. This Ordinary Court record isn't the Rosetta Stone but it's a tremendous help nonetheless.

Parentage: Isabelle Durham Sloan[4]

Isabelle Durham's first known appearance in records was her 1869 marriage to Francis Sloan in Casey County, Kentucky when she was about 19. The first solid clue to her parentage was an 1877 deed in which she and Francis sold their interest in "one undivided third part of one share of all the land owned by John Durham at his death, said share is Knowned [sic] as the share of Fannie Durham Daughter of said John Durham Decd."

A series of records connected most of the dots: Fanny (as Ann) was enumerated in John Durham's 1850 household; in 1856 she married William R. Perkins but neither the Perkinses nor Isabelle could be found in the 1860 census; finally, Frances Perkins, the daughter of John and Nancy Durham, died in 1861. But it was the Casey County, Kentucky Court Order books that tied them all up with a neat little bow: John Durham died in 1873 and his widow died in 1877; and in 1877 court minutes, commissioners appointed to divide the dower lands were instructed to include an allotment "To Bettie M. & Josephine Perkins & Izabella Sloan Jointly 1/11 of said land."

Death dates: Memory W. and Malissa T. Statham[5]

Malissa was named sole Executrix of her husband Memory W. Statham's 1856 Greene County, Georgia will. On 24 January 1861, their son-in-law, Wiley G. Johnson, petitioned the Greene County, Georgia Court of Ordinary for letters of administration on Memory's estate, stating that Malissa had died on 26 November 1860 and Memory's estate was not fully settled. In his petition Johnson also said that Memory had died in March 1856 and among the numerous estate documents is a bill dated March 12th from Davis, Wood & Johnson for what could be burial clothes, i.e., pants, satin vest, cravat and cloth coat, all black.

New revelations: Pleasant Statham[6]

I already knew that in 1813 Pleasant left his wife and four minor children in Georgia and traveled back to his native Virginia to enlist for a five-year stint in the Army. I knew also that his father-in-law, Thomas Terry, stipulated in his 1815 will that his legacy to daughter Mary Statham was to be "wholly for the use of her and her lawfully begotten heirs." So discovering that right around the time he married Mary in 1799, Pleasant petitioned the Elbert County, Georgia Inferior Court for permission to "keep a House of Entertainment and retail spirituous liquors" wasn't particularly surprising.

Identifying information for free persons of color and formerly enslaved African-Americans:

While paging through court minutes I frequently come across entries about free persons of color or slaves who are being emancipated and wish I knew a better way of getting that information out there for any descendants who might be searching for them. I know of several online repositories for such information but have never found a mechanism for submissions on their websites, so the best I've been able to manage is to create nominal profile pages for the named individuals on my "Lost Heirlooms" public tree at Ancestry and attach the images there. Here are a few extracts from Jessamine County, Kentucky Order Books:[7]

- "A Deed of Emancipation from Collin Day a free man of color to Melinda Day was this day produced and acknowledged in open court." — August 1848.
- "Hudson Mason a man of color...it appearing to the satisfaction of the court that he is the son of Fanny Mason a free woman of color and that he was born free It is therefore ordered that Daniel B. Price clerk of this Court give to the said Hudson Mason a certificate of his freedom describing him to be 21 years of age about the 25th day of Decr. 1847, Five feet Ten and one half inches high, straight, slender, spair*[sic]*make, dark copper color with a scare [sic] on the back of the left hand." — August 1848.
- "Malinda Clarke, a woman of color...the identical Malinda Young named in an order of the Court on the 15th day of August 1836 declaring her to be free born and granting her a certificate of freedom...ordered that a Certificate of Freedom be granted to the said Malinda Clarke describing her to be at the present about Twenty Eight years of age, of bright mulatto complexion and about Five feet five and one half inches high." — August 1852.
- "Jane, about 36 years old and a free woman of color emancipated by the will of Francis B. [Kearby ?], petitioned for and was granted a Certificate of Freedom." — December 1852.

VIENNA CEMETERY SOUTH OF WOODWARD STREET
Surveyed July & August 2008 by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson

All the portion of the Vienna Cemetery, south of Woodward Street, with the exception of the far East portion that has a separate map labeled "Colored Cemetery", will be recorded and indexed together. The burials in the "Colored Cemetery" portion will be recorded and indexed as a separate entity since this part of the cemetery has the lots numbered and laid out differently. The whole cemetery is a rather unusual arrangement so the lot designation used by the Map-Makers is recorded here to help in locating the names you are looking for. Section A will begin on the Western side [This was the "white section" in the original records.] as you enter this portion of the cemetery. However, the maps do not reflect that Section G seems to contain mostly black burials as do some other sections. So check all of the burials if you are looking for a family member. We were also told by a reliable source that an area in the far South center was used as a Pauper's burial area. This is not reflected on the map we were using.

The original numbering system was a matter of convenience. The numbers start at the beginning, go to the end of a row. Then they continue from the end of the next row to the beginning, sometimes. Each Section of this cemetery has a different system. It was evidently added to a number of times and by a number of people. Each person had their own system which is a bit difficult but once you find one grave in a section, you will be able to figure out the way that section was numbered.

DM = Double marker for Headstone
TM = Triple marker or 3 names on 1 Headstone
NDD = No Death Date
GDI = Georgia Death Index or GVV= Georgia Virtual Vault
ES = Eastern Star
Sections I & K seem to be mainly single graves rather than family lots. Some lots in other sections have been split and this is noted on the lot owner section of the survey.

SECTION V

At the time we surveyed the cemetery, there did not appear to be any burials in this area.

This ends this sections A through V of the cemetery. To be followed separately by what was labeled on the original map as the "Colored" section.

Index for Vienna City Cemetery, South of Woodward Street, Sections A-V

I have tried to make this index for Vienna Cemetery, South portion A-V as user friendly as possible. Any surname that appears on the marker will appear in this index. If a woman has a maiden name or previous married name, it will be cross indexed under that name. If a lot owner is not buried in a lot, that person is indexed under the first burial number appearing in that lot. A couple of markers contained names of their children, the names of the children are listed in the index too. A bracketed [ ] name is associated with that burial and could be maiden or previous married name. There are so many empty lots that they are going to be listed by what would be section and grave number, lot numbers will not be included in those listing. These listing will not be contained in the yearly surname index.

Mitchell Family Bible

Contributed by Georgette Lipford

This Mitchell Bible was donated to the Houston County Friends of the Library. The name of the donor is unknown. The Friends of the Library and Central Georgia Genealogical Society would like to place this Bible back in the possession of a family member. Please contact us at centralgagene@gmail.com with any questions about this Bible. The Bible is in good condition and does not appear to be missing any pages. Enclosed in the Bible is a letter postmarked 1975 from R. H. Bentley, Jr. of Florida to Mrs. Susan Hilburn, Niceville, FL. The Bible is copyrighted 1973 and was printed in Nashville, TN by Crusade Bible Publishers, Inc. There is data entered for five persons labeled grandchildren and greatgrandchildren. Since their birthdates are within the past 100 years the names and dates are not provided here.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held at the Flint Energies Building, 900 Ga. Hwy 96, Warner Robins, Georgia at 7.00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session may be conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on our website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this Journal. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.

JOURNAL STAFF

Editor – Georgette Lipford
Contributors: Helen Hudson, Sandra Morton, Sherrie Dukes & Marsha Meyer
Newsletter Editor – Nancy Phillips
Publications Sales Manager – Angela Collier

The Central Georgia Genealogical Society Journal is published twice annually with a spring issue and a fall issue (prior to 2013 it was published quarterly). It is distributed to society members, first class postage paid at Macon, Georgia.

BACK ISSUES of this publication are available from 1979 at the rate of $2.50 each for members and $4.00 each for nonmembers. Some issues are sold out. See the publications pages and order form in this issue for tax (if applicable) and shipping costs.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES: CGGS seeks articles for the journal of unpublished primary source documents of Georgia county and state records, military records, tax lists, church and cemetery records, family letters or diaries, photographs and queries. Every effort is made to publish material of interest to Georgia researchers, especially on central Georgia counties. Material may be submitted typed, single-spaced and camera ready if possible but electronic submissions emailed to the editor are preferred. CGGS does not assume responsibility for errors on the part of the contributor. Correction of proven errors will appear in future issues. Lengthy articles may be serialized. When submitting Bible records please include a transcription of all entries along with photocopies of the Bible title page and all entry pages if possible. Submit material for publication to the editor:

Georgette Lipford
[redacted]

QUERIES: There is no limit to the number of queries members may submit. Queries should be concise, specific, typed or printed and separated from other correspondence to the Society. Please include membership number, complete address and e-mail address if desired. Queries should be limited to 50 words or less. Non-members may also submit queries which will be printed as space permits. Queries are published in the Journal as space permits.

NOTIFICATION OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS is requested of members as close as possible to the effective date. CGGS is required to pay for undeliverable publications and for remailing to a new address.

CORRESPONDENCE (other than articles for the journal) should be addressed to: Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, Ga. 31099-2024. A membership application can be found on the last page of this journal.

C.G.G.S. JOURNAL SURNAME INDEX VOL. 39 FOR THE YEAR 2017

Compiled by Helen Shirah Hudson

The C.G.G.S. Journal surname index for the year 2017 will not include the Vienna Cemetery, South of Woodward Street, Sections A-V. It was listed with an alphabetical index when it was published.

Pages 1-56 are contained in Vol. 39, Number 1 and pages 57-112 are contained in Vol. 39, Number 2.

I also did not include surnames from the books that were purchased by Washington Memorial Library with the 2017 and 2018 funds donated by CGGS and members in the index. Be sure to look through these on pages 49-52, you may find a valuable source that is new to you.

Again, the spelling of the surnames may vary from what you are used to, sound them out and see if they may be a variation that is new to you.

Colonial Georgia Background Research

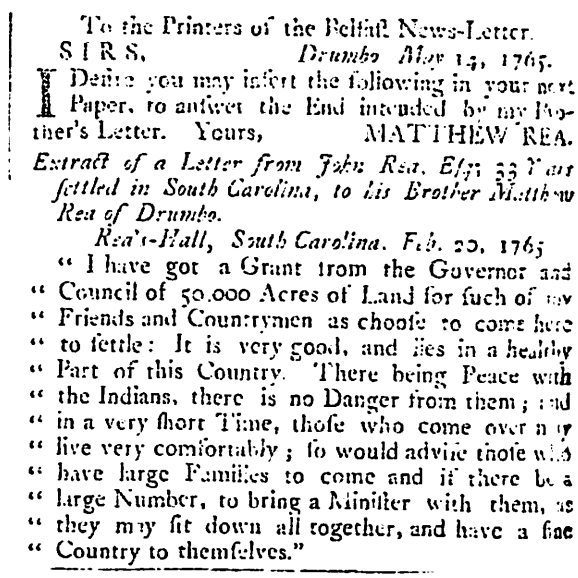
By Donna Newman

One of the most enjoyable parts of doing genealogy for me is doing the background research. I can get absorbed in it for hours on end and only wish I had learned history this way the first time around. Such was the case when I researched my ancestor James Fitzgerald, who received a Crown grant of 400 acres in St. George Parish, Georgia in 1770. According to family lore James came from Ireland, but this may just be a facile guess based on his surname as Fitzgeralds can be found throughout the British Isles during this period.

That said, I was encouraged by preliminary research showing there was a migration of Protestants from Northern Ireland into St. George Parish beginning in 1768, but I found few details. My deeper dive did not show James as part of this migration, unfortunately, but it was a fascinating project that expanded my knowledge of Georgia's colonial history.

Like other colonies, Georgia used the promise of headright land to attract new settlers. John Rea was a merchant with business interests in both South Carolina and Georgia, and in 1765 he and two other merchants were granted 50,000 acres of land in St. George Parish "for the Use and Benefit of the Settlers intended to be brought from Ireland by and through the Means and Interest of the Petitioners."

John Rea wrote about this land grant in a letter "to his Brother Matthew Rea of Drumbo," who had it published in the Belfast News-Letter in May 1765. In September, another letter from John Rea described the geography, climate and economic opportunities to be found in Georgia and incentives available to those who migrated there, e.g., their ship's passage to be paid and their land to be exempt from Quit Rents for 10 years.



To the Printers of the Belfaſt News-Letter.

SIRS, Drumbo May 14, 1765.

I Deſire you may inſert the following in your next Paper, to anſwer the End intended by my Brother's Letter. Yours, MATTHEW REA.

Extract of a Letter from John Rea, Eſq; 33 Years ſettled in South Carolina, to his Brother Matthew Rea of Drumbo.

Rea's-Hall, South Carolina, Feb. 20, 1765

" I have got a Grant from the Governor and " Council of 50,000 Acres of Land for ſuch of my " Friends and Countrymen as chooſe to come here " to ſettle: It is very good, and lies in a healthy " Part of this Country. There being Peace with " the Indians, there is no Danger from them; and " in a very ſhort Time, thoſe who come over may " live very comfortably; ſo would adviſe thoſe who " have large Families to come and if there be a " large Number, to bring a Miniſter with them, as " they may ſit down all together, and have a fine " Country to themſelves."

The reserve that was subsequently laid out was known as the "Irish Settlement" or "Irish Tract" and was later named Queensborough Township. Now extinct, it was situated in the fork of Lambert Creek and the Great Ogeechee River near present day Louisville and it became part of Jefferson County in 1796.

The first group of settlers sailed aboard the Prince George, leaving Belfast on the 20th of September 1768 and arriving in Savannah on the 5th of December. This is believed to be the first ship to sail between Northern Ireland and Georgia. There were 107 passengers in all, according to the Governor in his report to the Council, but 114 passengers according to a notice in the Georgia Gazette.

Petitions for land were recorded in Proceedings and Minutes of the Governor and Council, Volumes VII through XII of The Colonial Records of the State of Georgia. Under the headright system then in place, an applicant submitted his petition for land at a monthly "Land Day" meeting, stating how many were in his family, including wife, children, slaves and indentured servants; and describing the number of acres he wanted and where they were located. A head of family was entitled to 100 acres in his own right plus 50 acres for each dependent. He did not have to take out all of the land for which he qualified at one time and he could petition for more land as his family grew. In first petitions for land the applicant often stated how long he had been in the province, sometimes where he had come from and occasionally even when and how he came.

Most petitions by the new immigrants were grouped together, e.g., "Lots Granted to the Settlers of Queensborough in St. George's Parish" or "the Names of the Several persons who lately arrived in this province in the Ship Brittania James Clindinon Master." There were also petitions by individuals stating they had "Arrived in the province sometime since from Ireland in the Ship Hopewell Capt. Ash." In several cases, a letter of thanks to the ship's captain signed by some of the passengers was published in the Belfast or Savannah newspaper.

From this research it is known that the following ships sailed from Belfast to Savannah:

- Prince George; Capt. Robert Beatty, Master; sailed late September 1768, arrived early December
- Hopewell; Capt. Capt. Thomas Ash, Master; sailed late September 1769, arrived late November or early December
- Hopewell; Capt. Thomas Ash, Master; sailed late October 1770, arrived late December
- Britannia; Capt. James Clendinen, Master; sailed late October 1771, arrived late December 1771 or early January 1772

Various sources report that this migration continued through 1774 but they vary on the number of ships and immigrants involved. A good starting point for further research would be sail notices published in The Belfast News-Letter that show the following ships as originally bound for Savannah, whatever their ultimate destination turned out to be:

- Waddell, Belfast to Savannah and Charlestown, November 1773
- Jupiter, Larne to Savannah, Charlestown and Baltimore, May 1774
- Elliott, Newry to Charlestown and Savannah, October 1774
- Liberty and Property, Belfast to Charlestown and Savannah, October 1774
- Minerva, Larne to Charlestown and Savannah, December 1774

About some of the sources that were used for this project

- The Colonial Records of the State of Georgia is a series of 26 volumes compiled by Allen D. Candler in the early 1900s at the behest of the state legislature. As most of the official colonial records were lost or destroyed during the American Revolution, Candler used copies of official records that had been sent to England and were archived in the Public Records Office. These volumes are digitized and available at FamilySearch.org.

- The Belfast News-Letter for the period 1738 to 1925 is available at Ancestry.com but only the names of individuals from birth, marriage and death notices have been indexed. Fortunately, the newspaper images can be browsed and there is an off-site database that allows you to search the paper using ship names and place names: https://www.ucs.louisiana.edu/cgi-bin/belfst/QueryForm1.cgi.
- The Georgia Gazette and oither early newspapers are part of the digitized collection at the Georgia Historic Newspapers site: https://gahistoricnewspapers.galileo.usg.edu/
- Farris W. Cadle's Georgia Land Surveying History and Law is an invaluable reference for understanding land distriubution from Georgia's inception as a charter colony in 1732. through its period as a Royal province beginning in 1752 and on through the eight land lotteries held between 1805 and 1833 that distributed twenty-seven million acres of land.
- English Crown Grants in St. George Parish in Georgia, 1755-1775, compiled by Ben W. Fortson, Secretary of State and Surveyor General, and Pat Bryant, Deputy Surveyor General. This book and similar compilations for all the parishes of colonial Georgia are now digitized and available at FamilySearch.org.
- David Hackett Fischer's Albion's Seed: Four British Folkways in America is chock full of information about migrations from the British Isles. He doesn't talk about this specific migration but his citations point to a number of sources on the Scots-Irish, including R.L. Dickson's Ulster Emigration to Colonial America, 1718-1775; of special interest is his Appendix showing the ships advertised as sailing from Northern Ireland to the American colonies between 1771 and 1775. Most but not all of his data syncs with what I was able to find by researching the sources he cited.
- One other source I have to acknowledge is Burke County, Georgia Land Records: Boundaries as of 1777 by the late Daniel N. Crumpton; Burke County was originally St. George Parish. A surveyor by occupation, Crumpton collected old plat surveys which he plotted in what is now all of Burke and parts of five other counties. The plat are numbered for cross-referencing with a table that gives grantee name, survey date, adjoining landowners, chain carriers, etc. He did not plot any of the colonial grants but he devotes a section of his book to Delbert M. Little's plotted maps for Queensborough Township and environs from the 1950s, including Little's notes on the grantees.

Donna Newman's article based on this research, "Migration from Northern Ireland into Colonial Georgia," appeared in the June 2020 issue of the Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly and can be found at https://archive.org/details/migration-from-northern-ireland-into-colonial-georgia-ggs.

Elijah Cook Family Bible

Contributed by Donna Gurr

This Bible belonged to my great-great grandparents, Elijah Cook and Samantha Jane Powell. The Bible is quite large and the binding is secured with tape. However, the inside of the Bible is in good condition and there are no loose pages. After the death of my great-great grandparents the Bible went to my grandmother, Madge Elizabeth Cook, daughter of Elijah Cook, Jr. After her death it passed to my Mother, Madge Elizabeth Kimbrough, who was an only child. The Bible is now in my possession in Blairsville, Georgia. I may be contacted at: [redacted].

Origin of "Georgia Cracker"

Contributed by Wayne Chapman

From the Home Journal (Perry, Georgia), issue of June 15, 1922, page 3, column 2:

There have been many discussions about the origin of the term "Georgia Cracker." There seems to be more than one-way of explaining it.

Not more than eighty years ago railroads in Georgia were unknown. The farmers had to carry their products to distant places for sale. The leading market towns were Augusta, Charleston and Savannah. Some planters had to travel over a hundred miles to reach these places. They traveled in great canvas-covered wagons. In these they carried their cooking utensils and provisions. They also carried blankets to sleep on at night. Neighbors living near each other made these journeys together, therefore long trains of wagons were continually passing the highways. When night came on they would stop near a stream or spring of water and prepare to spend the night. Each driver carried a whip, which he popped and cracked as he went along from this the expression of "Georgia Cracker" originated, the cracker being a man from the county who drove the wagon and cracked his whip.

Richard Malcolm Johnson says that among the followers of General Francis Marion in his guerilla warfare was a number of Georgians who were expert riflemen. The crack of these expert riflemen. The crack of these rifles was much dreaded by the British. They gave them the name of "Georgia Crackers." After the war it became a social term, therefore the Georgians are still called "Georgia Crackers."

Asbury Chapel/Postell Family Cemetery

The Asbury Church/Postell Family Cemetery is located on the Malachi Farm off of Highway 127. It was surveyed by Davine Campbell, Guilda Hay and Millie Stewart on May 7, 1994. Davine does not think that the cemetery was a Church cemetery but a cemetery used by the Postell family. She noted that Ed Loughlin and Ed Hightower, his foreman made it possible to survey this cemetery. Permission would be required to visit it and someone would have to guide you in. The survey was included in the CEMETERIES OF MACON COUNTY, GEORGIA 1836-1994 printed by CGGS

End of cemetery survey

RAY FAMILY CEMETERY

Surveyed by Davine V. Campbell & Helen S. Hudson October 2008

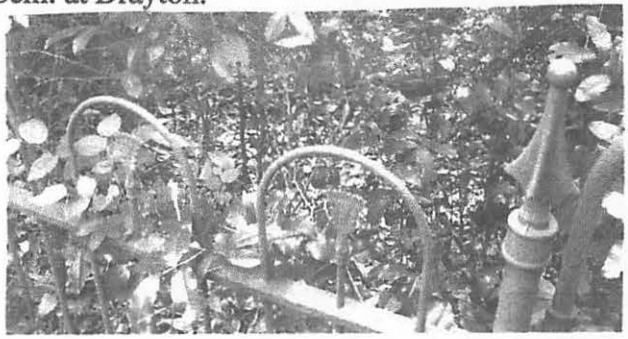
Listed as Cemetery #96 in the Watts Powell Books. It was originally in Dooly County, now in Crisp County about 5 miles below the Dooly-Crisp Co. Line, turn east on the 3rd Cross-Road sign, go abt ¼ mile, a very wooded area with a driveway across the ditch, drive around the wooded area and you will see several nice markers in the WHITSETT CEMETERY. Go through the Whitsett Cem., and on your left about half way, there is a gate. Go through the gate, walk around the edge of the fence to the end. Among the trees, bushes, briars, etc. and you will find the 3 existing markers in the RAY FAMILY CEMETERY. This is definitely not a cemetery to try to visit in the summer time.

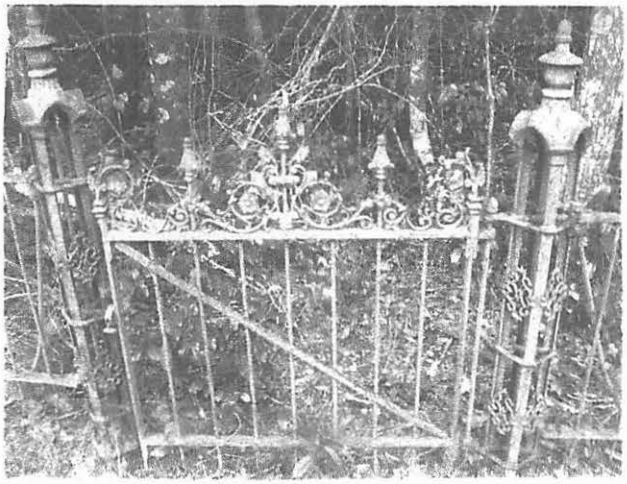
This cemetery has been long abandoned. We did find the three markers that the Powells had listed. There was the one definite sink in the Butler lot and the space for many more burials.

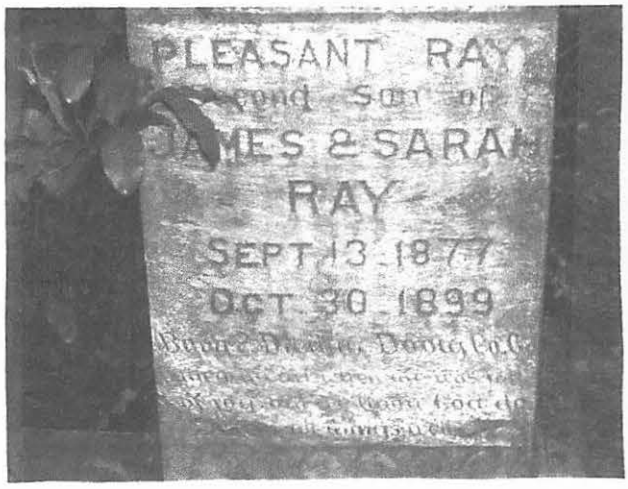
BUTLER LOT – Sink within the fenced lot
BUTLER, Theo. M. Mar. 13, 1853 - July 25, 1901

RAY, Pleasant, Second son of James & Sarah Ray Born Sept. 13, 1877 - Died Oct. 30, 1899
Born and died in Dooly Co., Ga.
RAY, Thomas, Third son of James and Sarah Ray Born Sept. 5, 1879 - Died June 9, 1905
Born and died in Dooly Co., Ga.

Pleasant Ray married Mary Whitsett. In 1850 they were living with their three boys and Pleasant's probable father, Skepworth Ray (Born in NC ca 1773) in the 24th District of Dooly Co., GA. We found Pleasant buried in the Collier Cem. at Drayton.







Diary of Sallie Oliver Roberts

Part VIII

Contributed by A. Stephen Johnson
Prepared by Marsha Meyer

Sallie Oliver Roberts (1847-1933) lived in Dooly County, Georgia. She was the wife of farmer Jacob Roberts. For a time she kept a diary recording family events, news of neighbors and the mundane routines of life. Sallie and Jacob are buried in the Roberts Cemetery as are some of the people mentioned in the diary. Family members are often referred to by nicknames in the diary. "Jack" was Sallie's sister, Macy Jacqueline Oliver Roberts. "Fate" was Jacob's sister, Mary Jane Lafayette Roberts. A. Stephen Johnson is related to Sallie through his grandmother who was Sallie's niece. The diary entries are transcribed here with the spelling and punctuation preserved as in the original. The current installment is continued from CGGS Journal Volume 39, No. 1. That previous installment included family group sheets for James G. Oliver, Jr. and his wife Louisa Mashburn and William Roberts and his wife Penny Jane Butler.

Screven County, Georgia, Court of Ordinary Minutes

Abstracted by Donna Newman

Screven County, Georgia was created 14 December 1793 from Burke and Effingham counties. This article contains abstracts of the early Court of Ordinary minutes beginning in March 1811.[1] At that time the court met in Jacksonboro which was the original county seat. In 1847 the county seat was transferred to Sylvania.

Generally, the court terms begin with, "At a Court of Ordinary begun and holden in Jacksonborough for the County of Scriven this [date]" or occasionally, "At an Inferior Court begun and holden at Jacksonborough for the County of Scriven for Ordinary purposes". The Justices who presided would then be named. In these abstracted minutes the introductory language referenced above has been omitted but the names of the Justices are included, both at the opening of the court and wherever they signed off on the minutes (the Clerk first signed off beginning in late 1815 but did not do so consistently). All names shown below are recorded as they appear in the record. Insertions by the compiler are placed in brackets [ ].

The abstracts below are presented in the proper chronological order as far the compiler could ascertain. A close scrutiny of the images suggests that the original court minutes pages were pasted into a new volume which could account for some of the pages being out of order, e.g., two pages of court minutes from 1813 are followed by about 14 pages from 1811 and 1812, and pages 56 to 61 appear consecutively as 56, 59, 60, 57, 58 and 61. To the extent that page numbers survived intact, pagination is consistent with the ordering of the minutes as laid out below.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exempt organization under Section 501C(3), U. S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of elected and appointed officers and directors.

AREA: The Society's geographical area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which CGGS was organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and;

To promote the collection and preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are $30.00 for individual membership or $35.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related individuals in the same household).

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for the preservation of genealogical and historical information, such as: abstracting and publishing county court records, cemetery records, family Bible records and historical items of interest to Georgia researchers. The society also makes an annual gift to the Genealogical and Historical Room at Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Ga. In recent years monetary gifts have been made for the purchase of Georgia newspapers on microfilm, North Carolina county records on microfilm and books related to research in southern states.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. These meetings are currently held via Zoom at 7:00 P.M. on the second Monday of each month. In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session may be conducted for members to present research problems or share methods and discoveries. Visitors and guests are welcome to attend these meetings. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. Membership information may be found on our website: www.cggs.org or see the membership application in this Journal. Follow us on Facebook (as Central Georgia Genealogical Society) for notices about monthly meetings and programs.
